Stiff Gun Crime Penalty Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill requiring extra jail sentences for persons convicted of using guns while committing felonies was signed into law Wednesday by Gov. William Milliken. The governor has long supported the measure as a method to deter crime. Critics contend it will do little except add to the overcrowded conditions in the state's prisons. The law will take effect next January.

"The need to cope with the problem of controls on firearms in our violence-plagued society is growing, rather than diminishing," Milliken said in signing the bill. "One of the major purposes of any crime control act is to deter the potential criminal before he or she acts. A major purpose of this bill is to make punishment so certain that the potential law-breaker will decide against an unlawful act."

The new law would impose a mandatory extra two-year sentence on anyone convicted of using a gun to commit a felony. A second such conviction would draw five extra years, while a third conviction would bring 10 additional years behind bars. The sentence could not be suspended, and would be in addition to any sentence imposed for the felony itself. The inmate would not be eligible for parole or probation during the extra sentence, which would be served before the sentence for the felony.

Backers of the bill said it will put criminals on notice they risk longer sentences if they use a gun in their crimes. Critics, however, said it would do little to deter crime and was only passed to persuade the public the legislature was doing something on the problem. Instead, they argued, it would increase plea bargaining and overburden the state's already crowded prisons.

"The members of the legislature and others involved with the criminal justice system have a full eleven months to avoid the problem of overcrowding in prisons that is feared will develop," said Rep. John Hertel, D-Detroit, the bill's sponsor, on Wednesday. He pointed out the governor has proposed a bonding program to build additional prison facilities, estimated to cost $50 million.

"We do not have the luxury of time as we move toward better crime control in Michigan," Milliken said. "The Department of Corrections will monitor the impact of the new law after it takes effect next Jan. 1." "In the meantime we must move quickly to pass the legislation that will get our bonding programs under way to build new facilities and expand existing ones."

Milliken said the bill also would be an impetus for the state to deal with problems of overcrowding in the state's prisons. "There is no question that this will have an impact fiscally on the state and the corrections system, but it is one more reason why we must move and move aggressively" on problems in the prison system, he said.

Milliken acknowledged he could not quote statistics showing similar laws did deter gun crimes, but said the state would be watching the bill closely to see how effective it is.

Little Deaf Girl Escapes Lion's Jaws

DETROIT (AP) — A four-year-old deaf girl was released from a hospital Wednesday, one day after she was mauled by a lion at a Detroit school. Lee Kowalsky suffered three puncture wounds and several minor scratches, according to a physician at the hospital. The puncture wounds from the lion's two-inch teeth were about an inch deep but did not require stitches, he said.

The 385-pound lion, Caesar, is owned by William Mayer of the Westland Pet Zoo. Mayer said Caesar has been appearing for about 1½ years without incident.

Lee was among 30 deaf children petting the lion at the Lutheran School for the Deaf in Detroit.

Witnesses said Lee made a sudden move, and the lion grabbed her in his jaw and held her about 20 seconds before releasing her.

"He was holding her body in his mouth and he could have killed her if he wanted to," said Mayer, a professional animal trainer.

He said he put his arm into the lion's mouth during the incident to cushion the impact of the bite.

Marty Kowalsky, Lee's father, refused to say Wednesday whether he plans any legal action against Mayer. But he said he has no plans now to try to prevent Mayer from showing the animal in similar situations. "I think the incident itself would be a preventative," he said.

Caesar had been scheduled to appear Wednesday at a Pontiac elementary school. Early Wednesday morning, the school's principal canceled the show.

Sodus Parents Ask Overturn Of School Transfer Ruling

The Concerned Parents and Taxpayers of Sodus have petitioned Berrien Circuit court to overturn a State Board of Education ruling that reversed a previous transfer of Sodus township property from Benton Harbor to Eau Claire school district.

The 247 plaintiffs in the suit also ask the court to issue a preliminary injunction that would prohibit the state board's ruling from being put into effect while the Sodus residents' appeal is pending.

The state board in 1974 approved the transfer of three former Sodus area districts from Benton Harbor to Eau Claire, but a federal court order has not permitted that transfer to actually take place.

Last month the state board reversed its 1974 decision and ruled that the Sodus area should remain in the Benton Harbor district.

In conjunction with the suit, Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White has ordered the state board to appear in circuit court and show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued as requested by the Sodus residents. The hearing has been set for March 8 at 9 a.m.

White was unavailable for comment, but Atty. Colin John, law clerk for the circuit judges, explained that if the injunction status quo is granted it would maintain the status-quo of the Sodus area until a full hearing can be held on the merits of the suit. The transfer, which initially was approved by the Berrien Intermediate school board and upheld in 1974 on an appeal to the state board, was reversed last month by the state board because a desegregation suit was pending against the Benton Harbor district when the transfer was approved originally.

The suit filed by the Sodus residents contends the state board's reconsideration came long after a 60-day appeal period had expired following the initial transfer decision on July 3, 1974. The suit also claims the State Administrative Procedures act does not allow a

Sodus re-election

Ray Mittan Will Seek Fifth Term

State Rep. Ray C. Mittan (R-Niles) said today he will be a candidate for re-election from the 44th Legislative District. Mittan, 63, will be seeking his fifth full term in office. He was first elected in July of 1968 to fill the unexpired term of Rep. Lionel Stacey who resigned. Mittan was elected to full two-year terms in 1968, 1970, 1972 and 1974.

Mittan, who lists his occupation as full time legislator, worked as news and sports director for radio station WHFB in Benton Harbor for 20 years before beginning his legislative career.

During his current term in office, Mittan is serving as a member of the House Committee on Conservation and Recreation, Social Services and Youth Care, Tourists Industry, Liquor Control, and Corrections.

Mittan said he would form the proper campaign committees within the law as soon as the courts decide the details of the new election law, but would be a candidate regardless of the outcome of the court's decision.

"I am firmly convinced that the people of the 44th District want a representative who will oppose any new taxes, who will fight to hold the line on increased spending, and who will continue to work to bring about reform of our welfare system. I have worked in these areas during my tenure in office and pledge to continue to do so," Mittan said.

Mittan said he has disagreed with Governor Milliken on many issues, but strongly supports Milliken's call for new taxes in the coming budget. "The people have had it up to here with increased taxes just to provide so-called increased services. I hear them saying please

Mowat Says He's 'Closer' To Running

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Prospects appear to be increasing that Rep. John S. Mowat, Jr., of Adrian, will oppose David Stockman in the Fourth Congressional District Republican primary. Asked Wednesday by The Herald-Palladium if he will be a candidate for Congress, Mowat replied:

"It's looking a little better every day. I am closer to making a run than I am not."

Mowat said he is "in the process of pulling some ends together" and expects to have an announcement one way or the other possibly by the end of next week.

Mowat has said previously that if Congressman Edward Hutchinson ever decided not to run he would consider it. Mowat repeated that statement last week after Hutchinson said he would not seek re-election.

Hutchinson's announcement left Stockman, 29, of St. Joseph, the only declared candidate for the seat to which Hutchinson was elected seven terms.

Mowat, 49, is the owner of two farms and a retail fruit merchant. His wife is chairman of the department of home economics at Adrian. He has been elected to the state House of Representatives three terms.

Accused Shoplifter May Face Child Neglect Charge

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

Benton Harbor police said authorization is being sought for a warrant charging neglect of two children by a woman city police arrested Wednesday on a charge of shoplifting.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Jamesie Anderson, 29, of 36 Eastman avenue, Benton township.

An 11-month-old girl was reported in "fair" condition today at Mercy hospital. Police reported physicians said the girl had a circulatory ailment. A three-year-old boy was placed in a foster home. According to a report filed by Patrolman Delmar Lange, the youngsters are the children of Miss Anderson.

Lange said David Hass, an officer of the protective services division of the Berrien juvenile court ordered the medical examination for the girl and authorized the foster home placement. Hass also petitioned for a juvenile court hearing.

Lange said Hass was called after the children, who were with their mother when she was arrested, were observed wearing very little clothing, and the small girl appeared ill.

Lange said the boy was wearing pants, shirt, light jacket and shoes, but had no underwear or socks. He said the boy's shoes were wet and his feet were blistered.

He said the girl wore diapers, a light summer-type dress and was wrapped in a thin blanket. She also appeared to have a cold and an infection in her eye, he reported.

According to Lange's report, Miss Anderson was arrested along with two other women about 7:30 p.m. at K-mart, 455 Riverview drive. Three slips and two long dresses, valued at $94.74, were allegedly taken from the store.

Also booked at the jail on shoplifting (petty larceny) charges were Esther Louise Grissom, 19, of 2240 Red Arrow highway, Benton township, and Mary F. Cleary, 23, of 2230 Butler drive, Benton Heights.

Strange Bedfellows In The Public Pay Act

It was nothing new to hear on Monday that the Michigan Education Association, the lobby-union spokesman for 92,000 public school teachers, thinks Governor Milliken is off base in proposing to raise an already budget by a mere 3.7 per cent for the next fiscal year.

The teachers have been hollering quality education to be in peril for the past three decades.

When, though, 44 federal judges file suit against Uncle Sam claiming inflation which has reduced the effective buying power of their salaries violates Article III in the U.S. Constitution, maybe we are seeing something new under the sun.

The MEA contends Milliken overstates revenue by $300 million and understates expenditure by at least $200 million.

It recommends hiking the income tax by another 1 1/4 per cent to raise an additional $300 million to help close this gap in the MEA's binoculars.

Otherwise, says the union, districts having programs for handicapped children, adults and community affairs will have to tax themselves more to keep those educational specialties going.

In giving out his press release, Dave McMahon, the MEA president, took care not to mention what is really nearest and dearest to his constituents' heart — more money.

His blab did not phase Milliken and on the following day McMahon told the reporters that at this time he does not rate the chances very good for fiscal 1978-79 to be a spend-tax boomer.

We would think, or so certainly hope, the person who has to foot the bill for education might prefer Milliken's position over the MEA's.

It is hard to believe a person leaping for joy to have his state income tax raised from 4.6 per cent to the 6.1 urged by McMahon; and considering that many a parent of school age children is beginning to wonder if the educational output is matching its cost in teacher salaries, the disenchantment must run even deeper.

The only saving grace in the MEA's outburst comes from the proverb about misery loving company. Every agency in the state government says budget austerity for its bailiwick signals the end of civilization.

The judges' assertion, if nothing else, is an interesting deviation from the teachers' lament about rising costs threatening quality education.

In March, 1969, Congress adopted a new salary bracket for the federal judiciary. District (trial) judges received $40,000 a year and appeals judges were given $42,500. The only change in those rates was the 5 per cent raise given other federal employees last October 1st.

The plaintiffs contend the dollar's buying power has declined 34.5 per cent since the 1969 adjustment. As a consequence a district judge has been cut back to $26,200 in effective purchasing power and an appeals judge to $27,800.

The Constitution's Article III says judges in the federal system shall "at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

Considering how difficult it is today to induce a competent lawyer who can knock down $50,000 or more a year in private practice to go on the bench, the judges are putting up a much stronger economic justification for their position than the MEA can make for its people.

The catch in their legal proposition is that the Constitution does not say what they contend it does. Neither is there historical precedent for their argument.

The authors of the Constitution inserted that salary protection clause as a guaranty against legislative and even executive interference with the courts. Their memory of Parliament keeping in line a fractious English judge by attacking his pickelbook was quite vivid.

Despite their anxiety to maintain an independent judiciary, the Constitution's draftsmen in Article II made it Congress' prerogative to appropriate funds and to levy taxes to pay the bills.

Placing Article II next to Article III, it is pretty clear our forebears did not go the whole route advocated by the 44 claimants that judicial independence necessarily includes the right to set pay scales.

Maybe the Court of Claims which is the first rung in the legal ladder to hear the arguments won't buy our analysis and possibly the Supreme Court could also refute it.

It is actually a type of suit that if brought by a layman the courts would reject as frivolous.

The proper answer is for the White House and Congress to make the adjustment so that what is a bad situation does not deteriorate further.

They Might Just As Well Be Announcing Trains

Until next November, upon the American ear will fall a multitude of political sounds. Major speeches delivered in Congress will be directed to the presidential campaign.

The nominating conventions in mid-summer will be filled with the sound of the human voice, expressing itself in rounded periods and historical allusions. From then until the election in November the air will drip with the unctious of candidatorial appeals.

The worst feature of this oratorical assault will not be its mass, but its nature. The extemporaneous speech, or even the speech delivered from notes, has just about disappeared from American political life.

There was a time, in Congress and in public life generally, when the gifted orator, with fire in his glance, persuasion in his voice and logic in his argument, could sway multitudes.

Webster did not read his speeches. Nor did any of the great orators of another day.

Nevertheless, the voters will have no alternative, in the months ahead, to vocal bombardment on the manuscript level, with only a forlorn hope of flashes of interest in occasional extemporaneous discussions, and without expecting much more than the slumbrous articulation of speakers, who might as well be announcing trains.

Sleep Tight

And then there's the kleptomaniac insomniac who had to take something every night in order to get to sleep.

Michigan Was Early Pioneer, Too, In Electric Lighting

Editor,

Consumers Power Company shares a chronology of electric power with the work of Thomas Alva Edison, who was born 129 years ago yesterday, Feb. 11, in Milan, Ohio, and spent much of his boyhood in Michigan.

That company was the Grand Rapids Electric Power and Light Company, and on Pearl Street in Grand Rapids in July, 1880, the Grand Rapids Electric Light and Power company successfully demonstrated arc lights for commercial application. Two years later, on another Pearl Street, in New York City, Edison's company began producing electricity for incandescent lighting.

The Bicentennial year of 1978 is significant for remembering Thomas Edison because 100 years ago he inaugurated the world's first laboratory for organized industrial research in Menlo Park, New Jersey. Menlo Park was to be the birthplace of the first practical incandescent electric lamp and subsequently, the electric utility industry.

With the rest of the nation today, we at Consumers Power pay tribute to the work of Thomas Edison on his birth date and on the 100th anniversary year of Menlo Park. We are also proud, as a Michigan utility, to recall for Michigan residents the achievement July 24, 1880, by the above-mentioned Grand Rapids Electric Light and Power Company, when it illuminated 16 arc lights and thrilled a crowd that had gathered to witness this almost inconceivable phenomenon.

Soon, other Michigan cities followed Grand Rapids' lead: In 1881, the Swift Electric Light Company in Saginaw was organized; in 1882, the Peoples Electric Light Company in Flint; in 1884, the Mitchell-Reid Company in Jackson; in 1885, the Kalamazoo Electric Company; in 1887, the Battle Creek Electric Company; in 1888, the Edison Electric Light & Motor Company in Pontiac.

So you can see that as Thomas Edison's work with electricity progressed at Menlo Park, so did the work of many men in Michigan who saw the promises of electricity as a way to improve living and working conditions for everyone. Today, the 1.2 million electric customers of Consumers Power Company in Michigan owe a debt of thanks to the pioneering work of Thomas Edison and to his inventive, energetic counterparts in Michigan. Without them, society as we know it today would not have been possible.

PEOPLE URGED TO HEAR STANG

Editor,
A happy news item is that Alan Stang is to speak at 8 p.m.,

Feb. 13, in the Berrien Springs fairgrounds building. If the average person is still stunned by the depth of government and news media duplicity, partially revealed by the Watergate diversion, here's an excellent opportunity to start getting the whole picture. Not that Watergate will even be mentioned in this talk about the government drive to confiscate private property, but it's all tied in with the plan to bring about our "comfortable merger" into Communist-Fascist style government.

Either we'll hear a good deal more from commentators and columnists like Alan Stang in the near future, or we'll hear nothing at all. In the latter case, the Cronkite-Severid-Reasner kind will be perturbed to hemlock with sonorous trivia till the gates of the Gulag Archipelago clang shut behind us and we hear a final "good night." I think, though, that the chances are better than even for a resurgence of enthusiasm for truth and resultant freedom, even though it comes pretty late in the game.

EPA 'Advice' Often Costly

WASHINGTON — (NRA) — The official from the Environmental Protection Agency wasn't happy. "A company asks us to proffer advice on cutting pollution," he said, "we go but if we find something wrong, we lay on a fine and report the firm for noncompliance."

"We ease our consciences by telling the plant manager in advance that's what we're going to do," he said.

"We enact regulations, few companies from quite a range of industries can possibly follow this year or next. And we know this."

Yet the men who make the decisions, lawyers almost to the man, say EPA is an enforcement agency, and that there's no place for those hoping to lend a helping hand.

"We're supposed to catch violators and punish them — not let them escape," they say.

"I sometimes think," the EPA spokesman says, "that some of those legal types are looking to their own future when they're setting policelaw, writing intricate regulations laymen can't understand. After a period at EPA they'll resign, make a good living advising clients for a fee on how to deal with the regulations they've written."

"We at the agency," says my contact, "know that the pollution practices we're attempting to change overnight have been common for decades in one form or another. I'll be happy if we can correct them in 10 or 30 years."

"Instead of asking companies to do the impossible, we should be out there working with them to learn what they can do, with what they have, to cut back on the pollution their firms create."

"I've had company men tell me if we'd be reasonable they'd do everything they could to clean things up as fast as their finances and their production techniques would permit," an EPA official continued. "But if I push them to the wall, they'll huck, not bend. The smart ones know we can't carry out our threats."

Shift story now to a meeting of a government advisory board of businessmen and university and financial representatives.

In one form or another, their conversations run like this:

"These environment men say we've got to do this and we've got to do that. A lot of these regulations they throw at us don't make sense. To us, they're theories someone has dreamed up, not bothering to check what they'll do to our production schedules or our costs. They give us no evidence that their demands are necessary. Some sound like pipe dreams. But we go ahead, spend considerably more than we can afford, to comply."

Then someone discovers the regulations were wrong. The things we were forced to do were ineffective or do more harm than good. So they change the rules. Then change them again. In my business we're losing respect for EPA which is too bad because we do have to do something about pollution.

Wounded Knee: More Evidence

I apologize for returning again — for the last time, I hope — in the subject of Wounded Knee and Senator James Abourezk of South Dakota.

I do so only because an earlier column evoked a letter of genuine historical interest, the salient points of which I will pass along. The letter provides some personal testimony about what went on at Wounded Knee, South Dakota, on that famous day in 1890.

Senator Abourezk, as I pointed out earlier, has been trying to award $600,000 in taxpayers' money to the descendants of the Sioux who died at Wounded Knee. Beyond that, he is trying to reinforce the myth of Wounded Knee as an indictment of the U.S. Army in particular and the United States in general.

My correspondent writes: "Just yesterday I wrote Senator Abourezk myself, with a copy to the Senate Judiciary Committee and Senators Edward Kennedy and Edward Brooke, applying for the $3,000 grant — for myself, my three sons and twelve cousins, as our great uncle, Sgt. William _____ of the U.S. Seventh Cavalry, was killed in the initial volley of the Indians, Sgt. William _____, my grandfather's brother, spent over 18 years in the Western Army and was about to retire when shot while trying to search the braves. I told Senator Abourezk that there should be no discrimination among the surviving descendants of this battle."

"Our trip got into the Boston papers at that time, and one morning an ex-Seventh Cavalryman who was in the engagement appeared at my father's Boston office and told my dad that 'Uncle Bill' had taught him to ride, etc., when he first joined the Seventh and he had been with him when he was killed."

"His version of the 'massacre' was exactly the same as General S.L.A. Marshall's, and also coincides with General John Pershing's, who was also in the affair as a young lieutenant."

S.L.A. Marshall, the military historian, provides a careful analysis of the Wounded Knee incident in his recent book, "Grimmest Prairie." He utterly demolishes the currently fashionable notion that the U.S. Cavalry first "disarmed" the Sioux and then massacred them, making it clear that to believe the "Massacre" theory you also have to believe that the Cavalrymen got so excited they shot each other, since they sustained sixty casualties.

Concerning the Wounded Knee myth, the key question is cui bono. Just whom does the myth benefit?

The answer to that question is quite clear. The myth constitutes a delicious item for the liberal sensibility. It is a marvelous occasion, for guilt feelings, and a splendid opportunity for the hand-wringer to levitate himself on wings of moral superiority high above the detested United States of America.

Strange Bedfellows In The Public Pay Act

It was nothing new to hear on Monday that the Michigan Education Association, the lobby-union spokesman for 92,000 public school teachers, thinks Governor Milliken is off base in proposing to raise an already budget by a mere 3.7 per cent for the next fiscal year.

The teachers have been hollering quality education to be in peril for the past three decades.

When, though, 44 federal judges filed suit against Uncle Sam claiming inflation which has reduced the effective buying power of their salaries violates Article III in the U.S. Constitution, maybe we are seeing something new under the sun.

The MEA contends Milliken overestimates revenue by $300 million and understates expenditure by at least $200 million.

It recommends hiking the income tax by another 1½ per cent to raise an additional $300 million to help close this gap in the MEA's binoculars.

Otherwise, says the union, districts having programs for handicapped children, adults and community affairs will have to tax themselves more to keep those educational specialties going.

In giving out his press release, Dave McMahon, the MEA president, took care not to mention what is really nearest and dearest to his constituents' heart — more money.

His blast did not phase Milliken and on the following day McMahon told the reporters that at this time he does not rate the chances very good for fiscal 1976-77 to be a spend-tax boomer.

We would think, or so certainly hope, the person who has to foot the bill for education might prefer Milliken's position over the MEA's.

It is hard to believe a person leaping for joy to have his state income tax raised from 4.6 per cent to the 6.1 urged by McMahon; and considering that many a parent of school age children is beginning to wonder if the educational output is matching its cost in teacher salaries, the disenchantment must run even deeper.

The only saving grace in the MEA's outburst comes from the proverb about misery loving company. Every agency in the state government says budget austerity for its bailiwick signals the end of civilization.

The judges' assertion, if nothing else, is an interesting deviation from the teachers' lament about rising costs threatening quality education.

In March, 1969, Congress adopted a new salary bracket for the federal judiciary. District (trial) judges received $40,000 a year and appeals judges were given $42,500. The only change in those rates was the 5 per cent raise given other federal employees last October 1st.

The plaintiffs contend the dollar's buying power has declined 34.5 per cent since the 1969 adjustment. As a consequence a district judge has been cut back to $26,200 in effective purchasing power and an appeals judge to $27,800.

The Constitution's Article III says judges in the federal system shall "at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

Considering how difficult it is today to induce a competent lawyer who can knock down $50,000 or more a year in private practice to go on the bench, the judges are putting up a much stronger economic justification for their position than the MEA can make for its people.

The catch in their legal proposition is that the Constitution does not say what they contend it does. Neither is there historical precedent for their argument.

The authors of the Constitution inserted that salary protection clause as a guaranty against legislative and even executive interference with the courts. Their memory of Parliament keeping in line a fractious English judge by attacking his pocketbook was quite vivid.

Despite their anxiety to maintain an independent judiciary, the Constitution's draftsmen in Article II made it Congress' prerogative to appropriate funds and to levy taxes to pay the bills.

Placing Article II next to Article III, it is pretty clear our forebears did not go the whole route advocated by the 44 claimants that judicial independence necessarily includes the right to set pay scales.

Maybe the Court of Claims which is the first rung in the legal ladder to hear the arguments won't buy our analysis and possibly the Supreme Court could also refute it.

It is actually a type of suit that if brought by a layman the courts would reject as frivolous.

They Might Just As Well Be Announcing Trains

Until next November, upon the American ear will fall a multitude of political sounds. Major speeches delivered in Congress will be directed to the presidential campaign.

The nominating conventions in mid-summer will be filled with the sound of the human voice, expressing itself in rounded periods and historical allusions. From then until the election in November the air will drip with the unctious of candidatorial appeals.

The worst feature of this oratorical assault will not be its mass, but its nature. The extemporaneous speech, or even the speech delivered from notes, has just about disappeared from American political life.

There was a time, in Congress and in public life generally, when the gifted orator, with fire in his glance, persuasion in his voice and logic in his argument, could sway multitudes.

Webster did not read his speeches. Nor did any of the great orators of another day.

Nevertheless, the voters will have no alternative, in the months ahead, to vocal bombardment on the manuscript level, with only a forlorn hope of flashes of interest in occasional extemporaneous discussions, and without expecting much more than the slumbrous articulation of speakers who might as well be announcing trains.

Sleep Tight

And then there's the kleptomaniac insomniac who had to take something every night in order to get to sleep.

Michigan Was Early Pioneer, Too, In Electric Lighting

Editor, Consumers Power Company shares a chronology of electric power with the work of Thomas Alva Edison, who was born 129 years ago yesterday, Feb. 11, in Milan, Ohio, and spent much of his boyhood in Michigan.

Thomas Edison incorporated his Edison Electric Light Company, in 1878, only two years before one of Consumers Power Company's predecessors incorporated as Michigan's first electric company.

That company was the Grand Rapids Electric Power and Light Company, and on Pearl Street in Grand Rapids in July, 1880, the Grand Rapids Electric Light and Power company successfully demonstrated are lights for Commercial application. Two years later, on another Pearl Street, in New York City, Edison's company began producing electricity for incandescent lighting.

The Bicentennial year of 1976 is significant for remembering Thomas Edison because 100 years ago he inaugurated the world's first laboratory for organized industrial research in Menlo Park, New Jersey. Menlo Park was to be the birthplace of the first practical incandescent electric lamp and subsequently, the electric utility industry.

With the rest of the nation today, we at Consumers Power pay tribute to the work of Thomas Edison on his birth date and on the 100th anniversary year of Menlo Park. We are also proud, as a Michigan utility, to recall for Michigan residents the achievement July 24, 1880, by the above-mentioned Grand Rapids Electric Light and Power Company, when it illuminated 16 arc lights and thrilled a crowd that had gathered to witness this almost inconceivable phenomenon.

CHRISTMAS SEAL FINALIST: Cindy Lynn Goodson, 7, a second-grader at Fairplain East school, Benton Harbor district, practices art style that made her Black Santa Claus a state finalist in Christmas Seal art project. Giving advice is art teacher Mrs. Katie Bloom. Cindy is among six finalists from 250 entries in Michigan. If her entry is judged state winner, it will be used as a 1977 Christmas Seal and distributed nationally. Cindy is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Goodson, 2022 Union street, Fairplain. Her regular classroom teacher is Allene Stark.

F&M Bank Deposits Hit New Record

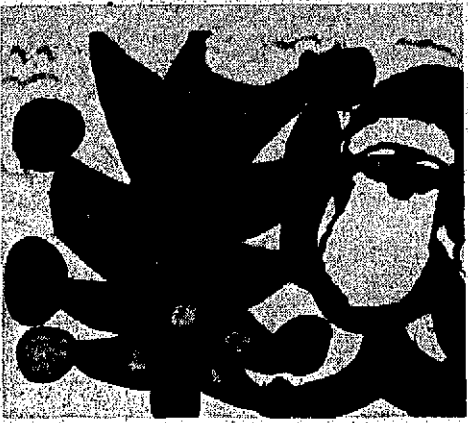

Farmers & Merchants National bank had record year-end deposits of more than $90 million in 1977, but still saw a drop of 9.7 per cent in net earnings from its all-time high in 1974.

The annual report distributed to F&M stockholders shows year-end deposits rose from $83,228,730 in 1974 to $90,727,173 in 1977 and loans rose from $31,887,095 to $32,533,008, but net earnings fell from $880,251 to $581,001.

The drop in earnings is attributed by F&M President Richard Willard to a decline in rates charged on loans and a 7.9 per cent increase in the interest paid on time and savings deposits.

Cash dividends paid to shareholders increased 7.5 per cent in 1977 — the sixth consecutive year there has been an increase in cash dividends paid by the Benton Harbor-based bank.

Based on 250,000 shares outstanding as of Dec. 31, 1977, dividends paid amounted to $6

At the 1977 annual meeting shareholders approved a 25 per cent stock dividend that increased outstanding $10 shares of common stock from 260,000 to 250,000. The dividend, paid out of retained earnings, was to stockholders of record as of March 11, 1978.

Total assets of the bank rose from $92,319,078 to $101,814,895 during 1977 and the bank's capital, surplus and undivided profits rose from $5,365,122 to $6,194,985 — an increase of 10.9 per cent.

Twin Cities' Dial-A-Ride State's Biggest Operation

By JIM DELAND
Asst. City Editor

The Twin Cities area Dial-A-Ride (DART) bus system is the biggest operation of its kind in Michigan.

"It's a system that works," Director Wilbert Brown declared in a report on DART operations requested by Benton Harbor City Commissioner Charles Yarbrough. "It's become the largest pure Dial-A-Ride in the State of Michigan."

In comparison with the rest of the state, we carry more people per day, per week or per month than any other Dial-A-Ride," Brown said.

Statistics compiled by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation show that the Twin Cities system is carrying about 200 passengers a day more than any of 24 other city-type DART systems in the state.

Kip Grimes, bus development manager for the highway department, said that the Twin Cities system is averaging about 700 passengers a day while the next largest DART system — in Midland — is averaging about 500 passengers per day.

Both Grimes and Brown explained that some other municipal bus operations in Michigan carry more passengers than the local DART system, but that they include traditional "fixed route" or "line haul" service, picking up passengers at bus-stops along established routes.

In contrast, they said, the Twin Cities area service is based completely on "demand response" with bus routes determined by requests of passengers.

Brown presented statistics showing the Twin Cities system is averaging about 16,000 passengers a month and said that figure would be even higher with more and better buses on the road.

"The major problem right now is our basic fleet," he said. "We don't have enough vehicles and we have a large amount of down-time because some of them are getting old."

"There's not very much we can do until we get more and newer vehicles."

Brown said the local system now is operating 15 vehicles — one 17-passenger, one 15-passenger and the rest 12-passenger — and that some of them have run over 75,000 miles.

He said funds for additional buses have been scheduled by the highway department and that by April he hopes to have four new buses in addition to the ones now in service.

Brown's report showed that in 18 months of operation the local DART system has carried 218,000 passengers, and he said that 54 per cent of that total have taken trips either starting or ending — or both — within the city limits of Benton Harbor.

He pointed out that while the total passengers served per month have roughly doubled from 8,000 to 16,400 since the program started, the biggest increase has been in the number of children under 12 years of age using DART buses — from 168 in October, 1974, to 3,580 last month.

Brown estimated that 95 per cent of these children are using the buses to travel to and from school.

He said the average of 6.3 passengers per vehicle hour over the 18 months of operation could be increased if more passengers would group their rides from one area to another and if the amount of "down-time" to repair vehicles could be decreased by getting newer buses.

In the first nine months of 1977, Brown said, the cost per passenger of the DART service was $1.88 while the average revenue per passenger was 30 cents.

He said the revenue per passenger currently is over 41 cents per person following a fare increase last September that boosted rates from 50 to 60 cents for adults, from 25 to 30 cents for senior citizens 65 and older and established a fare of 25 cents for children 12 and under who previously were able to use the service free.

"It's definitely a subsidized service," Brown said. "I don't visualize Dial-A-Ride as it is today becoming self-sufficient. If you raise the fares, you might eliminate some of the people who need it most."

Operating subsidies for the Twin Cities DART system are provided by the state highway department and by the four municipalities it serves — the Cities of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph and the townships of St. Joseph and Benton.

Lincen township previously was a member of the system, but the township board voted last June to withdraw.

Stevensville Will Decide 1 Contest In Primary Vote

A runoff for the Republican nomination for president of the Stevensville village council is the only contested race in the village primary, Monday, Feb. 16.

Incumbent village president Arthur Kasewurm, 87, is being challenged by fellow Republican Ruben B. Newman, 48. The winner will meet Conrad Stampohar, Democratic candidate for the post, in the regular village election, March 8.

Kasewurm of 2766 John Beers road, has been village president since 1971. He and his son, are co-owners of ABC Tool and Die company, Stevensville. He and his wife, Doris, have three other children.

Newman of 8078 DeMorrow road, is owner of Ruben Newman Real Estate, Stevensville. This is his first attempt at a village office. He is the father of five children.

Stampohar, 61, of 8027 St. Joseph avenue, was village president during 1969-70. He was defeated by Kasewurm in 1971.

All other candidates for village offices, both Republican and Democrat, have no opposition in Monday's primary.

Republican candidates, all incumbents are:

Mrs. Bernice Schoenfelder, 46, 2803 Bluff, clerk; Ervin "Bud" Fechner, 49, 5545 St. Joseph avenue, treasurer; Robert Sturch, 66,

All terms are for two years, according to Mrs. Schoenfelder. The election polls will be in the village hall, 5776 St. Joseph avenue, and will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Man Blames Drugs, Tells Judge He's 'Found God'

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Benton Harbor man was sentenced to 5 to 30 years in prison yesterday in Berrien Circuit court after condemning his involvement with drugs and telling the judge he "found God."

RONALD E. GOODLOE
'Finds God'

Judge Chester J. Byrns imposed the prison term on Ronald Eugene Goodloe, 21, of 174 Calpa avenue, for armed robbery, Goodloe on Aug. 1 robbed Benton Harbor Patrolwoman Sandy Watson of her service revolver after striking her while she was patrolling Hall park.

"You hold the key," Byrns told Goodloe, noting the sentence was such that Goodloe could be released in a relatively short time if he displays a good attitude or could be imprisoned for a long time.

Goodloe, in a letter to Judge Byrns, outlined how drugs influenced him and how he was able to change his life by finding God, and asked the judge to give the letter to this newspaper for publication "so that some young man won't make the mistake I did." Following is the text of Goodloe's letter.

First let me say that all my troubles came from drugs. I liked to use and have a good time, as you can see, I am off on the wrong foot to start with.

Well, I am here, your honor, the good times in the world were not worth what I was going through.

I have made my peace with God now, and I know that all my good times weren't worth the price I will pay.

I hope and pray that if anybody is doing wrong against the law, that he or she will quit because you can't make peace with God.

I, Ronald Eugene Goodloe, for the mercy of the court, would give me 3 to 30 years, so I could get my GED (General Education Development) and get out and get into Bible college.

God is the most wonderful person there is, so put your peace with God and don't wait until you are going to same place I am. God will help you if you will let him and without God you can never be saved.

I feel wonderful since I got myself right with God and I feel with 3 or 4 years your honor that I will have my home with God when I get out.

I have been saved since last July, when the ministers started coming seeing me from the "Forgotten Man Mission Inc." and taking correspondence courses and Bible studies. While

I have been here, I have not wasted the opportunity the Lord taught me and gave me a new life. I have been holding sermons every Sunday in the jailhouse. I would like to get my G.E.D. and go to Bible college, please give me this opportunity of teaching the word of God with a few years locked up.

I really want to hurry and get back out so I can get my ministry degree.

My confession and testimony is very righteous and faithful, that's why I wanted to turn myself in and get help and I have found it through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Ministers Group Will Share Views On Social Ills

The Benton Harbor Area Ministers Alliance will host a semi-formal banquet for ministers and their wives Saturday at 7 p.m. in Shango's Gallery, 165 East Main street. Rev. Ellis Hull and Rev. Coleman Gray, co-chairmen, said "the purpose is to get together and try to learn from each minister his view point on social problems and what we as ministers can do to help solve them."

The speaker will be Rev. Richard P. Wilson, 23, pastor of Queen Esther Baptist church, Muskegon Heights. Rev. Wilson has been preaching since he was 15 and has held pastorates since he was 18. He also has conducted revivals in the midwest and south.

Also on the program will be Rev. Elbert Brown, president of the Ministers Alliance and pastor of St. Paul Baptist church; Rev. Donald Adkins, pastor of Second Baptist church; Rev. C.L. Woodson, pastor of Pleasant Grove Baptist church; and Dr. Carlos Page, pastor of Peace Temple United Methodist.

Tickets at $12 a couple may be purchased at the door. Reservations should be made by calling 926-7377.

Dortch Jury May Start Deliberations

The jury in the Johnny Dortch double-murder trial is expected to start deliberations today after hearing final arguments by the prosecution and defense and receiving the judge's instructions.

The defense rested its case yesterday afternoon after calling only two witnesses — Dortch and his sister-in-law — to complete nine days of trial in Judge Julian Hughes' courtroom.

Dortch, 27, of Benton township, is charged with two counts of first degree murder and another charge of conspiracy to commit murder in the shotgun-slayings of Brenda and Johnny Freeman.

The prosecution during the trial contended Dortch had his illegitimate son killed to collect insurance on the boy. The defense maintained Dortch loved his son and knew nothing about the murders until reading in the newspapers that the Freemans' bodies were found Sept. 27, 1974, in a ditch off Black Lake road in Pipestone township.

Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell presented the prosecution's case while Dortch has been represented by St. Joseph Atty. Harry Creager.

The trial, slowed down on numerous occasions by legal questions and arguments, was originally scheduled for four to five days.

F&M Bank Deposits Hit New Record

Farmers & Merchants National bank had record year-end deposits of more than $90 million in 1975, but still saw a drop of 9.7 per cent in net earnings from its all-time high in 1974.

The annual report distributed to F&M stockholders shows year-end deposits rose from $83,225,730 in 1974 to $90,727,573 in 1975 and loans rose from $51,097,685 to $52,533,699, but net earnings fell from $659,251 to $591,891.

The drop in earnings is attributed by F&M President Richard Willard to a decline in rates charged on loans and a 7.9 per cent increase in the interest paid on time and savings deposits.

Cash dividends paid to shareholders increased 7.5 per cent in 1975 — the sixth consecutive year there has been an increase in cash dividends paid by the Benton Harbor-based bank.

Based on 250,000 shares outstanding as of Dec. 31, 1975, dividends paid amounted to 86

At the 1975 annual meeting shareholders approved a 25 per cent stock dividend that increased outstanding $10 shares of common stock from 200,000 to 250,000. The dividend, paid out of retained earnings, was to stockholders of record as of March 11, 1975.

Total assets of the bank rose from $92,319,078 to $100,814,695

during 1975 and the bank's capital, surplus and undivided profits rose from $5,585,122 to $6,194,505 — an increase of 10.9 per cent.

Twin Cities' Dial-A-Ride State's Biggest Operation

By JIM DeLAND
Asst. City Editor

The Twin Cities area Dial-A-Ride (DART) bus system is the biggest operation of its kind in Michigan.

"It's a system that works," Director Wilbert Brown declared in a report on DART operations requested by Benton Harbor city Commissioner Charles Yarbrough. "It's become the largest pure Dial-A-Ride in the State of Michigan."

"In comparison with the rest of the state, we carry more people per day, per week or per month than any other Dial-A-Ride," Brown said.

Statistics compiled by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation show that the Twin Cities system is carrying about 200 passengers a day more than any of 24 other city-type DART systems in the state.

Kip Grimes, bus development manager for the highway department, said that the Twin Cities system is averaging about 700 passengers a day while the next largest DART system — in Midland — is averaging about 500 passengers per day.

Both Grimes and Brown explained that some other municipal bus operations in Michigan carry more passengers than the local DART system, but that they include traditional "fixed route" or "line haul" service, picking up passengers at bus stops along established routes.

In contrast, they said, the Twin Cities area service is based completely on "demand response" with bus routes determined by requests of passengers.

Brown presented statistics showing the Twin Cities system is averaging about 16,000 passengers a month and said that figure would be even higher with more and better buses on the road.

"The major problem right now is our basic fleet," he said. "We don't have enough vehicles and we have a large amount of down time because some of them are getting old."

"There's not very much we can do until we get more and newer vehicles."

Brown said the local system now is operating 15 vehicles — one 17-passenger, one 15-passenger and the rest 12-passenger — and that some of them have run over 75,000 miles.

He said funds for additional buses have been scheduled by the highway department and that by April he hopes to have four new buses in addition to the ones now in service.

Brown's report showed that in 16 months of operation the local DART system has carried 218,000 passengers, and he said that 54 per cent of that total have taken trips either starting or ending — or both — within the city limits of Benton Harbor.

He pointed out that while the total passengers served per month have roughly doubled from 8,000 to 16,400 since the program started, the biggest increase has been in the number of children under 12 years of age using DART buses — from 166

In the first nine months of 1975, Brown said, the cost per passenger of the DART service was $1.89 while the average revenue per passenger was 30 cents.

He said the revenue per passenger currently is over 41 cents per person following a fare increase last September that

Canadian Company To Present 'La Boheme'

SCENE FROM PUCCINI'S 'LA BOHEME' ABOUT FOUR BOHEMIANS IN PARIS

Community Concerts Monday

The Canadian Opera Company will present "La Boheme" as Community Concerts' association of Southwestern Michigan's second concert of the season.

The opera will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 16, at Lakeshore high school auditorium.

The performance will be the company's second appearance in the twin cities area. The company presented "Cosi Fan Tutti," here in 1973.

The story of the opera is built around four Bohemians in Paris whose lives are a continual struggle for existence.

The Canadian Opera Company went on tour for the first time in 1968 in response to a request from the Canada Council.

The four itinerary grew extensively in accordance with audience demand from coast to coast.

Some states in the United States were added to the tour in 1981 and in 1970, the company began its first full-scale tour of the United States. Tours of the United States ranging from six to 10 weeks have become a regular part of the Canadian Opera's annual schedule.

For the first 10 years of the company's tours, only piano accompaniment was used.

The acquisition of a touring orchestra was made possible in the spring of 1980 by a special grant from the Canada Council and the tour now features an orchestra of 23 members.

Jan Rubes, Canadian opera singer and television personality, is director of touring and program development for the Canadian Opera.

The current production of "La Boheme" utilizes new concepts in film projections and lighting techniques within the framework of a specially designed touring set sponsored by IBM Canada Limited.

The Canadian Opera Touring presentation has been made possible through grants from the Canada Council and the Ontario Arts Council.

Errol Gay is music director and conductor and Jan Rubes is director.

According to spokesmen of the company, the Canadian National Opera Tour was established to provide an opera of high quality to areas generally lacking accessibility to live opera, to provide longer season of employment for artistic and production personnel and to provide young artists with the opportunity to work with seasoned professionals and thereby broaden their own range of experience.

Bake A Batch Of Valentines

LOVE LETTERS THAT NEED NO STAMPS

Love Letters are made with a fabulous cookie dough which combines the popular flavors of nutritious peanut butter and dark molasses.

Why not bake a batch and let the children frost and decorate them in time for Valentine delivery? Children can write Dad, Be Mine, I Love You, their sweetheart's initials or their teacher's full name.

LOVE LETTERS

Three and one-fourth cups modified all-purpose flour
One teaspoon baking soda
One teaspoon cinnamon
One-half teaspoon salt
One-third cup creamy-style peanut butter

Three tablespoons shortening
Two-thirds cup sugar
One-half cup dark molasses
One egg
One-third cup sour milk or buttermilk

Lemon Frosting
Food color

Onto waxed paper, sift together flour, soda, cinnamon and salt. In large mixing bowl, cream peanut butter, shortening and sugar. Add molasses and egg; beat well. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition.

On lightly floured surface, roll out dough to one-fourth-inch thick. Cut with three-inch floured heart cookie cutter. Bake cookies on lightly greased cookie sheet in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for nine to ten minutes, until just done but not browned. Cool.

Frost with Lemon Frosting. Makes about three dozen.

Lemon Frosting:

In small bowl of electric mixer, combine one egg white and one and three-fourths cups sifted confectioners' sugar. Beat at high speed until mixture forms straight peaks. Stir in one teaspoon grated lemon peel. If too stiff to handle, add one to two teaspoons of water.

Bicentennial Reading Lists

Available At Niles Library

NILES — Two films will be shown from noon to 1 p.m. Monday, Feb. 16, at the Niles Community Library.

The first feature, "Gifts," is narrated by Loren Greene and is an appeal to conserve natural resources. "Versailles" is a film of the famous French palace shot entirely from a helicopter.

The films are shown free of charge and anyone wishing to bring a sack lunch may do so.

The library has issued two special lists for the Bicentennial year reading.

They are: "The Spirit of America through Fiction" and "Rebels With a Cause," which lists books on customs, recipes and famous people of that era as well as selected books on history.

The lists are available without charge at the library.

NEVADA CITY, CALIF. (AP)

— "It's right here, just a few feet away," said 67-year-old Alleghany Lu, uncorking a great whack at the mine rockwall with her rusty pick, still hunting the elusive El Dorado after 40 years.

The woman's eyes lit up in the shower of sparks that briefly brightened the gloomy tunnel. She sat down in the dust to study a chunk of yellow rock, shrugged and tossed it away — just another yellow rock.

Alleghany Lu's real name is Luthena Caston. She's been working around the mines on the northern edge of the Mother Lode since she first came to California from Montana in the 1890's, hunting more of the $600 million in gold dug out by the 49ers.

"I'm going to hold on until they come up and hang me," Lu vowed recently. The years have whitened her hair but failed to cool the gold fever that hit her so long ago, and her faith is as strong as ever.

"The pitiful thing is just when I'm close to hittin' a big pocket of gold, I don't have the money to go on," she sighed.

Bob Clinch, who sells mining supplies and has known her for 30 years, said, "Lu's quite a lady. She used to be quite a looker in her day. She would come back from San Francisco wearing white gloves and all the trimmings of a San Francisco lady. She's got a kind of Diamond Lil complex, you know."

Lu, who got her nickname while working the Seven Aces Mine up by Alleghany elsewhere in the Sierra, named her current claim the San Francisco. It's a few hundred yards deep and was blasted out of the Sierra mountainside. She makes a daily round trip to the mine in an elderly pickup truck.

A one-time partner helped Lu buy a $2,000 mucking machine, an iron cart that runs into the mine and scoops up the rubble blasted from the walls. But the machine didn't last and she's looking around for another partner to finance her in that final big hit, out there somewhere.

The use of a vacuum cleaner or a stiff brush are the best methods of cleaning a carpet. Never mind stories of Tom Sawyer and his rug-beating exploits: a carpet should never be placed on a line or against a wall and beaten — it imposes undue strain on the fabric, and may cause fraying edges as well. If a carpet has become excessively dusty, it should be placed face upwards on a dry lawn and lightly beaten. Don't use soap and water on spots; try, instead, a reputable carpet cleaner. Canadian Company To Present 'La Boheme'

SCENE FROM PUCCINI'S 'LA BOHEME' ABOUT FOUR BOHEMIANS IN PARIS

Community Concerts Monday

The Canadian Opera Company will present "La Boheme" as Community Concerts association of Southwestern Michigan's second concert of the season.

The opera will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 16, at Lakeshore high school auditorium.

The performance will be the company's second appearance in the twin cities area. The company presented "Cosi Fan Tutte," here in 1973.

The story of the opera is built around four Bohemians in Paris whose lives are a continual struggle for existence.

The Canadian Opera Company went on tour for the first time in 1958 in response to a request from the Canada Council.

The tour itinerary grew extensively in accordance with audience demand from coast to coast.

Some states in the United States were added to the tour in 1961 and in 1970, the company began its first full-scale tour of the United States. Tours of the United States ranging from six to 10 weeks have become a regular part of the Canadian Opera's annual schedule.

For the first 10 years of the company's tours, only piano accompaniment was used.

The acquisition of a touring orchestra was made possible in the spring of 1968 by a special grant from the Canada Council and the tour now features an orchestra of 23 members.

Jan Rubes, Canadian opera singer and television personality, is director of touring and program development for the Canadian Opera.

The current production of "La Boheme" utilizes new concepts in film projections and lighting techniques within the framework of a specially designed touring set sponsored by IBM Canada Limited.

The Canadian Opera Touring presentation has been made possible through grants from the Canada Council and the Ontario Arts Council.

Errol Gay is music director and conductor and Jan Rubes is director.

According to spokesmen of the company, the Canadian National Opera Tour was established to provide an opera of high quality to areas generally lacking accessibility to live opera, to provide longer season of employment for artistic and production personnel and to provide young artists with the opportunity to work with seasoned professionals and thereby broaden their own range of experience.

Bake A Batch Of Valentines

LOVE LETTERS THAT NEED NO STAMPS

Love Letters are made with a fabulous cookie dough which combines the popular flavors of nutritious peanut butter and dark molasses.

Why not bake a batch and let the children frost and decorate them in time for Valentine delivery? Children can write Dad, Be Mine, I Love You, their sweetheart's initials or their teacher's full name.

LOVE LETTERS

Three and one-fourth cups unsifted all-purpose flour
One teaspoon baking soda
One teaspoon cinnamon
One-half teaspoon salt
One-third cup creamy-style peanut butter
Three tablespoons shortening
Two-thirds cup sugar
One-half cup dark molasses
One egg
One-third cup sour milk or buttermilk
Lemon Frosting
Food color

Onto waxed paper, sift together flour, soda, cinnamon and salt. In large mixing bowl, cream peanut butter, shortening and sugar. Add molasses and egg; beat well. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition.

On lightly floured surface, roll out dough to one-fourth-inch thick. Cut with three-inch floured heart cookie cutter. Bake cookies on lightly greased cookie sheet in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for nine to ten minutes, until just done but not browned. Cool. Frost with Lemon Frosting. Makes about three dozen.

Lemon Frosting:

In small bowl of electric mixer, combine one egg white and one and three-fourths cups sifted confectioners' sugar. Beat at high speed until mixture forms straight peaks. Stir in one teaspoon grated lemon peel. If too stiff to handle, add one to two teaspoons of water.

Bicentennial Reading Lists Available At Niles Library

NILES — Two films will be shown from noon to 1 p.m. Monday, Feb. 16, at the Niles Community library.

The first feature, "Gifts," is narrated by Loren Greene and is an appeal to conserve natural resources. "Versailles" is a film of the famous French palace shot entirely from a helicopter.

The films are shown free of charge and anyone wishing to bring a sack lunch may do so.

The library has issued two special lists for the Bicentennial year reading.

They are "The Spirit of America through Fiction" and "Rebels With a Cause," which lists books on customs, recipes and famous people of that era as well as selected books on history.

The lists are available without charge at the library.

Still Looking For Gold

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (AP) — "It's right here, just a few feet away," said 67-year-old Alleghany Lu, uncorking a great whack at the mine rockwall with her rusty pick, still hunting the elusive El Dorado after 40 years.

The woman's eyes lit up in the shower of sparks that briefly brightened the gloomy tunnel. She sat down in the dust to study a chunk of yellow rock, shrugged and tossed it away — just another yellow rock.

Alleghany Lu's real name is Luthena Caston. She's been working around the mines on the northern edge of the Mother Lode since she first came to California from Montana in the 1890's, hunting more of the $600 million in gold dug out by the '49ers.

"I'm going to hold on until they come up and hang me," Lu vowed recently. The years have whitened her hair but failed to cool the gold fever that hit her so long ago, and her faith is as strong as ever.

"The pitiful thing is just when I'm close to hittin' a big pocket of gold, I don't have the money to go on," she sighed.

Bob Clinch, who sells mining supplies and has known her for 30 years, said, "Lu's quite a lady. She used to be quite a looker in her day. She would come back from San Francisco wearing white gloves and all the trimmings of a San Francisco lady. She's got a kind of Diamond Lil complex, you know."

Lu, who got her nickname while working the Seven Aces Mine up by Alleghany elsewhere in the Sierra, named her current claim the San Francisco. It's a few hundred yards deep and was blasted out of the Sierra mountainside. She makes a daily round trip to the mine in an elderly pickup truck.

A one-time partner helped Lu buy a $2,000 mucking machine, an iron cart that runs into the mine and scoops up the rubble blasted from the walls. But the machine didn't last and she's looking around for another partner to finance her in that final big hit, out there somewhere.

The use of a vacuum cleaner or a stiff brush are the best methods of cleaning a carpet. Never mind stories of Tom Sawyer and his rug-beating exploits; a carpet should never be placed on a line or against a wall and beaten — it imposes undue strain on the fabric, and may cause fraying edges as well. If a carpet has become excessively dusty, it should be placed face upwards on a dry lawn and lightly beaten. Don't use soap and water on spots; try, instead, a reputable carpet cleaner. Take good care of what you walk on — without it, where would you be?

Home Patients Need Special Care

The kind of home care needed for a sick person depends on the seriousness of the illness, degree of incapacity and the length of time the person will need special care.

In the case of serious or debilitating illness, help is available in many communities through home health care services. They may be sponsored by a hospital, private company or public agency, such as the local health department. Check with the patient's health insurance company about home care benefits. Such services may be covered.

Whether the illness is relatively minor and of short duration, a convalescent period following hospitalization, or a prolonged or chronic condition, home care should be approached with the total well-being of the patient and the least disruption of normal family life in mind. This requires cooperation and patience of everyone.

Sometimes it is necessary to rearrange the home to accommodate special equipment, provide the patient with a private room or eliminate the need for the sick person to climb stairs.

First, check the home for safety. Where walking and balance are impaired, throw rugs and loose floor coverings are especially dangerous. Skid-resistant covering is a better choice; it can be readily washed to retain this feature. If floors are waxed or polished, invest in a pair of rubber-soled slippers for the patient.

Arrange furniture to minimize protrusion of sharp corners and edges. It may be helpful to install a railing along a hallway, handgrip next to toilet and on bathtub or shower wall. A bed railing might also be needed. Keep cords of lamps and other equipment well out of the way.

Someone in the family must undertake the responsibility of dispensing medicines prescribed for the patient and see that they are taken on schedule. Sometimes the patient can manage alone, but it is not advisable. It is best to have a responsible adult in charge.

Since caring for a sick person can be time-consuming, it helps to keep household chores to a minimum, while maintaining a clean, pleasant home. Choose clothing, furnishings and accessories that launder well with no-ironing, wipe clean or can be scrubbed with suds, suggests The Soap and Detergent Association. Keep cleaning supplies and tools on hand, located in convenient areas of the home. Washability is especially important if the patient is prone to accidents with food or toilet control. The patient's laundry may need to be washed more frequently. In some instances separate from other loads.

Often a patient can take care of his or her own personal grooming, while some may require assistance in bathing, shaving and caring for hair and nails.

Keeping an ill person clean and comfortable helps lift the spirits and ward off anxiety. Daily cleansing routines also aid in preventing bed sores, skin irritations and infections.

The daily bath must not only cleanse and protect, but should be a time of relaxation for the patient. Choose a quiet, unhurried time of day. Be sure the bathroom or sickroom is warm and draft-free. The skin of an ill person is often tender; use soft, clean washcloths and towels for washing and drying.

Apply skin lotion, paying special attention to pressure spots such as elbows and heels. A back rub with lotion stimulates circulation and is soothing. Use long, gentle strokes. Finish with a light dusting of powder and be sure to include skin folds and crevices where dampness may cause irritation.

Bedding should be changed as frequently as necessary; in some situations this may be a few times a day. Make sure furnishings in the sickroom are kept clean.

Available Locally

The General Federation of Women's clubs (GFWC), the largest organization of women in the world, has issued the fourth commemorative plate which completes the GFWC Official United States of America Bicentennial Commemorative project, according to Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, president.

Mrs. Miller says the 1976 plate, "Proclaim Liberty throughout all the land," features three jubilant Americans ringing the Liberty Bell, one of the most cherished and revered symbols of American freedom. "This final plate will be available through local women's clubs across the nation."

This plate may be purchased from all members of the Berrien County Federation of Women's clubs.

Four years ago, the GFWC commissioned an American artist to sculpture in glass a series of four collector's plates. Each plate features a scene depicting one of the four major movements of the American Revolution. They were designed and produced by the Fenton Art Glass Company, Williamsstown, W.Va.

According to Mrs. Miller, the first plate each year has been presented to the Nation's First Lady for display at the White House. The plates have also been accepted by the Freedoms Foundation for permanent display at Valley Forge, Pa.

On July 4, 1976, a ceremony will be held at Independence Hall, when all moulds of the plate will be destroyed, thereby creating a limited edition.

Open House Feb. 14

COLOMA — Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Roung, route 3, Box 332, Coloma, will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary at an open house Saturday, Feb. 14, from 7 to 8 p.m. at Benton Harbor Elks Country Club.

Hosting the event will be their children, Miss Vicki Roung and Mrs. Larry (Kathy) McNew, both of Coloma.

On Feb. 14, 1951, Roung and the former Katherine Marie Venable were married in South Bend, Ind. They have resided in this area for nine years.

Roung is employed as a pipefitter at the Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant, Bridgman. Mrs. Roung is employed as a waitress at DiMaggio's Pizza, Lake Michigan Beach.

Roung is a member of the Benton Harbor Elks club and Mrs. Roung is president of the Benton Harbor Emblem club.

SJ Girl In Concert At WMU

Melinda Zuppan of St. Joseph will participate in the University Horn Choir, an ensemble of student French hornists from the department of music at Western Michigan university, when the group presents a special program Wednesday, Feb. 18.

The 8 p.m. program will be held in Oakland recital hall on the WMU campus, and is open to the public free of charge.

Coordinated by professor Neil Sanders, the horn choir will perform original works for groups of horns. Included on the program are "Six Pieces," by Nicolas Tcherepnine; "Bachianas Brasileiras No. 5" by Villa-Lobos; "Sonata," by Michael Tippett; and "Sextet for Horns" by Gregory Kertorian.

The horn choir is made up of 14 students. Miss Zuppan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Zuppan, 2360 Niles avenue, St. Joseph.

Minisociety Projects Imitate Real World

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Tax collector Kent Gibson, 12, has more money than anyone else in the minisociety of "Jasonville."

That's probably because in one case understands the intricacies of Jasonville's tax form, which bristles with instructions such as: "If answers in lines 23 and 26 are no, enter total from line 20." — Just like the real thing.

In another minisociety named "The Humane Society," police are paid in currency bearing the likeness of Donald Duck — at the going rate of 200 ducks a week.

"Jasonville" comes to life one hour each week in Jerry Ramsey's sixth-grade classroom at Downing Elementary School, while "The Humane Society" is found in Lynn Anderson's third and fourth-grade classroom at Brookdale Elementary School.

Both projects aim to teach grade school children about economics and free enterprise.

Collector Gibson explains why his tax form is so tough. "Mr. Ramsey said if it's complicated it'll seem more like real life."

By participating in small-scale imitations of the real world, pupils gain an understanding of concepts such as supply and demand, inflation and scarcity, their teachers say.

Jasonville has its own flag and currency, a judge, a bank, variety store, real estate office, newspaper, radio station and an advertising conglomerate, all run and patronized by pupils.

In the Humane Society, Kevin Ellison started a business called "Snowflake City," selling paper cut-out snowflakes for 500 ducks each. High prices will cut demand, Kevin found.

Faced with a scarcity of customers, he knocked his price down to 10 ducks and revived his business.

Both teachers encourage pupils to make their own decisions by charging a stiff fee for consultations.

One enterprising Jasonville youngster exchanged his Jasonville money for real money, possible at the rate of one real dollar for 20 Jasonville dollars, bought real candy at a real store, then resold his candy in Jasonville at rates that enabled him to make a $2 real profit.

The use of real money is made possible by a small grant from the Washington State Council for Economic Education. Sponsor of both societies, the council is headquartered at Pacific Lutheran University and seeks to improve the teaching of economics in public schools.

"Games are an efficient teaching device," says Ramsey. "In this one the kids get an intuitive understanding of a market economy, what competition is like and why it's important."

"They learn that everything costs."

Early Valentines Could Sting

Valentines are tender, affectionate messages of love, full of hearts and cupid.

Right? Wrong — if you're talking about Penny Dreadfuls, those insulting, slanderous, downright offensive valentine greetings that flourished here in the 19th century.

According to Sally Hopkins, director of the Hallmark Cards historical collection which contains numerous examples of Penny Dreadfuls, the cards first appeared in Victorian England. They quickly crossed the Atlantic and despite their barbarity became wildly popular.

"The cards were also called Vinegar Valentines, Comics or Rudes and Crudes," says Miss Hopkins. "But the usual name was Penny Dreadfuls, because they cost a penny and they were dreadful."

One such card, showing a grotesque woman wearing a bell for a hat, with the clapper sticking out of her mouth, says: "Your tongue is ever on the swing — And has a harsh discordant ring — How I hate its scolding tone — Your clapper is the curse of home." Another contains a similar string of surly sentiments: "You hateful, despicable wretch, you lie whenever you draw breath. Deceitful, cunning, slandering devil, always trying to do evil. Beware that your lying tongue is not from your vile mouth wrung."

Why did people send Penny Dreadfuls? "Perhaps it was a reaction to the repression and stuffy morality of the Victorian era," says Miss Hopkins. "Or maybe some people wanted to get away from the usual sentimental and flowery valentines of the time."

Whatever the reason, thousands and thousands were exchanged in the 1800's. One year the Chicago post office even refused to deliver about 20,000 of the mannerless missives, calling them too vicious and obscene. Not surprising, perhaps, when the tender words of adoration inside often read like this: "I'll treat you with scorn whenever I pass, you deceitful, oily-tongued snake in the grass."

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Short Course For Housewives

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is in the line of work that requires him to call on housewives during the day. I hope you will print this letter so the woman on the Make will realize she didn't invent anything. Her tricks are as old as the hills.

For example: Answering the door in a flimsy housecoat, clutching the top because a button is missing. When she leans over to sign something, one hand releases the top and everything God gave her falls out.

Another one: Asking the salesman to assist her in getting a box down from a top shelf. The woman stands on a chair or step-ladder, reaches up and she just happens to be wearing a rather short housedress. On a clear day he can see Pasadena.

Trick Three: A sexy piece of lingerie is draped over the chair. If the man mentions it, Mrs. Housewife offers in "model it."

Thank you for printing this letter, Ann. I hope it helps to wise up some of those bored housewives who are looking for excitement. — Wife Of An Insurance Salesman

Dear Wife: Never mind about THEM! Your letter was a revelation to ME! Thanks for the short course.

Home Cooking

Dear Ann Landers: A lot of people would appreciate the answer to this one. How do you invite another couple to dinner at a nice restaurant at their own expense? We enjoy certain couples but can't afford to take them out. It seems that when you ask people to join you for dinner these days they assume they are your guests. We don't like the expression "Dutch Treat." Any other suggestions? — Slightly Broke

Dear S.B.: If you "enjoy certain couples" but can't afford to take them out, entertain them in your home. You don't have to serve caviar and quail under glass. It's the company that counts. P.S. If you're "Slightly Broke" how can you afford to take YOURSELVES out?

Immature

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl who just celebrated her 19th birthday, but today I feel like 90. The reason? Same old thing. My parents. Please print my letter because several kids I go to school with have the same problem.

ANN LANDERS

I've heard it said that arguing and expressing your feelings openly is healthy because it "releases tensions" and makes the relationship more "honest." Well, it may be good for the people who are doing it, but it sure makes nervous wrecks out of kids who have to listen to screaming and name-calling, fist-fighting and throwing of furniture and dishes.

My parents' fights follow a definite pattern. One starts picking on the other, over some ridiculous thing. The argument heats up and Dad begins to run down my mother's family. Then Mom starts to get real mad and she'll throw something. Dad throws something back or gives her a slap across the mouth. She cries and he leaves the house and sleeps at his mother's.

There are no penalties for this, but there is an easy way to handle the matter. Assuming that all the other players are annoyed by this, they can just refuse to play with the culprit.

When South rebid three hearts and then four clubs, North simply went back to three and four spades. He wanted to discourage his partner who apparently was heading for a slam somewhere.

The discouragement did not work. South just went to six spades.

Spring Festival Of Music Planned For Easter Week

The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and McDonald's restaurants will present their second annual Spring Festival of American Music during Easter Week, 1970, in Washington, D.C.

Entitled "American Music '70," the festival, funded by McDonald's restaurants, is planned for Easter Week, April 16-24, because of the many tourists visiting the Capitol at that time. Visitors and people who live and work in the Capitol may attend 30 informal free concerts at the Kennedy center every day of the week at almost any time. Immediate seating will be available in the Kennedy center's grand foyer.

The performances, by small groups, solo artists and full orchestras, offering a wide variety of music will begin at 10:30 a.m. and, on most days, continue through dusk. Performances in the foyer will last from 30 to 45 minutes. The more structured concerts will take place in the concert hall, and usually last one or two hours.

The festival's highlight will be a gala evening performance on Easter Sunday, April 18, with the Curtis Institute Orchestra led by internationally famous conductor and cellist, Mstislav Rostropovich.

This will be the fourth free concert series funded by McDonald's restaurants at the John F. Kennedy center. Christmas concerts were held in 1972 and 1973, and the first annual Spring Festival which helped usher in the Kennedy center's Bicentennial celebration was held during Easter Week, 1975.

Dear Mrs. E.: You must not consider your child's condition as a reflection of the cleanliness of your home. These pinworm infections can occur in "privileged" homes as well as in "underprivileged" homes.

Contrary to general belief, pinworm disorders can also occur in northern climates. It once was thought to be a tropical or sub-tropical condition.

Pinworm is caused by a tiny worm that deposits its eggs around the rectal opening. The diagnosis is made by finding the pinworm eggs, through microscopic study, in the stool specimen.

Young children who are careless about personal hygiene may, in a school or camp situation, become infected. Scrupulous hygiene, coupled with the new and effective drugs, can completely eradicate this parasitic problem.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Some Guatemala Cultural Treasures Badly Damaged

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — Some of Guatemala's ancient archaeological treasures and colonial monuments were badly damaged by the earthquake last week but the ruins of the Mayan city of Tikal were not affected, the director of the National Institute of Anthropology reports.

"The cultural heritage of Guatemala suffered considerable losses in the earthquake," said Luis Lujan Munos after a preliminary survey of the pre-Columbian and Spanish Colonial treasures that bring thousands of tourists and scholars to Guatemala.

"We hope that international organizations like UNESCO and the Organization of American States, friendly governments and private scientific institutions will give us financial and technical help to save these valuable cultural heritages of mankind."

Most recent official reports listed the toll from the earthquake the morning of Feb. 4 at 17,022 dead, almost 55,000 injured and more than a sixth of the country's 6 million people homeless.

Lujan Munos said the historic sites that suffered most from the quake included Mixco Viejo, in Chichicastenango department (state); Iximche, the capital of the K'iche' Maya kingdom, and nearby Tecpan, where Don Pedro de Alvarado established the first Spanish capital of Guatemala in 1524; and Antigua, the colonial capital of Central America from 1542 until 1773.

But Tikal's six white temples, rising out of the green jungle 185 miles northeast of Guatemala City, were outside the area of heavy damage from the quake eight days ago and the hundreds of aftershocks, Lujan Munos reported.

"The quake left the ruins in Mixco Viejo in poor condition, and those in Iximche were damaged almost as badly. Tecpan was destroyed."

Zaculeu, outside Huehuetenango, in western Guatemala, suffered no serious damage. At Quirigua, 130 miles northeast of Guatemala City, two important stelae were damaged.

At Yaxja, east of Flores, the main temple suffered several cracks.

The extent of the damage to Antigua, 15 miles southwest of Guatemala City, has not been determined. The streets are still strewn with rubble and filled with frightened townspeople. But Lujan Munos said the ruins of the cathedral (Antigua was destroyed by another quake in 1773), the government headquarters, the Church of San Sebastian and the hospital were

Criminal Code Bill Faces Loss Of Death Penalties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders of both parties are seeking to break the impasse over bill S.1, the proposed consolidation of federal criminal laws, by dropping controversial sections dealing with government secrecy and the death penalty.

A memorandum with this suggestion has been sent to key members of the Senate Judiciary Committee by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Behind-the-scenes negotiations are underway, with the outcome uncertain, but there is talk of introducing a new bill stripped of the provisions that have generated major disputes.

Sections under review for possible deletion include provisions to impose the death penalty for treason, espionage, kidnapping and hijacking in which a death results, killing for hire and killing in connection with escape from custody.

Other controversial sections would penalize government employees who disclose classified information. The provisions have been attacked by media spokesmen as amounting to an "Official Secrets Act" that could be used to stifle reporting of government errors and misdeeds.

Altogether, the Mansfield-Scott memo lists 13 subject areas which either would be deleted or compromised in a way designed to eliminate controversies that have clouded the bill's chance of passage. The memo says this may salvage about 90 per cent of the 800-page bill.

The two party leaders are among the original sponsors of the measure, which has been in the works for almost 10 years. The bill codifies and irons out the wrinkles in federal criminal laws that now are scattered through 11 volumes of federal statutes.

An aide to Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., ranking minority member of the Judiciary Committee and a chief sponsor of the bill, said Hruska has responded favorably to the memo.

But this course is reported to include an understanding that liberals who oppose parts of S.1 will not try to add other controversial proposals they favor, such as more restrictions on guns and wiretaps.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee that drafted S.1 and reported it to the Judiciary Committee late last year, could not be reached for his reaction.

Some Guatemala Cultural Treasures Badly Damaged

GUATEMALA CITY. (AP) — Some of Guatemala's ancient archeological treasures and colonial monuments were badly damaged by the earthquake last week but the ruins of the Mayan city of Tikal were not affected, the director of the National Institute of Anthropology reports.

"The cultural heritage of Guatemala suffered considerable losses in the earthquake," said Luis Lujan Munos after a preliminary survey of the pre-Columbian and Spanish Colonial treasures that bring thousands of tourists and scholars to Guatemala.

"We hope that international organizations like UNESCO and the Organization of American States, friendly governments and private scientific institutions will give us financial and technical help to save these valuable cultural heritages of mankind."

Most recent official reports listed the toll from the earthquake the morning of Feb. 4 at 17,032 dead, almost 55,000 injured and more than a sixth of the country's 6 million people homeless.

Lujan Munos said the historic sites that suffered most from the quake included Mixco Viejo, in Chichicastenango department (state); Iximche, the capital of the Kakchiquel Maya kingdom, and nearby Tecpan, where Don Pedro de Alvarado established the first Spanish capital of Guatemala in 1524; and Antigua, the colonial capital of Central America from 1542 until 1776.

But Tikal's six white temples, rising out of the green jungle 185 miles northeast of Guatemala City, were outside the area of heavy damage from the quake eight days ago and the hundreds of aftershocks.

Lujan Munos reported: —The quake left the ruins in Mixco Viejo in poor condition, and those in Iximche were damaged almost as badly. Tecpan was destroyed.

—Zaculeu, outside Huehuetenango, in western Guatemala, suffered no serious damage. At Quirigua, 130 miles northeast of Guatemala City, two important steles were damaged.

—At Yaxja, east of Flores, the main temple suffered several cracks.

The extent of the damage to Antigua, 15 miles southwest of Guatemala City, has not been determined. The streets are still strewn with rubble and filled with frightened townspeople. But Lujan Munos said the ruins of the cathedral (Antigua was destroyed by another quake in 1773), the government headquarters, the Church of San Sebastian and the hospital were

Criminal Code Bill Faces Loss Of Death Penalties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders of both parties are seeking to break the impasse over bill S1, the proposed consolidation of federal criminal laws, by dropping controversial sections dealing with government secrecy and the death penalty.

Behind-the-scenes negotiations are underway, with the outcome uncertain, but there is talk of introducing a new bill stripped of the provisions that have generated major disputes.

The two party leaders are among the original sponsors of the measure, which has been in

An aide to Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., ranking minority member of the Judiciary Committee and a chief sponsor of the bill, said Hruska has responded favorably to the memo.

But this course is reported to include an understanding that liberals who oppose parts of S1 will not try to add other controversial proposals they favor, such as more restrictions on guns and wiretaps.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the subcommittee that drafted S1 and reported it to the Judiciary Committee late last year, could not be reached for his reaction to the Mansfield-Scott memo. So far, the full committee has taken no action on the bill.

Meanwhile, another sign that compromise was in the air came today when Sen. Robert C. Byrd, a committee member and the assistant Senate majority leader, urged that the bill be stripped of the sections dealing with espionage and disclosure of classified information.

"I believe the government secrecy sections of S1 should be deleted from the bill and considered in separate legislation," the West Virginia Democrat said in a letter to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Byrd said that by doing this "the way would be smoothed for a more rapid consideration" of the measure.

Township Asked For Contribution For Senior Busing

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven township board last night took under advisement a request that the township contribute funds toward a proposed Van Buren county transportation program for the elderly and handicapped. Jerome Shumate of Covert, speaking on behalf of the Van Buren County Transportation Task Force, said each of the county's governmental units will be asked to contribute 10 cents for each citizen based on the 1970 census. South Haven township would pay $340.

Shumate explained that the system is scheduled to begin operation in early April. Two 16-passenger buses will be used. The county has been divided into five regions and each will be served two days a week.

Service will be limited to citizens 60 years and older and the handicapped no matter the age. Cost will be $1 for a round trip. Patrons will be asked to call 24 hours in advance to arrange pickup.

Local contributions and a federal grant will provide the anticipated $31,500 first year budget. Drivers will be CETA employees, according to Shumate.

Shumate noted that approximately 20 per cent of South Haven township residents would be eligible for the program.

In other business, the board took note that it must determine by July 1 what roads it wishes to improve during the upcoming fiscal year under the county road commission matching funds program. South Haven township has been allocated $8,700 in matching funds for the upcoming year compared to $12,000 this year.

The board also noted that the county road commission has established a new policy requiring pre-payment of 75 per cent of the cost for any project. The policy was instituted because Van Buren townships still owe the county agency $87,000 for work done in 1974. South Haven officials noted that they have paid all their bills to the county.

The board said it is considering improvements to Summit road and Airport road.

Clerk Franklin Torp reported that two ambulance service positions through the CETA program are expected to be funded until at least June 30. He said there were no additional funds available to create a third position under the program.

The board approved transferring $12,000 of federal revenue sharing funds to the general fund for payment of road improvements.

A woman passenger was injured Wednesday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Britain avenue and Martin Luther King drive, Benton Harbor, police reported.

Treated for facial cuts and released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, was Charlene Salltever, 48, of 451 Riverside road, Coloma. She was a passenger in a car driven by Fred Dec Killingsworth, 34, of 861 Bert street, Benton township. She was unhurt and police cited her for disregarding a stop sign in the 12:23 p.m. accident. Driver of the other car was identified as James Allen Coquillard, 20, of 2520 Yankee, Niles. He was unhurt, police said.

Ask Rail Release

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked federal rail officials to remove 50 miles of the bankrupt Ann Arbor Railroad from the federal ConRail system and place it under state control. Milliken asked ConRail Chairman Arthur D. Lewis to release to Michigan the profit-making miles between Toledo and Ann Arbor.

Watervliet Board Adopts Fire Budget

WATERVLLET — The Watervliet fire board last night adopted a proposed 1976-77 operating and fire truck budget totaling $70,950.

The budget will now be forwarded to both Watervliet city and township to be included in their budgets. The two help finance the fire department.

The total budget includes $52,000 earmarked for paying for a new 1,000 gallon fire pumper expected to be delivered late this year. Of the total amount, half or $26,000, was previously set aside by both municipalities in anticipation of the purchase.

A $22,500 grant is also being sought to help pay for part of the truck's cost.

The actual operating budget of the department for the upcoming year was reduced from last year's $20,500 to $18,950.

Included in the operating budget are funds for paying for fire runs in both areas. The city's share is $3,350, while the townships cost is $5,000.

Both municipalities pay $3,500 for utility costs and paying board members, and an additional $1,000 is contributed for miscellaneous expenses for purchasing equipment and repairs.

The original proposed budget called for a 10 per cent boost over last year's budget before being revised by board members.

Cass Billed $24,766 For Prisoner's Bill

CASSOPOLIS — Kalamazoo county $24,766 for medical services rendered to a county prisoner who died at the hospital more than a year ago.

The hospital billed the county for medical services rendered to Dirk Skatvold, of Elkhardt, Ind., from July 29 to Oct. 20, 1974.

Skatvold, 18, was arrested by Cass county deputies July 18, 1974, for unlawfully driving away an auto and for fleeing arrest.

After being lodged in the county jail, the prisoner became ill and was sent several times to a local doctor, sheriff deputies said.

On July 29, 1974, the doctor ordered Skatvold hospitalized at Borgess. There his condition was diagnosed as a brain tumor, county officials said, and he died at the hospital Oct. 20, 1974.

Cass Prosecutor Michael Dodge has advised the county commission that as a prisoner, Skatvold's medical expenses are public liability and the county must pay the bill. The commission is awaiting written confirmation from Dodge before making the payment.

The county at this time carries no insurance for such cases, county officials said.

SOUTH HAVEN — Five building permits for projects valued at $94,000 were issued by South Haven township during January, according to building inspector James Schnake.

A $65,000 permit was issued to the Smith Construction company of St. Joseph for a new warehouse for the Michigan Orchard Supply company.

Other permits were issued to William Absher, 76th street, new home, $15,000; Dan Miller, 24th avenue, addition, $4,000; William Isom, Blue Star highway, addition, $2,000; Al Goodrode, Blue Star highway, place mobile home, $8,000.

Gobles Asks Street Improvement Plan

GOBLES — The Gobles city commission last night hired Gove & Associates, Kalamazoo engineers, to develop a five-year city street improvement plan. The plan must be submitted to the state by March 1, in order to enable the city to become eligible for federal and state funding for street improvement projects.

In other areas, the commission approved donating $150 to the Van Buren county drug program for this year and granted Rev. Paul Armstrong, pastor of the Gobles Presbyterian church, permission to tap city-owned trees for maple syrup this year.

It was announced that the city board of review would meet March 2 and 8, from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1-4 p.m. Board of review members are Donald Lipp, Homer First and Otis Norman.

Motorist Injured

A woman passenger was injured Wednesday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Britain avenue and Martin Luther King drive, Benton township police reported.

Treated for facial cuts and released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, was Charlene Salteiver, 48, of 451 Riverside road, Coloma. She was a passenger in a car driven by Irel Dee Killingsworth, 54, of 951 Bert street, Benton township. She was unhurt and police cited her for disregarding a stop sign in the 12:23 p.m. accident. Driver of the other car was identified as James Allen Coquillard, 20, of 2520 Yankee, Niles. He was unhurt, police said.

Ask Rail Release

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked federal rail officials to remove 50 miles of the bankrupt Ann Arbor Railroad from the federal ConRail system and place it under state control. Milliken asked ConRail Chairman Arthur D. Lewis to release to Michigan the profit-making miles between Toledo and Ann Arbor.

Watervliet Board Adopts Fire Budget

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet fire board last night adopted a proposed 1976-77 operating and fire truck budget totaling $70,950.

The budget will now be forwarded to both Watervliet city and township to be included in their budgets. The two help finance the fire department.

The total budget includes $52,000 earmarked for paying for a new 1,000 gallon fire pumper expected to be delivered late this year. Of the total amount, half or $26,000, was previously set aside by both municipalities in anticipation of the purchase.

A $22,500 grant is also being sought to help pay for part of the truck's cost. The actual operating budget of the department for the upcoming year was reduced from last year's $20,500 to $18,950.

Included in the operating budget are funds for paying for fire runs in both areas. The city's share is $3,350, while the townships cost is $5,000.

Both municipalities pay $3,500 for utility costs and paying board members, and an additional $1,800 is contributed for miscellaneous expenses for purchasing equipment and repairs.

The original proposed budget called for a 10 per cent boost over last year's budget before being revised by board members.

COBB DIES: Actor Lee J. Cobb, shown here in 1949 in his role as Willy Loman in Arthur Miller's play "Death of a Salesman," died Wednesday, a Los Angeles county coroner's spokesman said. He was 64. Cass Billed $24,766 For Prisoner's Bill CASSOPOLIS — Kalamazoo Borgess hospital has billed Cass county $24,766 for medical services rendered to a county prisoner who died at the hospital more than a year ago.

The hospital billed the county for medical services rendered to Dirk Skatvold, of Elkhart, Ind., from July 29 to Oct. 20, 1974.

Skatvold, 18, was arrested by Cass county deputies July 16, 1974, for unlawfully driving away an auto and for fleeing arrest.

After being lodged in the county jail, the prisoner became ill and was sent several times to a local doctor, sheriff deputies said.

On July 29, 1974, the doctor ordered Skatvold hospitalized at Borgess. There his condition was diagnosed as a brain tumor, county officials said, and he died at the hospital Oct. 20, 1974. Cass Prosecutor Michael Dodge has advised the county commission that as a prisoner, Skatvold's medical expenses are public liability and the county must pay the bill.

The commission is awaiting written confirmation from Dodge before making the payment.

The county at this time carries no insurance for such cases, county officials said.

Van Buren Vo-Ed Week Emphasizes Career Education

By DENNIS COGSWILL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — Getting people more aware of and involved with career education is one of the goals of Van Buren county educators during observance of national Vocational Education Week, Feb. 8-14. "All education is really a part of career education," noted Gerald D. Lutz, director of student services for the Van Buren Skills Center here.

"It's really an ongoing learning experience throughout life," he said. "We use to say the average person would change jobs five times during his life. Now it's more like eight or ten times. Obviously that means there's going to have to be some type of re-training and that's where career education comes in."

Lutz said local observance of Vocational Education Week will climax Sunday, with a tour from

Former Hartford Mayor Sued

PAW PAW — Former Hartford Mayor Wesley Knapp and a Kalamazoo man are named as co-defendants in a lawsuit filed by a Hartford woman who claims the pair failed to properly carry out repairs on her home she had contracted following a fire.

The suit, filed in Van Buren circuit court on behalf of Mrs. Mildred Baham, by the Michigan Migrant Legal Assistance Project, claims Knapp and Tim DeHuan did "excessively poor" work on the house in 1974, then failed to honor a warranty on the repairs. As a result, according to the suit, Mrs. Baham has been forced to live in substandard housing and incurred extra expenses to keep up the house.

The suit seeks $6,000 ($3,000 of Mrs. Baham's money and $3,000 she received toward the job from Van Buren social services) in breach of contract damages; $1,825 in liquidated damages for failure to complete the work; and $5,000 in consequential damages.

The suit charges that Knapp and DeHuan improperly installed wiring, plumbing and shelving; put in weatherstripping around doors; improperly cut wallboard; and failed to put in closets and install carpeting in several bedrooms as agreed upon.

Mrs. Baham, according to the suit, is an AFDC recipient. Her lawyer, Atty. Richard Feferman, said that DeHuan, who obtained the bid for the work, is not a licensed builder, although Knapp is.

Robbery Suspect Acquitted

A 22-year-old Benton Harborite was acquitted of an unarmed robbery charge yesterday following a one-day non-jury trial before Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrne.

Cleared of the charge was Henry "Holly" Beamon, of 801 Edwards street. He was charged with robbing Stephen McKenzie of a wallet containing $50 Oct. 8 at 392 Park street, Benton Harbor.

Beamon presented an alibi witness during the defense presentation. Opposing counsel were St. Joseph Atty. Richard Glibersky and Asst. Prosecutor Scott Beatty.

Couple Asks $500,000 From Doctor

A Dowagiac couple has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court against a Niles physician claiming the woman became pregnant after a sterilization operation and that additional complications necessitated a complete hysterectomy.

The plaintiffs, Diane and Clayton Goff, Jr., seek $500,000 actual and punitive damages stemming from operations allegedly performed on the woman in 1973 and 1974.

Named defendant, and identified as the physician who performed the surgery, was F.H. Lindenberg, M.D., of Niles.

The plaintiffs contend Mrs. Goff underwent a sterilization operation Sept. 6, 1973, but a pregnancy occurred and an abortion and another operation were performed Feb. 11, 1974.

The suit claims Mrs. Goff was treated by Dr. Lindenberg until Aug. 28, 1974, when alleged complications required further surgery, including a hysterectomy.

Grant Wants To Close All Stores

NEW YORK (AP) — W.T. Grant Co. has requested court permission to close the rest of its stores, but the move has been challenged on behalf of 40,000 stockholders.

The decision to close, announced at a U.S. District Court hearing here Wednesday, was prompted by pressures from the company's creditors. The closing comes 70 years after the variety store chain was founded.

Since Oct. 2, the company has closed 715 of its 1,074 stores and laid off about 50,000 of 65,000 employees in an effort to cut expenses.

The remaining 359 stores, concentrated in the Northeast and mid-Atlantic regions, have been operating under a provision of federal bankruptcy law which protects the firm from lawsuits while it attempts to reorganize into a profitable operation.

The New York Times, meanwhile, said Montgomery Ward, the S.S. Kresge Co. and the Greyhound Corp. were "reliably reported" to be actively interested in acquiring Grant's remaining 359 stores.

A committee of the banks and merchandisers to whom Grant owes money proposed closing the chain and Bankruptcy Judge John J. Galgay is to render a final decision on selling the remaining property to pay debts.

However, such a move was questioned at the hearing by Marvin Jacob, a lawyer for the Securities and Exchange Commission, who wondered about stockholders' reaction to the closing.

Jacob said he had been advised "two or three weeks ago" — maybe it was two or three days ago — that the company was a "viable operation."

The 40,000 public security holders are entitled to an answer as to why the company was "viable" yesterday or the day before, Jacob said. "What has happened to destroy its viability so completely?"

An attorney for the creditors committee replied that Grant was a "high risk speculative gamble" and that it would take a "generation" to revive it.

"And while the operation is going on, the patient may die," attorney Harvey Miller said.

Miller read to the crowded courtroom a proposed order to "commence immediately the closing and liquidation of all its remaining retail store operations and the operation of distribution centers."

The banks that have lent the company $640 million and the merchandisers, who provided goods on credit, would have the first call on payments if Grant's stores and other properties were sold.

Stockholders, who actually own the company, would be paid if any funds were left.

Several of the banks have already considered portions of their loans as uncollectable and written them off.

Van Buren Vo-Ed Week Emphasizes Career Education

Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — Getting people more aware of and involved with career education is one of the goals of Van Buren county educators during observance of national Vocational Education Week, Feb. 8-14. "All education is really a part of career education," noted Gerald D. Lutz, director of student services for the Van Buren Skills Center here.

"It's really an ongoing learning experience throughout life," he said. "We use to say the average person would change jobs five times during his life. Now it's more like eight or ten times. Obviously that means there's going to have to be some type of re-training and that's where career education comes in."

Lutz said local observance of Vocational Education Week will climax Sunday, with a tour from 1-4:30 p.m. of the Skills Center for school officials and parents of Center students.

"In each of our program areas," he said, "the instructor will be giving demonstrations at 2 and 3 p.m. to give visitors an idea of what's going on."

Lutz said the emphasis on career education is particularly pertinent this year, because every school district will be required to establish an overall career education plan.

Locally, he noted, Bangor is off to a good start with a career education unit for its eighth grade students which explores the fundamentals of work habits and requirements and going about finding a job.

One school in the East, Lutz said, tied in career education with the Bicentennial by building a log cabin. The project was interesting, he remarked, because it enabled the students to tie in more traditional academic skills with vocational skills. He said they first read about log cabins, then used communications skills to draw up a contract for the wood, and then finally math in measuring and cutting the logs.

"Career education is not something wild and abstract," he commented. "It's just a means of showing children the value of their education."

He said the idea that education can really mean something is starting to show up among the students at the Skills Center, who have been attending classes since late January.

"They see the validity of education as it pertains to them and how it relates to job opportunities in the near future," Lutz said.

Lutz noted that in one instance a high school principal had told him that one boy who had been a habitual behavior problem had completely straightened out since finding a program he was interested in at the Center.

The ongoing nature of vocational education will be emphasized next fall when the Skills Center will start to offer a number of adult night classes, Lutz said.

Lincoln Usually Orated Longer

By THOMAS S. BROWN
Associated Press Writer
AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Abraham Lincoln hated to be called "Abe," was embarrassed by his log cabin origins and asserted in campaign speeches that blacks should not be treated as well as whites, says one of his biographers.

Stephen B. Oates, a University of Massachusetts historian, said the 16th president was a great man, but not the homespun folk hero imagined by most Americans.

Oates has spent seven years researching Lincoln's life for a new biography. Today is the 167th anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

Said Oates, "Lincoln was glamorized after his assassination in a fabulous biography written by a law associate, William Herndon. Oates said scholars dismissed the biography years ago, but its image of Lincoln as a commoner lives on."

"Contrary to legend, Lincoln was anything but a common man," Oates said. Instead, he was an ambitious lawyer who preferred not to discuss his log cabin childhood and disparaged his nearly illiterate father, refusing to attend the man's funeral.

The professor said that by middle age, Lincoln was considered a wealthy man with large investments in finance and real estate.

His acquaintances called him "Mr. Lincoln," Oates said. No one dared call him "Abe" to his face.

He loathed the nickname. It did not baffle a respected professional who had struggled hard to overcome the limitations of his frontier background.

Oates said another mistaken notion is that Lincoln's speech-making consisted of simple, often humorous statements offered in deep, rich tones. In reality, he said, Lincoln had a shrill, high-pitched voice and was much more effective delivering elaborate orations than off-the-cuff quips and anecdotes.

Lincoln, he said, ought to be seen as an intense, brooding man, a cautious politician who took a long time to declare publicly that slavery was wrong.

The professor said Lincoln personally disliked slavery but that as a politician from Southern-oriented Illinois he kept those views to himself for years. When campaign opponent Stephen Douglas accused him of favoring racial intermarriage, Lincoln emphatically denied he believed in racial equality for blacks but was only trying to defend their rights to life, liberty and a fair trial.

Oates acknowledged there was one part of the Lincoln legend that stands up — his reputation for honesty. Even Lincoln's enemies conceded he was incorruptible.

Oates, a Texan who has written several books on Civil War subjects, said his research hasn't lessened his regard for Lincoln.

"It's easier to love a flawed hero than a saint," he said.

Suspect Arrested

Benton township police reported Amos Ray, Jr., 25, of 370 Walling Avenue, was arrested Wednesday on a warrant charging two counts of armed robbery and one count of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said the warrant alleges Curtis Robinson and Willie Fenn, both of Saginaw, were robbed of $82 Jun. 27 by a man armed with a handgun at 351 Crystal Avenue. A third man, Jeff Williams, 388 Crystal Avenue, allegedly was kicked in the incident.

Ray was booked at Berrien county jail.

Three thieves reported Wednesday to Berrien sheriff's officers were:

—A shotgun, .22 caliber rifle and tape player, all valued at $530, and $25 in cash, from the home of Robert Bradley, 6011 Madison, Lake Michigan Beach.

—A chain saw, valued at $178, from a truck of the Township Tree Service, driven by Ralph Signora, in Lincoln township.

—A 1974's hand truck, valued at $175, from the car of Robert Kiber, 3383 Lincoln Avenue, Lincoln township.

Congress Votes

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending Feb. 6 were:

HOUSE
Natural Gas Deregulation — By a 239-184 procedural vote, the House allowed consideration of a proposal to deregulate the price of natural gas. The vote enabled supporters of deregulation to bring an amendment to the floor that would end federal price controls over most natural gas.

The amendment was offered as a part of an emergency bill to meet threatened shortages in natural gas consuming states.

Supporters of the amendment argued that shortages would worsen in upcoming years unless Congress acted now to deregulate all natural gas. Adequate supplies could be developed, they contended, only if prices rose to encourage exploration for new reserves and discourage wasteful use.

Opponents charged that the effort to bring up the amendment bypassed the House committee that had been studying the deregulation issue. Before acting on deregulation proposals, they argued, the House should give the panel more time to explore allegations that natural gas producers were withholding available gas to panic the nation into ending interstate price controls.

— Voting for deregulation of natural gas: Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (D) (Majority Leader), Rhodes (R) (Minority Leader).

Adopting the compromise measure drawn up by deregulation opponents, the House voted to end price controls over small natural gas producers while keeping them in effect over major companies. Federal controls would be broadened under the House plan to cover gas that the major companies sell in interstate markets within the producing states.

Supporters of the compromise argued that it would strengthen price controls over the highly concentrated companies that dominate sales of natural gas to pipelines. At the same time, they added, it would encourage new production by ending controls over new gas discovered by the independent companies that do most gas drilling.

Opponents countered that the plan would actually bring more gas under federal price controls which discourage exploration and encourage wasteful use of a precious depletable energy source. By extending controls to interstate gas, they added, the measure would make an unprecedented federal intrusion into previously unregulated markets.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to resolve differences.

— Voting to continue natural gas controls: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), O'Neill (D) (Majority Leader).

— Voting to override natural gas controls: Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (R) (Minority Leader).

Not voting: Brown (R).

SENATE
Dairy Price Supports. By a 37-51 vote, the Senate failed to override President Ford's veto of a bill that would have required quarterly adjustments of the support price for milk and increased the support price to a minimum of 85 per cent of parity. The vote was 22 votes short of the two-thirds needed to override a veto.

Supporters of overriding the President's veto argued that thousands of dairy farmers would continue to go bankrupt without adequate government price supports to cushion the price fluctuations experienced by the dairy industry.

Opponents of the override backed up the President's contention that the measure would be too costly to the government and consumers.

— Voting to override the dairy price supports veto: None.

— Voting to sustain the dairy price supports veto: Griffin (R).

— Not voting: Hart (D).

— Rice Production Act. The Senate passed a bill, 76-12, which would remove limitations on the production of rice and change production from a quota system to a target price system.

Supporters of the bill claimed it would establish the same market-oriented policy for rice that exists for wheat, feed grains and cotton. By removing traditional restrictions on rice production, supporters said, new farmers who wanted to grow rice would be permitted to do so — resulting in a flexible production capacity to meet domestic and world needs. At the same time traditional growers would be protected from financial disaster through a system of target prices and loans.

Opponents argued that the bill would be a disaster for small rice farmers, who would be driven out of business because of the large surpluses generated by the change. Only large corporate growers would benefit, they said. In addition, opponents said the program could be very costly to the government — as much as $108-million a year — and would not reduce retail costs to consumers.

— Voting to remove limitations on rice production: Griffin (R).

— Not voting: Hart (D).

William Clay Ford Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions and an executive with Ford Motor Co., has withdrawn after one week as Eugene McCarthy's running mate in McCarthy's independent bid for the presidency. A statement released Wednesday by the former Minnesota senator's campaign committee said Ford agreed to withdraw because "legal counsel advised us that in several key states, a stand-in candidate must be a resident of those states." McCarthy's campaign organization, the Committee for a Constitutional Presidency, said, "We felt it best that Mr. Ford withdraw in order to avoid the risk of invalidating our (candidate) petitions."

Andretta Probe Continues

DETROIT (AP) — Jailed New Jersey Teamster Stephen Andretta and a federal grand jury continued their deadly serious game of 1,000-plus questions Wednesday as the probe dragged on into the six-month-old disappearance of ex-union boss James R. Hoffa. The 39-year-old Andretta of Little Ferry, N.J., was before the jury for the eighth day. He is striving to purge himself of a contempt of court sentence imposed Dec. 11 for failure to answer questions.

Surviving are three sons, Michael, Hartford, Fred, Chicago and Frank of Winter Park, Fla., and a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Maie) Fusco, Chicago. His wife, the former Matilda Scario and a daughter Virginia both preceded him in death.

A funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Saturday in Christ the King church, 92nd and Hamilton streets, Chicago. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery, Chicago.

Friends may call at the Blake and Lamb funeral home, Cicero Avenue, Chicago.

Local arrangements were in charge of the Calvin funeral home, Hartford.

Four Drug Suspects Will Be Arraigned

CASSOPOLIS — Four Indiana residents arrested Monday on drug sale warrants issued by Cass county officials, are scheduled to be arraigned in district court here Wednesday, Feb. 18, on the charges.

The four are Diana Preston, 19, Granger; David McGill, 28, Elkhart; William Sharp, 21, Wakarusa; and Paula Ball, 20, Elkhart.

Miss Preston is charged with delivery of LSD; McGill with delivery of TCP; Sharp with delivery of marijuana; and Miss Ball with delivery of LSD.

The Cass county sheriff's department innocently reported Monday night that all four had been charged with delivery of marijuana.

All four waived extradition proceedings to Michigan and were released from Cass county jail after posting bonds of $500 each, according to Cass county sheriff's deputies.

But on Tuesday it adopted a series of amendments, sponsored by Rep. Ernest Nash, R-Dimondale, that impose a penalty of a $100 fine and 90 days in jail for possession or use of any amount of marijuana, or non-profit transfer of less than seven-tenths of an ounce.

The Kok amendments would have put the bill back in a form closer to Bryant's original intent.

"They are a reasonable compromise," Bryant said in supporting them and said he will try to get them approved one more time.

Rep. Stephen Monsma, D-Grand Rapids, also endorsed the amendments and said they "fit the punishment to the nature of the crime."

"I can't conceive of this House telling the public we think the young people should go to jail for possession of marijuana," Kok said. If the legislature does feel all marijuana users should go to jail, he added, "Then we're never going to solve the problem of the hard drug user."

Also on Wednesday the House defeated amendments offered by Rep. Gilbert Dingilo, D-East Detroit, that would have required mandatory prison terms for persons convicted of use, possession, or non-profit transfers of marijuana. The penalties would have increased with each conviction.

WW II MEMORIALS — To commemorate those who met their deaths in American coastal waters during World War II, the American Battle Monuments Commission erected memorials in New York City and San Francisco. The memorial in New York's Battery Park is inscribed with 4,598 names, the one at the Presidio of San Francisco carries 412 names.

session, use or non-profit transfer of less than 108 grams — or 3.5 ounces of marijuana — would have been a $100 fine and possible probation no matter how many times a person was convicted. The House later amended that amount down to about one ounce of marijuana for the lowered penalty.

reconsideration of an administrative decision beyond the appeal period provided in the act.

Named defendants besides the state board are Hene Fox, Jane Cuthbert, John and Doris Handy, Vance and Lillian Ferguson, Paul and Virginia O'Hann, Bernadine Johns, Otis and Julia Joseph, and Margaret Prillwitz, who had appealed the Berrien Intermediate board's approval of transfer.

The suit, which is actually a petition for review of administrative agency (the state board) proceedings, contends the reversal by the state board is in excess of the board's authority and in violation of Michigan statutes; prejudiced the petitioners because the state board did not adopt any procedures for rehearing; was not in accordance with evidence on the record; and was illegal because the board "has no power to rescind its prior order when (certain laws) made the board's order final."

The state board in reversing itself said that as a matter of policy no property transfers can occur when a desegregation case is pending against any district involved in a proposed transfer.

A desegregation suit had been in progress against the Berrien Harbor district since 1967. The transfer was held in abeyance by a temporary injunction issued in August, 1974, by Judge Noel Fox in Federal District court in Grand Rapids, who suspended the transfer to maintain the status quo until the desegregation suit was decided.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has accused the nation's Big Three auto makers and their consumer credit subsidiaries of cheating buyers whose cars they repossessed. The three separate complaints issued Wednesday each charged "unfair retention of surpluses on resale of repossessed cars and trucks," meaning that the firms pocketed profits that should have gone to the consumer. The complaints, said the FTC, charge that "in a substantial number of instances, the GM, Ford and Chrysler credit subsidiaries and named dealers and other dealerships have failed to identify and disclose to defaulting buyers the existence of surplus monies realized on the sale of repossessed cars and trucks."

The CIA also said it has "no secret paid or contractual relationship with any American clergyman or missionary" and that "this practice will be continued as a matter of policy." In his first public act since he took over the agency two weeks ago, CIA Director George Bush announced Wednesday that "effective immediately, the CIA will not enter into any paid or contractual relationship with any full-time or part-time news correspondents accredited by any U.S. news service, newspaper, periodical, radio or TV network or station."

Lincoln Usually Orated Longer

By THOMAS S. BROWN
Associated Press Writer
AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Abraham Lincoln hated to be called "Abe," was embarrassed by his log cabin origins and asserted in campaign speeches that blacks should not be treated as well as whites, says one of his biographers.

Stephen B. Oates, a University of Massachusetts historian, said the 16th president was a great man, but not the homespun folk hero imagined by most Americans.

Oates has spent seven years researching Lincoln's life for a new biography. Today is the 167th anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

Said Oates, Lincoln was glamorized after his assassination in a fanciful biography written by a law associate, William Herndon. Oates said scholars dismissed the biography years ago, but its image of Lincoln as a commoner live on.

"Contrary to legend, Lincoln was anything but a common man," Oates said. Instead, he was an ambitious lawyer who preferred not to discuss his log cabin childhood and disparaged his nearly illiterate father, refusing to attend the man's funeral.

The professor said that by middle age, Lincoln was considered a wealthy man with large investments in finance and real estate.

His acquaintances called him "Mr. Lincoln," Oates said. No one dared call him "Abe" to his face.

"He loathed the nickname. It did not befit a respected professional who had struggled hard to overcome the limitations of his frontier background."

Oates said another mistaken notion is that Lincoln's speech-making consisted of simple, often humorous statements offered in deep, rich tones. In reality, he said, Lincoln had a shrill, high-pitched voice and was much more effective delivering elaborate orations than off-the-cuff quips and anecdotes.

Lincoln, he said, ought to be seen as an intense, brooding man, a cautious politician who took a long time to declare publicly that slavery was wrong.

The professor said Lincoln personally disliked slavery but that as a politician from Southern-oriented Illinois he kept those views to himself for years. When campaign opponent Stephen Douglas accused him of favoring racial intermarriage, Lincoln emphatically denied he believed in social equality for blacks but was only trying to defend their rights to life, liberty and a fair livelihood.

Oates acknowledged there was one part of the Lincoln legend that stands up — his reputation for honesty. Even Lincoln's enemies conceded he was incorruptible.

Oates, a Texan who has written several books on Civil War subjects, said his research hasn't lessened his regard for Lincoln.

"It's easier to love a flawed hero than a saint," he said.

Suspect Arrested

Benton township police reported Amos Ray, Jr., 25, of 370 Walnut avenue, was arrested Wednesday on a warrant charging two counts of armed robbery and one count of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said the warrant alleges Curtis Robinson and Willie Fenn, both of Saginaw, were robbed of $62 Jan. 27 by a man armed with a handgun at 351 Crystal avenue. A third man, Jeff Williams, 308 Crystal avenue, allegedly was kicked in the incident.

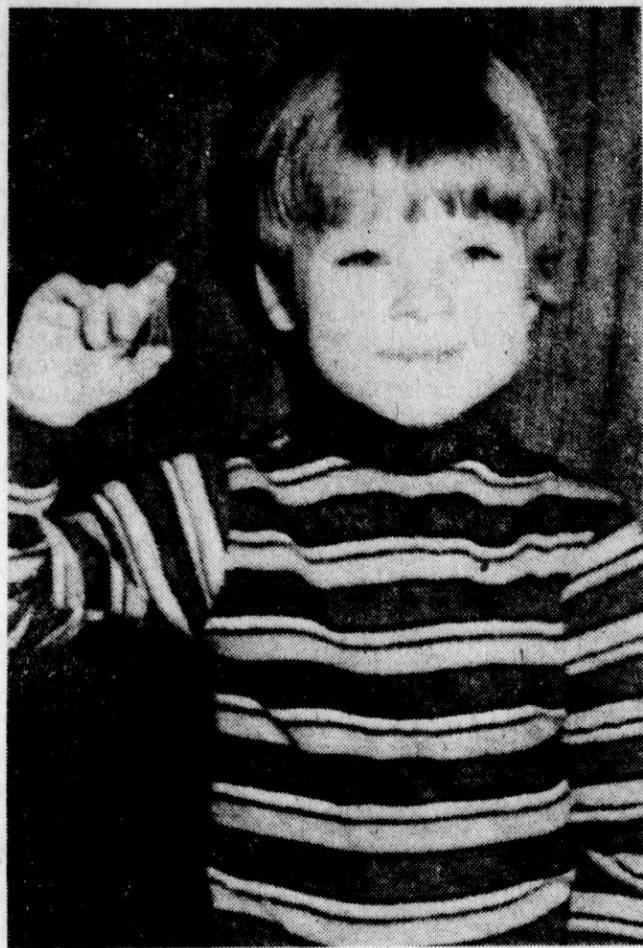

Ray was booked at Berrien county jail.

Three thefts reported Wednesday to Berrien sheriff's officers were:

—A shotgun, .22 caliber rifle and tape player, all valued at $330, and $25 in cash, from the home of Robert Bradley, 6031 Madison, Lake Michigan Beach.

—A chain saw, valued at $178, from a truck of the Township Tree service, driven by Rabon Simcox, in Lincoln township.

—A citizens' band radio, valued at $170, from the car of Robert Kiber, 3883 Lincoln avenue, Lincoln township.

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending Feb. 6 were:

HOUSE
Natural Gas Deregulation — By a 230-184 procedural vote, the House allowed consideration of a proposal to deregulate the price of natural gas. The vote enabled supporters of deregulation to bring an amendment to the floor that would end federal price controls over most new natural gas.

The amendment was offered as a part of an emergency bill to meet threatened shortages in natural gas consuming states.

Supporters of the amendment argued that shortages would worsen in upcoming years unless Congress acted now to deregulate all natural gas. Adequate supplies could be developed, they contended, only if prices rose to encourage exploration for new reserves and discourage wasteful use.

Opponents charged that the effort to bring up the amendment bypassed the House committee that had been studying the deregulation issue. — Voting for deregulation of natural gas: Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (D) (Majority Leader), Rhodes (R) (Minority Leader).

— Voting against deregulation of natural gas: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D).

Adopting the compromise measure drawn up by deregulation opponents, the House voted to end price controls over small natural gas producers while keeping them in effect over major companies. Federal controls would be broadened under the House plan to cover gas that the major companies sell in interstate markets within the producing states.

Supporters of the compromise argued that it would strengthen price controls over the highly concentrated companies that dominate sales of natural gas to pipelines. At the same time, they added, it would encourage new production by ending controls over new gas discovered by the independent companies that do most gas drilling.

Opponents countered that the plan would actually bring more gas under federal price controls which discourage exploration and encourage wasteful use of a precious depletable energy source. By extending controls to intrastate gas, they added, the measure would make an unprecedented federal intrusion into previously unregulated markets.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to resolve the differences.

— Voting to continue natural gas controls: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), O'Neill (D) (Majority Leader).

— Voting not to continue natural gas controls: Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (R) (Minority Leader).

— Not voting: Brown (R).

SENATE
Dairy Price Supports. By a 37-51 vote, the Senate failed to override President Ford's veto of a bill that would have required quarterly adjustments of the support price for milk and increased the support price to a minimum of 85 per cent of parity. The vote was 22 votes short of the two-thirds needed to override a veto.

Supporters of overriding the President's veto argued that thousands of dairy farmers would continue to go bankrupt without adequate government price supports to cushion the price fluctuations experienced by the dairy industry.

Opponents of the override backed up the President's contention that the measure would be too costly to the government and consumers.

— Voting to override the dairy price supports veto: None.

— Not Voting: Hart (D).

Rice Production Act. The Senate passed a bill, 76-12, which would remove limitations on the production of rice and change production from a quota system to a target price system.

Supporters of the bill claimed it would establish the same market-oriented policy for rice that exists for wheat, feed grains and cotton. By removing traditional restrictions on rice production, supporters said, new farmers who wanted to grow rice would be permitted to do so — resulting in a flexible production capacity to meet domestic and world needs. At the same time traditional growers would be protected from financial disaster through a system of target prices and loans.

Opponents argued that the bill would be a disaster for small rice farmers, who would be driven out of business because of the large surpluses generated by the change. Only large corporate growers would benefit, they said. In addition, opponents said the program could be very costly to the government — as much as $168-million a year — and would not reduce retail costs to consumers.

McCarthy's campaign organization, the Committee for a Constitutional Presidency, said, "We feel it best that Mr. Ford withdraw in order to avoid the risk of invalidating our (candidate) petitions."

Andretta Probe Continues

DETROIT (AP) — Jailed New Jersey Teamster Stephen Andretta and a federal grand jury continued their deadly serious game of 1,000-plus questions Wednesday as the probe dragged on into the six-month-old disappearance of ex-union boss James R. Hoffa. The 40-year-old Andretta of Little Ferry, N.J., was before the jury for the eighth day. He is striving to purge himself of a contempt of court sentence imposed Dec. 11 for failure to answer questions.

Four Drug Suspects Will Be Arraigned

CASSOPOLIS — Four Indiana residents arrested Monday on drug sale warrants issued by Cass county officials are scheduled to be arraigned in district court here Wednesday, Feb. 18, on the charges.

The four are Diana Preston, 19, Granger; David McGill, 26, Elkhart; William Sharp, 21, Wakarusa; and Paula Ball, 20, Elkhart.

Miss Preston is charged with delivery of LSD; McGill with delivery of TCP; Sharp with delivery of marijuana; and Miss Ball with delivery of LSD.

The Cass county sheriff's department incorrectly reported Monday night that all four had been charged with delivery of marijuana.

Policeman Changes His Mind

COLOMA — A Coloma city police officer who had submitted a letter of resignation to the Coloma city commission Monday, has decided not to leave the force after all, according to Police Chief Kenneth Unruh.

Unruh said Officer Jerry Crockett, 26, who joined the force in April, 1973, has decided to withdraw his letter of resignation and remain on the force.

The police chief said he has talked with city commission members who have agreed to rescind their Monday action accepting the resignation.

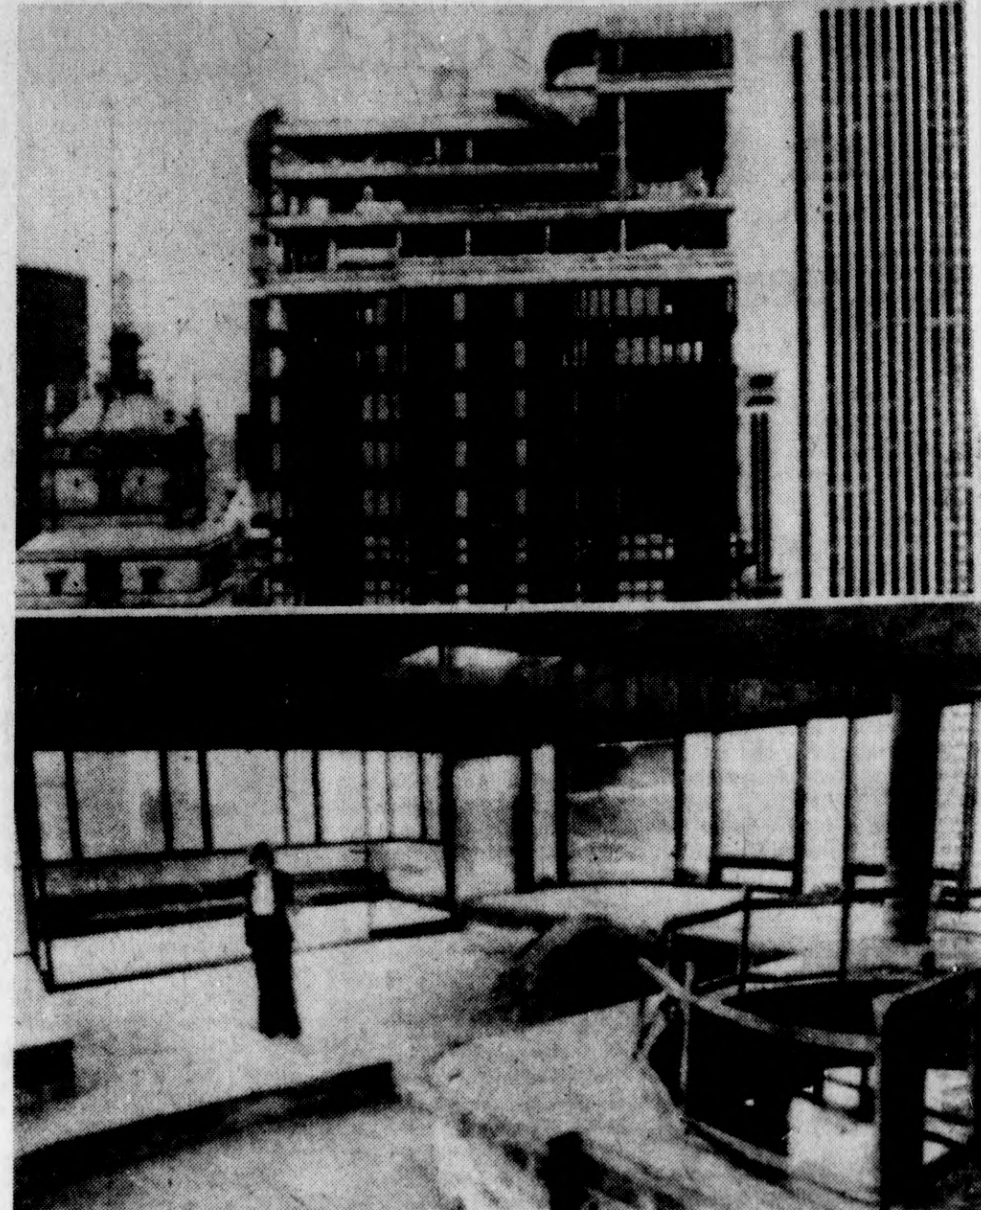

Crockett had originally stated in his resignation letter that he was leaving the force to accept employment in private industry.

Ex-Suitor Takes Eye

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man allegedly took his former girl-friend's glass eye when she couldn't give him more than $6, police said. The man, who was not identified, pried out the $300 glass eye during an alleged extortion attempt, officers said Wednesday. The woman, Felicia Williams, 42, told police that her former boyfriend came to her home and demanded money, beating her when she refused. She gave him $6 but he took her eye and ran, police said.

session, use or nontransfer of less than 100 grams — or 3.3 ounces of marijuana — would have been a $100 fine and possible probation no matter how many times a person was convicted. The House later amended that amount down to about one ounce of marijuana for the lowered penalty.

But on Tuesday it adopted a series of amendments sponsored by Rep. Ernest Nash, R-Dimondale, that impose a penalty of a $100 fine and/or 90 days in jail for possession or use of any amount of marijuana, or nontransfer of less than seven-tenths of an ounce.

The Kok amendments would have put the bill back in a form closer to Bryant's original intent.

"They are a reasonable compromise," Bryant said in supporting them and said he will try to get them approved one more time.

Rep. Stephen Monsma, D-Grand Rapids, also endorsed the amendments and said they "fit the punishment to the nature of the crime."

"I can't conceive of this House telling the public we think the young people should go to jail for possession of marijuana," Kok said. If the legislature does feel all marijuana users should go to jail, he added, "Then we're never going to solve the problem of the hard drug user."

WW II MEMORIALS

To commemorate those who met their deaths in American coastal waters during World War II, the American Battle Monuments Commission erected memorials in New York City and San Francisco. The memorial in New York's Battery Park is inscribed with 4,596 names, the one at the Presidio of San Francisco carries 412 names.

reconsideration of an administrative decision beyond the appeal period provided in the act.

Named defendants besides the state board are Ilene Fox, Jane Cuthbert, John and Doris Handy, Vance and Lillian Ferguson, Paul and Virginia Ohmann, Bernadine Johns, Otis and Julia Joseph, and Margaret Prillwitz, who had appealed the Berrien intermediate board's approval of transfer.

The suit, which is actually a petition for review of administrative agency (the state board) proceedings, contends the reversal by the state board is in excess of the board's authority and in violation of Michigan statutes; prejudiced the petitioners because the state board did not adopt any procedures for a rehearing; was not in accordance with evidence on the record; and was illegal because the board "has no power to rescind its prior order when (certain laws) made the board's order final."

The state board in reversing itself said that as a matter of policy no property transfers can occur when a desegregation case is pending against any district involved in a proposed transfer.

A desegregation suit has been in progress against the Benton Harbor district since 1967. The transfer was held in abeyance by a temporary injunction issued in August, 1974, by Judge Noel Fox in Federal District court in Grand Rapids, who suspended the transfer to maintain the status quo until the desegregation suit was decided.

FTC Charges 'Cheating'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has accused the nation's Big Three auto makers and their consumer credit subsidiaries of cheating buyers whose cars they repossessed. The three separate complaints issued Wednesday each charged "unfair retention of surpluses on resale of repossessed cars and trucks," meaning that the firms pocketed profits that should have gone to the consumer. The complaints, said the FTC, charge that "in a substantial number of instances, the GM, Ford and Chrysler credit subsidiaries and named dealers and other dealerships have failed to identify and disclose to defaulting buyers the existence of surplus monies realized on the sale of repossessed cars and trucks."

CIA Dropping Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new CIA director says he is halting the agency's long-established practice of using some employees of U.S. news organizations as undercover agents overseas. The CIA also said it has "no secret paid or contractual relationship with any American clergyman or missionary" and that "this practice will be continued as a matter of policy." In his first public act since he took over the agency two weeks ago, CIA Director George Bush announced Wednesday that "effective immediately, the CIA will not enter into any paid or contractual relationship with any full-time or part-time news correspondents accredited by any U.S. news service, newspaper, periodical, radio or TV network or station."

Talks Of New Boycott

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Cesar Chavez, angered by growers who succeeded in cutting off money to California's farm labor board, says his United Farm Workers union will "pin the torch to the wall" with a new boycott. The board, which enforced California's five-month-old elections law for farm workers, shut its doors last week because it ran out of money and the state legislature refused to approve more. Chavez said Wednesday that the UFW plans a consumer boycott against Sunmaid raisins, Sunsweet prunes and dried fruit, and eight major grape and tree fruit growers in the Fresno area.

Milliken Names Three Men To Bangor School Board

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer
BANGOR — Gov. William Milliken has named three men to serve temporarily on the Bangor public school board until a March 22 special election.

can be held to fill the vacancies created by the recent recall of five of the board's seven members. Appointed by Gov. Milliken were Donald Freestone, John Lyster and Clarke Dowell. The appointees agreed not to run in the special election, according to the governor's office. The trio was appointed to give the board a quorum until the special election.

Supt. Howard Beyer said the Van Buren county elections scheduling committee approved the March 22 special election date yesterday afternoon. The date had been requested by Mrs. Peggy Phillips and Otto Watkins Jr., the two remaining school board members.

Freestone, 43, route 1, 28th avenue, Bangor, is Arlington township clerk. He is owner of H.W. Freestone company of Bangor, a pickle processing firm. He and his wife, Rose Marie, have two daughters.

Lyster, 53, route 1, 34th avenue, Bangor, is a dairy and grain farmer. He has never served in public office. He and his wife, Theresa, have two known children.

Dowell, 52, 114 Park road, Bangor, is foreman at Adams

Electronics, Bangor. A former member of the Bangor city council, he resides with his wife, Leola.

Five school board members were recalled in a special election Feb. 2, for their failure to support five recommendations of a community blue ribbon fact-finding committee. The recall left only two incumbents on the board.

Recalled were Donald Piper, board president, and Dr. Joseph Cooper, Richard Krogel, Forrest Gough, and Fred Waite.

This morning Tom Betz, secretary of the Bangor recall committee, learned the governor's appointment of Freestone to the interim board as "very improper."

"Mr. Freestone is already an elected official (clerk) of Arlington township and as such, should not serve on two governmental bodies at the same time," he said.

"If this is to be an unbiased board as promised, then State Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor) should inform the governor of this conflict," Betz added.

Betz said Freestone should decline the appointment or tender his resignation before the first interim board meeting.

Ferguson Is Honored By Workers

A surprise retirement dinner honored Ardale W. Ferguson last night at Benton Harbor Holiday Inn. Ferguson is retiring after operating Ferguson Welding Supply company 25 years. He has sold the company in the Pipestone Industrial District to Fred E. Ferris and Kenneth F. Blau of Valparaiso, Ind.

Thirty-four people attended the dinner planned by company employees who presented Ferguson with a plaque. Ferguson was lured to the Holiday Inn by Alty and Mrs. Lester Page on the pretext they were taking him out to dinner.

Betz said if Freestone resigned, there "still would be a functional quorum" on the interim school board with four members, Mrs. Phillips, Watkins, Lyster and Dowell.

Supt. Beyer said nominating petitions for the five board seats must be filed in his office by 4 p.m. Feb. 23. A minimum of 105 signatures of school district residents is required. Petition forms may be obtained at the superintendent's office. District residents have until 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 23, to register to vote with their respective city or township clerk.

Computer Pricing Dealt Blow

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has finally approved a long embattled consumer protection measure which regulates advertising and requires most store items to carry individual prices. The measure, passed 23-12 Wednesday and sent to the House, was attacked by opponents as overly protective and a costly burden on retail stores. They predicted consumer costs would rise as a result.

Passage capped a months-long battle over the measure, which was fiercely opposed by businesses, especially supermarkets and other stores, which want to switch to computer pricing systems.

Many stores wanted to drop individual price markings in favor of a computer code which is read by a scanner at the check-out lane. But the bill would forbid dropping the common price.

Businesses said that would cut by up to one-third the savings they expected to realize from computer pricing.

"We're saying, 'Keep on doing what you've been doing' — put the price on in dollars and cents," said Sen. John Hertel, D-Detroit, sponsor of the bill. He said otherwise consumers could not do comparison shopping and check the accuracy of their bills.

Certain small items not nor-matly priced individually are exempt from the bill, such as gum, candy and hardware items. Also exempt from individual marking are milk, bread, potatoes, automotive products and many other products, and up to 50 other items the retailer chooses.

The other provision of the bill is aimed at eliminating "bait and switch" tactics in which the retailer advertises a sale in order to lure customers to purchase higher-priced items when the tiny number of sale products are sold out.

The bill would require an ad to list the number of items available or the dates of the sale. If only the dates of the sale are listed, the retailer must provide a rain check or item of equal or greater value if a customer finds the sale item sold out.

The Senate adopted an amendment to exempt nationally circulated advertisements, since they are often published months in advance and the sale items don't always get to the store.

Opponents of the bill vehemently objected that it went too far in consumer protection.

"We've crossed the line from protecting the consumers from deceit to providing them a service they may or may not want," said Sen. Richard Allen, R-Alma.

Sen. Donald Bishop, R-Rochester, said, "We're mandating a practice in an industry which cannot take much more mandating. Instead of saving consumers money, you're adding to the cost of the food bill."

REPAIR WATER MAIN: Coloma public works employees Tony Aviles, left, and Gary Fisher, were up to their ankles in mud and water as they worked on broken water main along Church street in Coloma last night. Excavation and repair of water main, between Red Arrow highway and Ryno road, was scheduled to be completed by noon today, according to James Noack, Coloma city public works coordinator. Traffic bound for Ryno road and I-94 had to be detoured during repair work. (Cliff Stevens photo)

SJ Township Tax Penalty Date Nears

Tuesday, Feb. 17, is the last day for payment of St. Joseph township taxes without penalty, Treasurer Isadore DiMaggio announced.

After the 17th, a penalty of 3 per cent will be added on the amount due when paid at the township hall through Feb. 27. After that date taxes will be turned over to the Berrien county treasurer for collection.

Savings Bonds Are Called 'Biggest Ripoff'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Take Stock in America, 200 years at the same location," boasts the government in promoting U.S. savings bonds. "Greatest ripoff in modern history," charges Milton Friedman, a widely known economist.

Buying savings bonds is a way of "life" for millions of Americans. They hold $68 billion worth of them, or about one-fifth of the national debt. Last year, 9.5 million persons paid an average of $33 per month for bonds, through payroll deduction plans at 40,000 businesses.

If the bond is held for five years. A bank savings account pays about 5.5 per cent. A $1,000 savings certificate will pay 7.25 per cent if held four years.

"Businessmen and bankers serve as heads of prominent committees urging people to buy savings bonds for the future," Friedman said in a recent lecture here. "If they tried to sell their own bonds on that basis, the Securities and Exchange Commission would be after them like a shot."

know that anyone who has bought savings bonds in the past 10 years has been taken to the cleaners."

Friedman said that interest on bonds has not kept up with inflation and that the original capital put in them buys less today.

"To add insult to injury, people must pay income taxes on the false interest," he said.

He said savings bonds would be a good investment if the government not only paid interest at maturity, but added, say, a cost-of-living index factor. "That would be an honest issue," he said in a telephone interview from Chicago.

George Stinson, who will attend 30 savings bonds kickoff dinners across the country the next two months, defended the bonds against Friedman's charges. Stinson is the chairman of the board of National Steel.

"From the standpoint of the country and the economy, it's important that government have this means of savings. They give the government a good stable base to build on and also provide a means of reaching the individual saver," he said.

A Pittsburgh bond counselor said, "In terms of yield, savings bonds don't offer enough. You can't pledge them for loans or as collateral. But they're one of the safest things on the market because the government backs it. I buy a $100 bond a month myself."

APPEALS COURT MAY GET ISSUE

'Red Squad' File Decision Due Today

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The attorney general could decide today what to do about two conflicting court orders on destruction of 50,000 State Police "Red Squad" files.

A spokesman in the attorney general's office said a decision might be made today. Options mentioned in the past include making one of the two judges to amend his order to end the contradiction, or perhaps asking the state appeals court to clarify the situation.

A June 1975 protective order issued by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge James Montante ordered the state not to destroy any of the 50,000 files. Montante made that ruling in a class action suit filed by 14 named plaintiffs on behalf of all people illegally investigated by the unit.

But last month Ingham Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brown in a separate case ordered the State Police to destroy all the files except the 14 files belonging to the Wayne County plaintiffs.

He made that ruling on a suit filed by the Human Rights Party.

Brown's ruling ordered the files held for 60 days to give anyone who thinks he has a file time to petition the court to preserve it. The end of the 60 days is March 16 when the files are to be destroyed under Brown's supervision.

The files consist of intelligence or surveillance collected since the State Police Subversive Activities Unit was created in the 1950s during the McCarthy anti-Communist scare. Because the unit was formed to track anyone advocating political or industrial reform through terrorism, the unit was nicknamed the "Red Squad."

Attorneys in the Wayne County suit have said they are watching carefully to see what the State Police, who are represented by the Attorney General, decide to do.

If they destroy the files and violate Montante's order, Atty. Richard Sobie has said, "We'll move to find them in contempt of (Montante's) court."

Brown is reviewing petitions from people who want their files preserved. Whether they can see their files however has not been decided, he has said, because many files contain references to informants and other people whose privacy might be violated.

Brown has said Montante's order "covers certain individuals on whom information was gathered in an illegal manner. I don't know who these persons are. The only thing I can suggest is if they feel they are named, submit a petition. I can't go through all these files and determine who falls within Montante's order."

Hit Man Killed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The quiet but uneasy life of a "known Mafia killer" living under a new identity granted by a government grateful for his testimony, has been cut short in a gangland-style shotgun slaying. Joe "The Baron" Barboza, 42, was killed by a burst of shotgun blasts fired from a passing white van Wednesday.

Savings Bonds Are Called 'Biggest Ripoff'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Take Stock in America, 200 years at the same location," boasts the government in promoting U.S. savings bonds. "Greatest ripoff in modern history," charges Milton Friedman, a widely known economist.

Buying savings bonds is a way of life for millions of Americans. They hold $68 billion worth of them, or about one-fifth of the national debt. Last year, 9.5 million persons paid an average of $33 per month for bonds through payroll deduction plans at 40,000 businesses.

Friedman, a University of Chicago professor, says the interest is consistently eaten up by inflation caused by the same government which pushes bond sales.

Current interest is 6 per cent if the bond is held for five years. A bank savings account pays about 5.5 per cent. A $1,000 savings certificate will pay 7.25 per cent if held four years.

"Businessmen and bankers serve as heads of prominent committees urging people to buy savings bonds for the future," Friedman said in a recent lecture here. "If they tried to sell their own bonds on that basis, the Securities and Exchange Commission would be after them like a shot."

Woman Marshal Guarding Patty Likes Her Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Janet Jimenez' name may not be a household word, but her picture has been seen by millions around the world. She is the brown-haired, brown-eyed, deputy U.S. marshal who has custody of Patricia Hearst, whenever the newspaper heiress is away from her jail cell or in federal court for her bank robbery trial.

Miss Jimenez, 23, is the only bilingual female marshal in the service and one of about 20 women marshals in the nation. She will not talk about Miss Hearst.

Though other marshals are always around Miss Hearst, Miss Jimenez is the one constantly within arm's reach of her.

The deputy federal marshal exudes enthusiasm about her work.

The publicity helps to get the word to other women that there is a place for them in the U.S. marshal's office and, believe it or not, it has brought me closer to my family, she says. Her mother lives in Van Nuys, Calif., and she has five sisters and one brother. Her father is dead.

My parents thought I should have stayed at home and, like all Mexican girls, be married by this time, Miss Jimenez says.

They thought I had wasted time going to school. But now they are aware of what I do and know it was not all wasted. They know I feel like I am doing something worthwhile.

Miss Jimenez received a bachelor's degree in Spanish from San Diego State University in 1974.

My race has people handicapped because of the lack of interpreters and that's one of the main reasons I learned Spanish in school, she says. After graduation she worked as a correctional officer at the Federal Metropolitan Correction Center in San Diego, applied in February 1975 to the U.S. marshal's office and was accepted Sept. 29 — 11 days after Miss Hearst was captured in San Francisco.

She was assigned to San Francisco, which had no female marshals. San Diego had two.

After undergoing two and a half months of training at Glenwood, Ga., she began active duty Dec. 18.

And that landed her in the midst of the Hearst pretrial activities.

Some random comments: "I've no boy friends... I've had only three weekends off since I started work... I've been to Denver, Idaho, Utah, Reno and Los Angeles, escorting prisoners... I've received some mail, but no proposals... I'm definitely not a woman libber... And I can't lie. Sometimes I do get bored in court, but it's fascinating, too."

AFTER RULING: Patricia Hearst accompanied by U.S. Marshal Janet Jimenez leaves San Francisco's Federal building Wednesday afternoon after hearing in court that judge will allow her taped admission of bank robbery into evidence and additional testimony from Los Angeles events. (AP Wirephoto)

'Tania' Tape Will Be State's Last Big Item In Hearst Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The prosecution in Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery with most of its big guns already fired, could rest its case by the end of the week.

Still to come is the playing of a taped communicate sent from the underground in which Miss Hearst said she willingly joined her terrorist kidnappers in the April 15, 1974, bank robbery.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said after Wednesday's court session that he has, in addition to playing the tape, "five or six more witnesses" to call.

They will testify on technical matters, detailing such things as the seizure of evidence and Miss Hearst's arrest last Sept. 18, he said.

Chief defense counsel F. Lee

Bailey fought for two days at a special hearing outside the presence of the jury to suppress the taped communicate and to prohibit testimony about a shooting and kidnapping incident in Los Angeles in which Miss Hearst also is charged.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter ruled that the government could use the tape and the testimony of a Los Angeles teenager who said the newspaper heiress and two others held him hostage overnight in May 1974.

Carter's ruling all but assured that the defendant will take the stand in her own defense and recount for the jury her version of life with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnappers.

Bailey acknowledged outside court that introduction of the tape would "sharply increase" the likelihood that he will ask Miss Hearst to repeat for the jury the story she told to the judge — and the world — on Tuesday.

She testified that she lived in constant fear of being killed by the S.L.A. if she did not cooperate from the time she was kidnapped on Feb. 4, 1974, until shortly after her capture in San Francisco.

Browning called her story a lie and urged the judge to admit the tape and the evidence of her activities in Los Angeles.

"Everything the court has heard from Miss Hearst of her coercion in a year and a half is not true," he said.

"Boy, am I glad that January's over!! I got my biggest gas bill ever! So...I called M.G.U. and got the cold, hard facts."

FACT: IT WAS ABOUT 25% COLDER THIS JANUARY THAN LAST YEAR

FACT: THE COST OF GAS FROM GAS SUPPLIERS HAS INCREASED. THIS INCREASE IS SHOWN ON THE BOTTOM OF THE GAS BILL AS "PURCHASE GAS ADJUSTMENT"

Full-scale replicas of the Liberty Bell, presented to each state in 1950 to promote a U.S. Savings Bond drive, are being used, as best they can, for a new cause — America's 200th birthday.

Over the years, the bells had been forgotten. Some were misplaced.

Now, with the country celebrating the Bicentennial, they are being liberated from warehouses and state house bells in distress. The gong lovers hope to marshal the replicas for a five-minute unison chiming on Independence Day.

Not only were some of the bells misplaced over the years (South Carolina's was found last summer in the tunnels of the state house), but some were appropriated.

Illinois officials began a search for their bell after overhearing the brass from other states discussing the replicas at a recent conference.

"We began asking around and finally got a tip from someone that it was out at the fire station" at the fairgrounds north of Springfield, explains Norbert Johnson, the man charged with the bell's restoration.

Last spring, Illinois Secretary of State Michael Howlett had the bell placed on a flatbed trailer. Since July 31 it's traveled more than 10,000 miles to 150 Illinois communities to be viewed at schools, shopping centers and town squares to kindle Bicentennial spirit.

Other states also are taking their bells to meet the people. Nebraska's bell, hitched to a National Guard truck, is expected to have visited 300 communities by year's end. Kentucky's was retrieved from a warehouse last year and likewise put on tour until year's end.

Unlike the real McCoy, the replicas are not cracked. Cast in Annecy, France, at a cost of approximately $2,200 each, they weigh about 2,000 pounds apiece.

The U.S. Treasury Department presented the bells to each state for the U.S. Savings Bond Independence Day Drive in 1950, but did not pay for them. Six copper companies did.

The real bell, also weighing about 2,000 pounds, is now housed in a modern viewing pavilion across from Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

It hasn't rung since 1846, when its famous crack grew while the bell was pealing on George Washington's birthday. A powerful clap it years earlier at the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall first split the shell.

The replica bells were built to toll and in some states have been tolling for years.

"If there's a reason for it we let anybody ring it," says Floyd Williams, a state buildings official in Arizona. "It almost knocks the dust off the capitol."

Missouri, perhaps, has had the biggest flap over a replica bell, and that fuss concerned the bell's dedication at a new location.

The bell sat in a corner of the capitol in Jefferson City until 1968. That fall it was moved outside to a brass and red pagoda-like structure overlooking the Missouri River.

Many citizens felt the bell's new home was in appalling contrast to the nearby white stone capitol, prompting a Kansas City newspaper to observe, "The dedication of the Liberty Bell reminded viewers of their freedom to disagree."

Although there were only 48 states when the replicas were delivered, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Hawaii and Alaska also got bells. So did the District of Columbia.

Hawaii's probably has logged more miles than the rest.

After reception on July 4, 1950, it was taken by ship to each of the Hawaiian islands for display in public schools.

In 1956, the bell was shipped to the West Coast for a ceremonial journey to Washington. Along the way it was "rung for liberty" to promote Hawaii's desire for statehood, realized three years later.

After the trip to the nation's capital, 8,000 miles away, the bell was returned to Honolulu and put on display in the state office building. Last fall, it was moved to a courtyard in front of the federal building in downtown Honolulu.

Some of the bells have needed repair or have been defaced over the years.

Several yokes rotted away and had to be replaced. Kansas' bell bears signatures, carved on the bell's interior, by visitors. In Utah, placard-happy protesters occasionally find the bell a convenient place to advertise a cause.

It rests in a Bicentennial garden at the state fairgrounds in Albuquerque, surrounded by straw flowers, black-eyed Susans, and 48 other plant varieties that were popular 200 years ago. Pennsylvania has two Liberty Bells, the real one and the 1860 replica, which is on display at a church in Allentown.

The real one also spent some time in the church. It was during the Revolutionary War. It was hidden there after it became obvious that Redcoats invading Philadelphia would melt down the bell for cannon balls.

basements across the land and used again, although some of the 25-year-old replicas have not held up as well as their great-great-granddaddy in Philadelphia.

Oregonians last July 4 rang their bell with a hammer. The clapper, stowed in a storeroom some years back by a forgetful soul, couldn't be located.

Today, the clapper is back in place. And this year on the Fourth, Oregon's bell-ringing will be more traditional.

Georgia's bell has languished on a concrete slab in a back corner of the state capitol since 1950, but there's a move afoot to hoist it to a park across the street in time for July 4.

The restoration is part of a national campaign by the American Bell Association, people interested in restoring

River Valley Fluoride Deadline Is March 8

THREE OAKS — Parents of children in the River Valley school district have until March 8 to enroll the children in this summer's fluoride dental treatment program, according to Mrs. Ivan Hooper, chairman of the River Valley Parent-Teacher association's topical fluoride committee. Eligible are three- and four-year-old preschoolers, second, fifth, and eighth graders registered prior to the deadline, she said. There is a $4 fee for the anti-cavity treatments.

Gill Net Fishermen Protest Plan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State natural resource officials have told lawmakers they are receiving numerous complaints about plans to divide $1.5 million among 88 gill net fishermen.

The complaints are coming from the fishermen, who are expected to be out of the gill net business by this summer, when a ban on gill nets passed in 1974 may take effect.

Some $1.5 million was appropriated last year for the fishermen.

But many fishermen have criticized the formula used to apportion the money and say they will challenge the formula through the state's hearing process and in court.

The fishermen, who oppose the gill net ban generally, hope to stall its enforcement by challenging provisions of the formula in court.

"As far as compensation is concerned, so far we're at a stalemate," said John Scott, Great Lakes fisheries expert for the state Department of Natural Resources. He and department director Howard Tanner spoke to members of the House Conservation Committee Wednesday.

The gill net used in many areas of the Great Lakes to catch chub, herring and whitefish are not selective and also catch and kill other fish species, including lake trout. An emergency order from Gov. William Milliken last summer will end most chub fishing when the season begins this spring, but the ban on gill net fishing for whitefish and other species is not yet being enforced, said Jack Bails, Tanner's executive assistant.

DNR officials say they are reluctant to enforce the ban until the fishermen can get their parts of $1.5 million, but that the ban may have to be enforced this summer.

A new stock of lake trout was planted last spring in Lake Michigan, with the expectation the gill net ban would be effective this summer, said Bails. If it is not, the new fish will be destroyed, he said.

Officials are waiting for advice from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley on whether a new law is needed specifying the formula for distribution of the money. Scott told the House conservation committee he expects many of the commercial fishermen affected by the ban to seek a formal hearing on how much they should get, then challenge unfavorable hearing decisions in court.

"All we need is a document that is legally defensible and we're ready to go," he said.

But a spokesman for the Michigan Fish Producers Association said, "We don't believe the appropriation of $1.5 million will ever see its way to the fishermen."

The formula being considered by the DNR would compensate fishermen on the basis of the value of the 1971, 1972 and 1973 catches using the gill nets. It would not reimburse them for gear used in gill net fishing.

Backers of the tougher version said many consumers won't know of the new law, and others will be reluctant to ask for a nonsmoking area.

"This leaves it up to an individual patron to be knowledgeable of the law," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Detroit. "We're placing the obligation for enforcement on the patron."

"The monkey should be on the back of the air polluter," said Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor. "The person should have to ask, 'Where is the smoking section?'"

Weakened Smoke Bill Approved

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Patrons would be able to request nonsmoking areas in Michigan restaurants under legislation approved by the Senate on Wednesday.

The bill, passed 29-8 and returned to the House for discussion of Senate changes, was weakened from its House form. And its backers in the Senate said they were disappointed it wasn't tougher.

An passed by the House, the bill would have required restaurants to designate nonsmoking areas and post signs pointing them out. But the Senate version only requires such nonsmoking areas be designated after a patron requests it.

Backers of the tougher version said many consumers won't know of the new law, and others will be reluctant to ask for a nonsmoking area.

"The monkey should be on the back of the air polluter," said Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor. "The person should have to ask, 'Where is the smoking section?'"

Richard Kasischke, a St. Joseph native who retired recently as a foreign correspondent for the Associated Press, has suffered a disabling stroke, according to word received here.

He suffered the stroke in England, where he is staying with a son-in-law and daughter.

Kasischke, 64, retired late last year after 36 years with the Associated Press, much of that time overseas in Europe and Africa. He joined the worldwide new-gathering organization in 1938, after having worked six years on the old Herald Press in St. Joseph.

His brother, Paul Kasischke, now wintering in Florida, told friends here that the stroke had affected Kasischke's right arm and speech.

Tourism Keeps Many Employed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's tourist industry employs 16 per cent of the state's work force, says Gov. William Milliken.

In remarks prepared for delivery at the third annual Ambassador of Tourism Award Dinner, the governor said the state's 72,000 tourist-related businesses employ about 536,000 persons and help the state cope with its unemployment problem.

SOLAR SITE

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County is vying to be the site of a solar energy research institute that could create 1,500 jobs, say officials of the Michigan Energy and Resource Research Administration.

Gill Net Fishermen Protest Plan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State natural resource officials have told lawmakers they are receiving numerous complaints about plans to divide $1.5 million among 88 gill net fishermen.

The complaints are coming from the fishermen, who are expected to be out of the gill net business by this summer, when a ban on gill nets passed in 1974 may take effect.

Some $1.5 million was appropriated last year for the fishermen.

But many fishermen have criticized the formula used to apportion the money and say they will challenge the formula through the state's hearing process and in court.

The fishermen, who oppose the gill net ban generally, hope to stall its enforcement by challenging provisions of the formula in court.

"As far as compensation is concerned, so far we're at a stalemate," said John Scott, Great Lakes fisheries expert for the state Department of Natural Resources. He and department director Howard Tanner spoke to members of the House Conservation Committee Wednesday.

The gill nets used in many areas of the Great Lakes to catch chubs, herring and whitefish are not selective and also catch and kill other fish species, including lake trout.

An emergency order from Gov. William Milliken last summer will end most chub fishing when the season begins this spring, but the ban on gill net fishing for whitefish and other species is not yet being enforced, said Jack Bails, Tanner's executive assistant.

DNR officials say they are reluctant to enforce the ban until the fishermen can get their parts of $1.5 million, but that the ban may have to be enforced this summer.

A new stock of lake trout was planted last spring in Lake Michigan, with the expectation the gill net ban would be effective this summer, said Bails. If it is not, the new fish will be destroyed, he said.

Officials are waiting for advice from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley on whether a new law is needed specifying the formula for distribution of the money.

Scott told the House conservation committee he expects many of the commercial fishermen affected by the ban to seek a formal hearing on how much they should get, then challenge unfavorable hearing decisions in court.

"All we need is a document that is legally defensible and we're ready to go," he said.

But a spokesman for the Michigan Fish Producers Association said, "We don't believe the appropriation of $1.5 million will ever see its way to the fishermen."

The formula being considered by the DNR would compensate fishermen on the basis of the value of the 1971, 1972 and 1973 catches using the gill nets. It would not reimburse them for gear used in gill net fishing.

Weakened Smoke Bill Approved

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Patrons would be able to request nonsmoking areas in Michigan restaurants under legislation approved by the Senate on Wednesday.

The bill, passed 29-6 and returned to the House for discussion of Senate changes, was weakened from its House form. And its backers in the Senate said they were disappointed it wasn't tougher.

As passed by the House, the bill would have required restaurants to designate nonsmoking areas and post signs pointing them out. But the Senate version only requires such nonsmoking areas be designated after a patron requests it.

Backers of the tougher version said many consumers won't know of the new law, and others will be reluctant to ask for a nonsmoking area.

"This leaves it up to an individual patron to be knowledgeable of the law," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Detroit. "We're placing the obligation for enforcement on the patron."

Deductible Items Useful

By SAMUEL E. VITALE
Reconstructing evidence of all the deductible expenses incurred during the year can be the most time-consuming part of income tax preparation, but it's unavoidable — unless you dent care; alimony; unreimbursed business expenses. Deductible medical and dental expenses include more than doctor, dentist and hospital bills. They also take in prosthetic devices such as eyeglasses.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the third in a series of articles on 1975 income tax preparation. The author is president of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Use the standard deduction of 16 per cent of adjusted gross income up to $2,300.

And even if you decide to go with the standard deduction, you will probably have to add up all of your available deductions anyway — to find out which method of filing is more profitable.

That is why it's wise to make a thorough search of your records first.

Medical and dental; taxes paid; contributions; interest paid; casualty or theft losses; child care and disabled depen-dentures and hearing aids; special equipment such as wheelchairs; medical travel; special foods that may be required; and many other costs. Put aside all receipts or canceled checks that may relate to health care and thus may be medical deductions, then refer to the tax instruction booklet or ask your tax preparer about them.

Drugs and medicines are deductible only to the extent that they exceed one per cent of adjusted gross income. After subtracting the one per cent, add drug and medicine costs to other medical bills, which then are subject to another exclusion of three per cent of adjusted gross income. The only health expense not subject to the three per cent exclusion is one-half of medical insurance premiums, up to $150.

Deductions of taxes are limited to those paid to local, state and foreign governments, and include taxes on income, real estate, personal property, sales and gasoline. Even if you expect a refund of any of these taxes later, take the tax as a deduction in the year paid and include it in income when you get the refund.

Do not deduct taxes paid to the federal government, custom duties, motor vehicle or drivers' license fees or taxes on alcohol or tobacco. Also, leave out assessments for local improvements and transfer taxes on the sale of your homes. They are not deductible.

Contributions are deductible only if made to qualified organizations, of which Internal Revenue maintains a current list in all its offices.

If you claim a deduction for a non-cash contribution worth more than $300, you must attach a statement to your return describing the item, telling how you acquired it, stating the fair market value and the terms under which you donated it, and giving certain other information.

When computing the deduction for interest you have paid, do not overlook the interest charged on credit card accounts and time payment plans, or the "points" paid when buying a house. Also include any penalty imposed for prepayment of a mortgage. Interest charged for an income tax deficiency is another deductible item.

Personal property casualty losses — from storms, fires, floods, etc. — and those caused by theft, are deductible only to the extent that they exceed insurance compensation plus $100 per loss.

The amount of loss can be figured either as the difference in value of the property before and after the event, or as the cost of restoring it to its previous condition. If the loss was caused by theft, be able to show that the item was not lost or misplaced by obtaining a theft report from the police department.

To qualify for the maximum deduction of up to $400 a month for child-care or dependent-care costs, you must have incurred those costs so that you could hold a full-time job. Payments for the care of a child under 13 or an invalid dependent or spouse must have gone to someone other than a relative. If your income plus that of your spouse exceeded $18,000, part of the deduction is lost. And when joint income reaches $27,000, it is entirely lost. (If you are in the over-$18,000 category — or could be if you were to take a job — look into the new more generous provisions of the law for 1976.) Use IRS form 2441.

Alimony is a tax deduction to the payer and taxable income to the receiver. Child support is neither. If, after a divorce becomes final, the payer of alimony decides to be more generous, increases not ordered by the court are not deductible.

Major deductions for an employee's job-related expenses for travel, transportation, gifts and entertainment are taken as adjustments to income.

But costs of many other income-producing activities can be claimed as ordinary deductions. For example: Employment agency fees and other job-seeking costs; now deductible even if they fail to produce a new job. Dues to unions or professional societies. Books, subscriptions, tools and uniforms needed to perform work or to supervise investments. Safe deposit box rental for retention of securities, etc. Fees of tax and other financial advisers.

As mentioned earlier, if a document points to even the possibility of a deduction, refer it to your professional tax adviser.

Nuclear Site Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials estimate it may cost $200 million to strengthen protection of U.S. nuclear weapons sites around the world against possible raids by terrorists. The storage sites, containing thousands of nuclear warheads, will be converted into virtual fortresses. Officials hope much of the cost will be borne by member nations of NATO because many of the sites are located in Western Europe for nuclear defense of that area. The Pentagon's concern about the security of its nuclear weapons storage sites was triggered by increasing terrorism in recent years.

Fabulous Estate A Millstone For U.S. Park Service

By DAVID POWELL
Associated Press Writer
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The federal government has a problem on its hands in this lush, subtropical city: what do you do with a princely estate that's costing a king's ransom to maintain? Mar-A-Lago, the opulent estate of the late cereal heiress Marjorie Merivale Post, is bordering the National Park Service with its $250,000 annual maintenance needs — about $44,000 of which comes from public moneys — while serving no useful purpose.

The Park Service wants Congress to authorize a return of the estate's title to the Post Foundation. Local officials, one of whom says local governments lose $64,000 a year because the estate is tax exempt, covet the property taxes — Mar-A-Lago would provide if it fell back into private hands.

In Congress, some have suggested that some use should be found, but no one has ventured a specific use. So the estate, considered by many the choicest in this mansion-studded area, remains boarded up.

Mar-A-Lago's 115-room villa, guarded by a 75-foot tower, cost $8 million to build in 1927, and for many years after served as a winter home for the rich and powerful.

And the mainland to insure that it would withstand the worst hurricanes.

Stone was imported from Italy, and one authority said the 36,000 Spanish Moorish tiles used generously inside and out were unrivaled anywhere except the Alcazar palace in Spain.

The mansion is set on 17 acres of lush palm-shaded property. On one side lies Lake Worth, the 35-mile-long lagoon separating Palm Beach from the mainland. On the other, a tunnel burrows beneath a highway to a private beach, replete with cabana and swimming pool.

In between are guest lodgings, staff quarters, four greenhouses, a nine-hole golf course, 50,000 shrubs and 2,500 trees.

Key congressmen are reluctant to turn over a public site to a private group — even if the government is not using the facility.

"It's an unusual situation," said an aide to Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., who introduced a companion measure to a Park Service bill.

Both measures languish in a House subcommittee, and a Park Service team will be sent here for more study before the panel acts, the Rogers aide said. Mrs. Post donated the property to the government when she died in 1973, a year after it was designated a National Historic Site.

Her will stipulated that the only use to which Mar-A-Lago could be put was as a retreat for presidents or foreign dignitaries, and it set up a trust fund of 100,000 shares of General Foods stock to pay maintenance.

But the Secret Service and the State Department have decided the estate is too large for adequate security, and the Park Service says the trust fund is inadequate.

Aside from the federal dollars spent, Palm Beach Town Manager George Frost said his governmental agency "has to provide police, fire and garbage services that are all loads on the community."

Officials claim the General Foods trust last year ran $44,000 short of covering maintenance costs. In addition, Frost estimates that the estate's tax-exempt status is costing the town $20,000 in property taxes, the county $18,000 and the board of public instruction $28,000 in 1976.

Frost and other officials fear the estate could be turned into a public attraction that would draw gawkers, crowding area roads.

"If it went back into private hands, it would almost assure that it won't become a museum or place for public viewing, creating traffic jams," he said. "This estate is on a two-lane highway."

Local officials went to Washington last month to check on the Park Service and Rogers bills.

Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., who wrote the law authorizing the government to accept the estate in the first place, wrote to Rogers:

"Frankly, I hope that you understand that it would be a very unusual situation for the Congress to deauthorize, in effect, a unit of the National Park System. "It would be my hope that this outstanding property could still become a useful public facility."

Henry A. Dudley, the Washington lawyer who administers the Post Foundation, could not be reached for comment.

The Rogers aide could not say when the subcommittee might take action on the proposals.

Pancake Breakfast Slated At Hartford

HARTFORD — Hartford Athletic Boosters will hold a pancake breakfast Sunday, Feb. 15, from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Hartford American Legion, post, Red Arrow highway. Mrs. C.F. Flowers, publicity chairman for the group, said proceeds from the breakfast will be used to fund various Booster activities.

Prices for the breakfast are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

BARODA TOWNSHIP

Board Reschedules Monthly Meeting

BARODA — The monthly meeting of the Baroda township board has been rescheduled from Monday, Feb. 16, to Thursday Feb. 19, according to Emil Nitz, township clerk. Nitz said the meeting was postponed to allow Supervisor Orland Mead to attend an assessor's class at Lake Michigan college on Monday.

Nitz also noted that Treasurer Donald Gast will be at the Baroda fire station Saturday, Feb. 14, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. to collect property taxes and issue dog licenses for 1976. A veterinarian will be available to give rabies immunizations.

New Troy Musicians 'Excellent'

NEW TROY — Eleven student musicians in the New Troy middle school band received ratings of excellent for solo performances during a recent festival sponsored by the Southwestern Michigan Band and Orchestra association at Lake Michigan college, Benton Harbor.

School officials said the eleven students were Tony Muranto, Diane Conley, Sherry Mahley, Lynette Talay, Laurie Mitchell, Danny Mitchell, Julie Backus, Elaine Miller, Sue Vance, Sherry Sitter and Sherry Smith.

The students were evaluated on tone, intonation, rhythm, technique and interpretation.

Well, it was too good to last, but Pat Moynihan's performance as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations will be celebrated in the memory of living generations. Indeed, I'm glad he quit when he did; had he remained in position for, say, another couple of years, he would surely have been pecked to death by bureaucratic ducks.

As I noted here the first time he had a head-on collision with Chairman Kissinger, Moynihan is no man to play games with.

In retrospect the Kissinger-Moynihan confrontation was in the cards.

From the outset, President Ford has been overhauled in the area of foreign policy by Kissinger. He made an effort to escape from the Chairman's shadow by moving him out of the White House, but public opinion polls consistently indicate that Kissinger has a far higher reputation for effectiveness than his boss.

Now I have a sneaking suspicion that the President may have turned to Moynihan and unleashed him at the U.N. to create a counterweight to the Secretary of State. If so, he chose wisely.

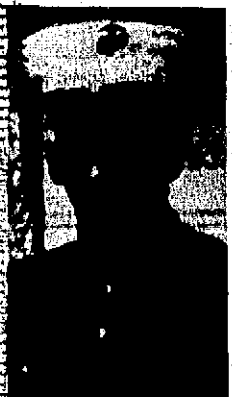

No one who knows Chairman Kissinger has ever accused him of an ego deficiency. Thus it does not take much divination to imagine the Great Henry going up in smoke as Pat Moynihan stole the public show. Indeed, the Secretary's fist assault on Pat suggested he had blown his cool: his fingerprints were all over the dagger. Moynihan saw the bet and raised; President Ford backed him, and there was the famous summit at the White House.

Then Kissinger retired to his tent. No fool, he soon realized that an open fight with Moynihan was a loser, so he organized the bureaucratic equivalent of the death of a thousand cuts.

I can visualize the operation. A conversation on "deep background" with a columnist that begins, "Of course, nothing I say is intended to criticize my dear friend, Pat, but..." A few words here and there in the Department and then leaks from "informed State Department sources" that Moynihan is a terrible administrator. And so it goes — you can work out the scenario for yourselves.

Fabulous Estate A Millstone For U.S. Park Service

By DAVID POWELL
Associated Press Writer
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The federal government has a problem on its hands in this posh, subtropical city: what do you do with a princely estate that's costing a king's ransom to maintain?

Mar-A-Lago, the opulent estate of the late cereal heiress Marjorie Merriweather Post, is burdening the National Park Service with its $250,000 annual maintenance needs — about $44,000 of which comes from public monies — while serving no useful purpose.

The Park Service wants Congress to authorize a return of the estate's title to the Post Foundation. Local officials, one of whom says local governments lose $84,000 a year because the estate is tax exempt, covet the property taxes Mar-A-Lago would provide if it fell back into private hands.

In Congress, some have suggested that some use should be found, but no one has ventured a specific use. So the estate, considered by many the choicest in this mansion-studded area, remains boarded up.

Mar-A-Lago's 115-room villa, guarded by a 75-foot tower, cost $8 million to build in 1927, and for many years after served as a winter mecca for the rich and powerful.

Mrs. Post had spent months crawling through swamps and underbrush on what was then a deserted island to find the ideal site for her mansion. She decided on a cut of land anchored to a coral reef between the island and the mainland to insure that it would withstand the worst hurricanes.

Stone was imported from Italy, and one authority said the 36,000 Spanish Moorsque tiles used generously inside and out were unrivaled anywhere except the Alcazar palace in Spain.

The mansion is set on 17 acres of lush palm-shaded property. On one side lies Lake Worth, the 35-mile-long lagoon separating Palm Beach from the mainland. On the other, a tunnel burrows beneath a highway to a private beach, replete with cabana and swimming pool.

In between are guest lodgings: staff quarters, four greenhouses, a nine-hole golf course, 50,000 shrubs and 2,500 trees.

Key congressmen are reluctant to turn over a public site to a private group — even if the government is not using the facility.

"It's an unusual situation," said an aide to Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., who introduced a companion measure to a Park Service bill.

Both measures languish in a House subcommittee, and a Park Service team will be sent here for more study before the panel acts, the Rogers aide said.

Mrs. Post deeded the property to the government when she died in 1973, a year after it was designated a National Historic Site.

Her will stipulated that the only use to which Mar-A-Lago could be put was as a retreat for presidents or foreign dignitaries, and it set up a trust fund of 100,000 shares of General Foods stock to pay maintenance.

Frost and other officials fear the estate could be turned into a public attraction that would draw gawkers, crowding area roads.

'Sara' May Pave Way For Return Of Westerns

By JAY SHARBUITT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Tired of situation comedies and cops "in rubbery on TV? Stand by. The networks, in a burst of imagination, may give viewers a new dramatic form next season — the Western.

Next September, there conceivably could be as many as eight Old West series offered by the program powers out here in the Old East — two by CBS and three each by NBC and ABC.

That's way below the halcyon days of 1959, when 32 Westerns were around, but blank cartridges cost considerably less then.

Some folks thought the Old West died for good last season when CBS cleared the air of "Gunsmoke" after 26 years. They forgot that TV executives occasionally take a drug called Nostalgia.

ABC took it in September with "Barbary Coast," a San Francisco Western, but the show was a downer and has died. Still, CBS is trying it this Friday with a new series called "Sara."

The show is an 1870s Western about an Eastern schoolmarm teaching in Colorado. If she chalks up good Nielsen figures, she'll probably be at the blackboard when the class of 1876-77 opens.

Another next-season possibility, now in the CBS mulling mill, is a Western called "Royce." CBS says it's about a gunslinger named Royce who befriends a young woman with two kids.

She and the kids are on the road, having been deserted by her gambler husband (let's hope the husband isn't named Royce. It could cause a series called "The Royce-Royce Road Runners" or worse).

If that doesn't happen, there'll still be a lot of ramblers on the road if four other Old West projects become series next season.

James Arness, late of Dodge City, may be on the path as Zeb Macahan, a mountain man helping his brother's family move West in an ABC series called "How the West Was Won." Viewers got a taste of it last month when ABC aired the series' pilot, "The Macahans."

If the Macahans get bogged down on the Oregon Trail, they may be able to flag down Rod Taylor, he might be out there in an NBC Western series called "The Oregon Trail."

And if both parties need fresh horses, they might be able to do business with Don Meredith, who may show up in another NBC road Western called "Banjo Hackett," about a horse trader and his orphaned nephew. Then they could join "The Quest," a Western NBC says is about a search by two brothers for a sister the Indians have kidnapped.

If everyone finds the road tiring, they could stop at the home of "The Young Pioneers," which ABC says is a possible series about two newlywed teenagers in the Dakota Territory of the 1870s.

There, they could brush off the trail dust, turn on the TV set and watch "Nunakidaga," which will be about a Plains Indian family in the early 1800s, if ABC puts it in its 1976-77 schedule.

Granted, none of this may happen. But it's unlikely. Viewers, particularly Zane Grey fans, are demanding relief from this season's glut of sit-com and crime shows.

And a few sugarcane sagas may stop them from pointing at this season and grinning. "This is how the West was won."

State Troopers Seeking Donations Of Police Dogs

EAST LANSING — Michigan state police are seeking donations of German-Shepherd dogs to be trained for use as trackers, according to Col. George Halverson, the state police director. The male dogs must be purebreds, from nine to 16 months old and have no noticeable scars or odd or unusual markings, he said. Dogs accepted by the department are sent through a 12-week training course for animals and trooper-handlers for possible assignment to one of 19 posts that have tracking teams. Posts at Paw Paw and Benton Harbor are among the 19 that presently have tracking teams.

IOWA

Nature Made It

Nation's Bread Basket

By DALE KUETER

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (NEA) — Long before the New World was discovered, nature was in the process of creating Iowa's destiny.

Winds from the western plains swept up rich, black loam and deposited it on land leveled during the ice age, assuring the standpoint of agriculture, but investors in recent years have found it to be among the best inflation hedges. Some farmland is now selling for as much as $2,000 an acre.

More Iowans live in cities and towns than on farms but they are still very rural-oriented. Even though the most sophisticated space communications equipment is made in Cedar Rapids, and insurance is the main industry of Des Moines, Iowa's economy is rooted in agriculture.

It is also a leader in production of corn and soybeans. Cedar Rapids alone has five major grain processors. Noted for its beef and hog production, Iowa is rapidly becoming the center of the packaging industry.

Dubuque, Waterloo, Ottumwa and Davenport are major producers of farm implements. Agriculture and farm connected industry has kept Iowa's unemployment low.

"A Place to Grow" is Iowa's motto, and even the city folk are taking to the soil. Gardens are sprouting up in record numbers, and some cities are rearing plots in parks.

This agrarian heritage has been a strong influence on the state's character. Iowans are skeptical of change, though not as resistant as the American Gothic Eastern view of the farm belt.

In spite of tradition, Iowa has not escaped transition. The gradual shift of people from farms to city has brought traffic jams, pollution and pornography. Rural crime has begun to soar. A generation ago few people locked their doors at night. Now everyone does, and most farm yards are brightly lit for security reasons.

Down on the farm, agriculture is ever more becoming a business rather than a way of life. Tractors now cost between $20,000 and $40,000. Many worry about the continued viability of the family farm.

The 150-acre farm of 20 years ago is now 500 acres. No farmer works just to feed himself and his family. The average Iowa farmer produces enough to feed more than 90 people.

More change will come. But much of Iowa, including its major cities, retain a small-town flavor. The county fair is as big as ever.

Iowa is conservative, a national phenomenon with its state surplus of $200 million. But spends a great deal on education. Its people are the most literate in the nation.

It is no surprise that land use planning has been a major issue in recent legislative sessions. Each year, 30,000 acres of Iowa farmland give way to urban expansion. Yet Iowa's population has grown little, with the 1970 census counting 2,825,401.

Some 10 years ago, Iowans were somewhat embarrassed to drive around the country with "The Corn State" written on license plates of their cars, claiming it sounded unsophisticated.

But as the emphasis on food production has grown, the "corn state" has become a good deal more palatable to those concerned with hunger.

Area: 56,200 sq. mi.; rank, 25th. Population (1974): 2,866,000; rank, 28th. Capital: Des Moines. Motto: Our Liberties We Prize and Our Rights We Will Maintain. Flower: Wild rose. Bird: Eastern goldfinch. Tree: Oak. Song: Iowa. Entered Union: Dec. 21, 1846; rank, 29th. Nickname: Hawkeye State.

A thousand years ago several groups of pre-Indian Mound Builders dwelt on Iowa's fertile plains. Father Jacques Marquette and Louis Joliet gave France its claim to the area, 1673. It became U.S. territory through the 1803 Louisiana Purchase. Indian tribes were moved into the area from states further east, but by mid-19th Century were forced to move on to Kansas. Before and during the Civil War, Iowans strongly supported Abraham Lincoln and became staunch Republicans, remaining so through most elections since.

BAINBRIDGE TOWNSHIP

Bicentennial Panel Seeking Documents

The Bainbridge township Bicentennial committee is looking for pictures and accounts of life and incidents that are part of the township's history, according to Mrs. Ray (Evelyn) Krueger, committee historian.

She asked that people with historical data about the township come to the township hall at 2 p.m. Saturday to meet with the committee.

The township hall is located at Territorial and Bainbridge Center roads, about four miles southeast of Coloma.

Early Treatment Required

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's community mental health clinics must provide early treatment of emotional disorders or face higher numbers of severely disturbed patients, say Wayne County mental health officials. They said low budgets and bigger case loads may force community clinics to stop giving the early treatment that can prevent more severe disorders and may require hospitalization. That situation "will ... have produced a counter-productive system that will end up costing the state much more money than now," said Mel Barvin, director of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board. Barvin, whose mental health board contracts with 27 social service agencies to provide community programs for the mentally ill and retarded, made his comments during a daylong conference at St. John Hospital in northwest Detroit.

region's future as the bread basket of a nation.

When the Colonies were declaring independence from Great Britain, Indian tribes roamed across what was to become Iowa. They depended more on wild game than the rich soil for sustenance.

Many tribes of the Sioux and Algonquin nations lived in Iowa, but only the Ioway Indians contended for possession of the great land cradled between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers.

When Explorers Marquette and Jolliet set foot in Iowa in 1673, they didn't find much agriculture. And Julien Dubuque, the first permanent white settler, was interested in the earth only because of its lead deposits near the city which now bears his name.

It wasn't until after the Louisiana Purchase in 1803 and the great westward push that the farmers of Europe discovered the black gold of the Middle West. There has not been such a strike of rich soil since.

Not only has Iowa farmland been real pay dirt from the

Bendix Satellite Could Reduce Earthquake Tolls

ANN ARBOR — While an earthquake was claiming more than 17,000 lives in Guatemala last week, the Bendix Corp. Aerospace Systems division in Ann Arbor was completing assembly of a laser satellite tracking device that may help reduce casualties in future earthquakes.

The satellite will aid scientists in measuring movements in the earth's surface, reported George R. Macomber, general manager of the aerospace division.

"Measurements will be used to assist in predicting earthquakes, determining earth rotation and polar motion as well as calculating the earth's crust deformation," Macomber said.

Earthquakes appear to hit like surprise attacks, although earthquake-prone areas of the earth are known.

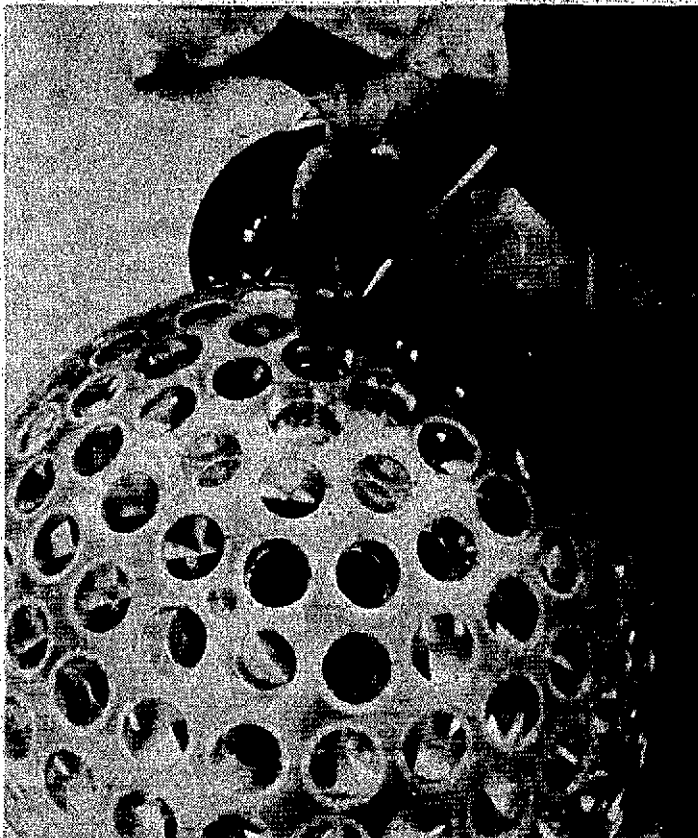

Bendix, which operates its hydraulics division south of St. Joseph, announced completion of the satellite system from the firm's corporate headquarters at Southfield. The satellite is scheduled to be launched into a circular polar orbit in April.

Bendix calls the device a Laser Geodynamic Satellite (LAGEOS). It's a two-foot diameter aluminum sphere with 420 retro-reflectors mounted on the surface. Bendix described the operation:

A laser pulse, beamed from a ground tracking-receiving station in the retro-reflectors on the LAGEOS satellite will initiate a timing signal that will continue until the pulse is bounced back from the satellite and received by the station.

By measuring the travel time of the pulse, the distance between the station and the satellite can be calculated.

The measurements from ground stations to the satellite, as it travels in an extremely stabilized orbit, can be used to determine movement of the earth's surface as small as two centimeters or less than an inch.

EARTHQUAKE SATELLITE: Aluminum sphere from Bendix Corp. Aerospace Systems division, Ann Arbor, will be launched into orbit in April to help scientists measure movements in earth's surface. Measurements will be used in prediction of earthquakes. Technician at aerospace plant installs retro-reflectors on satellite surface.

Bendix said the 903-pound LAGEOS will travel in a 3,200-nautical-mile orbit, circling the earth 8 1/2 times a day. The satellite is to be launched by a Delta launch vehicle from the National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA) test range in California. The satellite is now being undergoing optical testing at the NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

Corps Cuts Waiting Time For Anti-Erosion Permits

By RALPH LUTZ Staff Writer

The Army Corps of Engineers has activated a general permit classification, aimed at reducing the waiting time for issuance of individual permits to install smaller types of protective shoreline devices along eastern Lake Michigan.

Bill Davy, chief of secondary processing section for the Corps Detroit District, said the waiting time in some instances could be cut from 90 days to within a week.

The new general permit classification plan was formed last summer with new regulations giving the Corps expanded authority over waterways.

"When a property owner needs protection against erosion, he needs it now," Davy told this newspaper in explaining the general permit plan.

Davy also emphasized that the property involved and plans for protection by the owner must fall within the guidelines of the general permit classification. There also must be no objection from government units or neighboring property owners.

The reduced waiting time is achieved by the elimination of 30-day public notices, site inspections and hearings.

The Corps announced that the general permit classification includes riprap, bulkhead and groin shore protection in Berrien county, northward to the Straits of Mackinac and west to the westerly point of Big Bay de Noc, near Escanaba.

Bulkheads are structures built parallel to the beach, such as a seawall, and bolstered with fill. A groin is a structure installed perpendicular to the beach.

The general permit classification regulates the scope of these devices. Some examples: The maximum quantity of material discharged into navigable waters shoreward of bulkheads is not to exceed two cubic yards per linear foot. Bulkheads are to be constructed prior to the discharge of material shoreward. Bulkheads and/or riprap protection is to be no greater than 300 feet in length and their toes shall not extend more than 30 feet into the water.

Davy said if the property owner's plans do not meet all guidelines, a permit would be issued only after being processed as in the past and could take up to 90 days.

Davy said the guidelines provide for structures that would cause only minimum or no disruption elsewhere along the shore, according to surveys by the Corps.

Davy said a property owner seeking a permit under the general classification must provide the Corps specific information under the guidelines.

The general permit classification lists specific exclusions. Lincoln township, Berrien county, is excluded, because of its own desire, Davy said.

Designated environmental sensitive areas, identified by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources; wetlands; and sites included in the National Registry of natural landmarks which are published in the Federal Register.

Historical, cultural or archeological sites, or practices as provided in the National Historic Act of 1966 and any other areas named by Congress or presidential proclamation as national rivers, national wilderness areas, national seashores and lakeshores, national recreation areas, national parks and monuments; and areas established under federal law as estuarine and marine sanctuaries.

Small Cars Losing Appeal?

DETROIT (AP) — An unprecedented consumer shift to small cars during the past 2 1/2 years has suddenly and unexpectedly tapered off, forcing a surprised auto industry into a costly game of production changes. Spurred by rising auto and fuel prices, small car sales shot up from less than a 40 per cent share of the market in 1972 to better than 50 per cent last year. Some auto officials were predicting small cars might even grab a 55 to 60 per cent share this year. But a lower rate of inflation, stabilized gasoline prices and increased consumer confidence in the economy and fuel availability has changed the picture.

Withhold Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will withhold federal funds from states that do not comply with new regulations setting strict adult-child ratios for day care centers. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews said in a statement Wednesday that states would not feel the financial impact of withholding federal funds until July, however.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1978. There are 225 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1808, Abraham Lincoln was born in what was then Hardin County, Kentucky.

On this date: In 1854, Lady Jane Grey, who had been Queen of England for 16 days, was beheaded after being charged with treason.

In 1733, English colonists led by James Oglethorpe landed at Savannah, Ga.

In 1870, all women in the Utah Territory were granted full suffrage.

In 1912, China became a republic as the Manchu Dynasty was overthrown by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

In 1914, ground was broken for the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

In 1971, eight U.S. helicopters were shot down while on missions over the Indochina Kingdom of Laos.

Ten years ago: Vice President Hubert Humphrey left Saigon for other Asian capitals after predicting eventual victory over the Communists and over poverty, disease and illiteracy in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: U.S. scientists began inspection of 96 pounds of rocks brought back from the moon by the Apollo 14 astronauts.

One year ago: Britain's Queen Elizabeth asked for a $1 million increase in her living allowance because of rising expenses.

Today's birthdays: General Omar Bradley is 83. Actor Lorne Green is 61. Interior Decorator William Pahlmann is 70.

Thought for today: I claim not to have controlled events, but confess plainly that events have controlled me — Abraham Lincoln.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia recommended that Pennsylvania and New Jersey send men to strengthen the defense of New York City.

Bendix Satellite Could Reduce Earthquake Tolls

ANN ARBOR — While an earthquake was claiming more than 17,000 lives in Guatemala last week, the Bendix Corp. Aerospace Systems division in Ann Arbor was completing assembly of a laser satellite tracking device that may help reduce casualties in future earthquakes.

The satellite will aid scientists in measuring movements in the earth's surface, reported George R. Macomber, general manager of the aerospace division.

"Measurements will be used to assist in predicting earthquakes, determining earth rotation and polar motion as well as calculating the earth's crust deformation," Macomber said.

Earthquakes appear to hit like surprise attacks, although earthquake-prone areas of the earth are known.

Bendix, which operates its hydraulics division south of St. Joseph, announced completion of the satellite system from the firm's corporate headquarters at Southfield. The satellite is scheduled to be launched into a circular polar orbit in April.

Bendix calls the device a Laser Geodynamic Satellite (LAGEOS). It's a two-foot diameter aluminum sphere with 426 retro-reflectors mounted on the surface. Bendix described the operation:

A laser pulse, beamed from a ground tracking-receiving station to the retro-reflectors on the LAGEOS satellite will initiate a timing signal that will continue until the pulse is bounced back from the satellite and received by the station.

By measuring the travel time of the pulse, the distance between the station and the satellite can be calculated.

Van Buren Licenses

Withhold Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will withhold federal funds from states that do not comply with new regulations setting strict adult-child ratios for day care centers. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews said in a statement Wednesday that states would not feel the financial impact of withholding federal funds until July, however.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1976. There are 323 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1809, Abraham Lincoln was born in what was then Hardin County, Kentucky.

On this date:

In 1554, Lady Jane Grey, who had been Queen of England for ten days, was beheaded after being charged with treason.

In 1733, English colonists led by James Oglethorpe landed at Savannah, Ga.

In 1870, all women in the Utah Territory were granted full suffrage.

In 1912, China became a republic as the Manchu Dynasty was overthrown by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

In 1914, ground was broken for the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

In 1971, eight U.S. helicopters were shot down while on missions over the Indochina Kingdom of Laos.

Corps Cuts Waiting Time For Anti-Erosion Permits

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The Army Corps of Engineers has activated a general permit classification, aimed at reducing the waiting time for issuance of individual permits to install smaller types of protective shoreline devices along eastern Lake Michigan.

Bill Davy, chief of secondary processing section for the Corps Detroit District, said the waiting time in some instances could be cut from 90 days to within a week.

The new general permit classification plan was formed last summer with new regulations giving the Corps expanded authority over waterways.

"When a property owner needs protection against erosion, he needs it now," Davy told this newspaper in explaining the general permit plan.

Davy also emphasized that the property involved and plans for protection by the owner must fall within the guidelines of the general permit classification. There also must be no objection from government units or neighboring property owners.

The reduced waiting time is achieved by the elimination of 30-day public notices, site inspections and hearings.

The Corps announced that the general permit classification includes riprap, bulkhead and-or groin shore protection in Berrien county, northward to the Straits of Mackinac and west to the westerly point of Big Bay de Noc, near Escanaba.

Riprap consists of material such as rocks deposited in the water to retard wave action.

Bulkheads are structures built parallel to the beach, such as a seawall, and bolstered with fill. A groin is a structure installed perpendicular to the beach.

The general permit classification regulates the scope of these devices. Some examples: The maximum quantity of material discharged into navigable waters shoreward of bulkheads is not to exceed two cubic yards per lineal foot. Bulkheads are to be constructed prior to the discharge of material shoreward. Bulkheads and-or riprap protection is to be no greater than 300 feet in length and their toes shall not extend more than 30 feet into the water.

Davy said if the property owner's plans do not meet all guidelines, a permit would be issued only after being processed as in the past and could take up to 90 days.

Davy said the guidelines provide for structures that would cause only minimum or no disruption elsewhere along the shore, according to surveys by the Corps.

Davy said a property owner

seeking a permit under the general classification must provide the Corps specific information under the guidelines.

The general permit classification lists specific exclusions.

Lincoln township, Berrien county, is excluded, because of its own desire, Davy said.

Other exclusions:

Designated environmental sensitive areas, identified by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources; wetlands; and sites included in the National Registry of natural landmarks which are published in the Federal Register.

Historical, cultural or archeological sites or practices as provided in the National Historic Act of 1966 and any other areas named by Congress or presidential proclamation as national rivers, national wilderness areas, national seashores and lakeshores, national recreation areas, national parks and monuments; and areas established under federal law as estuarine and marine sanctuaries.

Small Cars Losing Appeal?

DETROIT (AP) — An unprecedented consumer shift to small cars during the past 2½ years has suddenly and unexpectedly tapered off, forcing a surprised auto industry into a costly game of production changes. Spurred by rising auto and fuel prices, small car sales shot up from less than a 40 per cent share of the market in 1972 to better than 50 per cent last year. Some auto officials were predicting small cars might even grab a 55 to 60 per cent share this year. But a lower rate of inflation, stabilized gasoline prices and increased consumer confidence in the economy and fuel availability has changed the picture.

United States' Mueller Skates To Gold Medal

By WICK TEMPLE

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Peter Mueller, the long-striding skater from Mequon, Wis., won the gold medal in the men's 1,000-meter speed skating race today to continue the United States' superb performance in the speed skating events at the 12th Winter Olympics.

Mueller flashed around the oval in 1 minute 19.32 seconds to record the United States' second gold medal and ninth overall of these Winter Games. Sheila Young of Detroit won the other American gold, one of her collection of three medals won here.

John Didrikson of Norway was second in 1:20.45 and Valeriy Muratov of the Soviet Union was third in 1:20.57.

This was the sixth medal won by the American speed skaters.

Mueller's fiance, Leah Poulos, of Northbrook, Ill., won a silver medal in the women's 1,000 meters and Dan Immerfall, Madison, Wis., took a bronze in the 500 meters Tuesday, a race in which Mueller finished a disappointing fifth.

But he certainly redeemed himself today, as he pushed the Americans past their medal of total four years ago, when they won eight at the Sapporo Games.

U.S. Coach Peter Schotting said Mueller, 21, may have been helped when Olympic officials resurfaced the track after his run and left too much water on it, perhaps slowing the times of the later running skaters.

Mueller skated in the second pair, Didrikson in the fifth and Muratov in the eighth. But after the eighth group, the track was resurfaced.

"Mueller raced according to form," Schotting said, "but he started a bit slow and then made up. He beat Didrikson and Muratov before they resurfaced the ice."

Mueller, a skating veteran of 17 years, broke a course record with his run.

The Soviet Union, continuing to control a sport the Scandinavian countries used to dominate, won the women's 20-kilometer (12.4 miles) cross-country relay ski race today at nearby Seefeld.

The Russian foursome of Zinaida Amosova, Nina Baldecheva, Raisa Smetanina and Galina Kulakova had a time of 1 hour 7 minutes 40.75 seconds.

Finland, with two Nordic gold medals at the 12th Winter Olympic Games, finished second in 1:08:36.37 and East Germany took third in 1:09:57.96.

As expected, the American team of Martha Rockwell of West Lebanon, N.H., Jana Hlavaty of Chicago, Terry Porter of Concord, Maine, and Twila Hinkle of Frisco, Colo., did not fare well, finishing eighth, .01 seconds ahead of last place, Canada. The Americans clocked a 1:17:58.17.

The Nordic victory gave the Soviet Union its fifth gold medal of the Games to go along with five silver and seven bronze. East Germany was second with six gold, four silver and four bronze and the United was third in total medals with one gold, three silver and four bronze.

There will be three Group A hockey games today, each of which is important to the United States' bronze medal hopes.

The Americans, the Finns and the West Germans are all 1-2, with two games left, but the young collegians representing the United States play Poland today, while Finland faces mighty Russia and West Germany meets powerful Czechoslovakia.

The Russians and Czechs, both 3-0, are strong favorites to win today and face off Saturday for the Olympic gold medal. If the form holds and the Americans beat Poland they would be alone in third place with a 2-2 record. A victory or a tie against West Germany on Saturday would then provide Uncle Sam's skaters with the bronze medal, realistically the best they could hope for here.

In figure skating, Britain's John Curry, who lives in New York and trains in Denver, won the gold with a superbly fluid freestyle performance. Criticized in some skating circles for a style which appears effeminate, Curry dazzled the sellout crowd and gave Great Britain its first gold medal of these Games.

"I knew everything was working and it was good to skate under those circumstances," said Curry, who finished well ahead of silver medalist Vladimir Kovalev of the Soviet Union and Toller Cranston of Canada.

Dorothy Hamill, 19, of Riverside Calif., is now two giant steps toward reclaiming the women's figure skating title for the United States. Previous American Olympic champions in this glamorous event were Peggy Fleming, Carol Heiss and Tenley Albright.

In second place after Tuesday's compulsory phase, Miss Hamill kicked out the kinks with a warm-up spill Wednesday, then skated flawlessly when it counted to win the short program, the second of the three-phase ordeal.

"If Dorothy skates her freestyle final well, nobody can catch her," said Miss Hamill's coach, Carlo Fassi of Denver, who would win a double gold of sorts here since he also trains John Curry.

Miss Hamill has a history of the jitters but would seem to have to skate the entire program on her backside to lose the gold medal Friday. She has that big lead.

Dianne de Leeuw, who has dual citizenship in the United States and The Netherlands but skates under the Dutch flag, was second going into Friday's final phase while West Germany's Isabel de Navarre was third.

Popular Rost Mittermaier of

West Germany won her second Alpine gold medal Wednesday and seeks an unprecedented triple victory Friday.

With Wednesday's slalom and Sunday's downhill under her belt, the friendly 25-year-old fraulein needs a gold medal in the giant slalom to become the first woman ever to make a clean sweep of the three Alpine skiing events.

Jean-Claude Killy of France, in 1968, and Tony Sailer of Austria, in 1956, have won the Triple Crown of skiing.

"I'll go all out Friday in the giant slalom," she said.

Cindy Nelson, of Lutsen, Minn., America's bronze medalist in the downhill, finished 13th behind lesser known Americans: Lady Cochran, Richmond, Vt., who was sixth, and Mary Seaton, Hancock, Mich., who was 10th.

Bill Koch, of Guilford, Vt., who won the silver medal in the men's 30-kilometer (18.6 miles) cross country, led the United States to a sixth place finish in the 40 kilometer relay — the best American placing since the event was introduced in 1936.

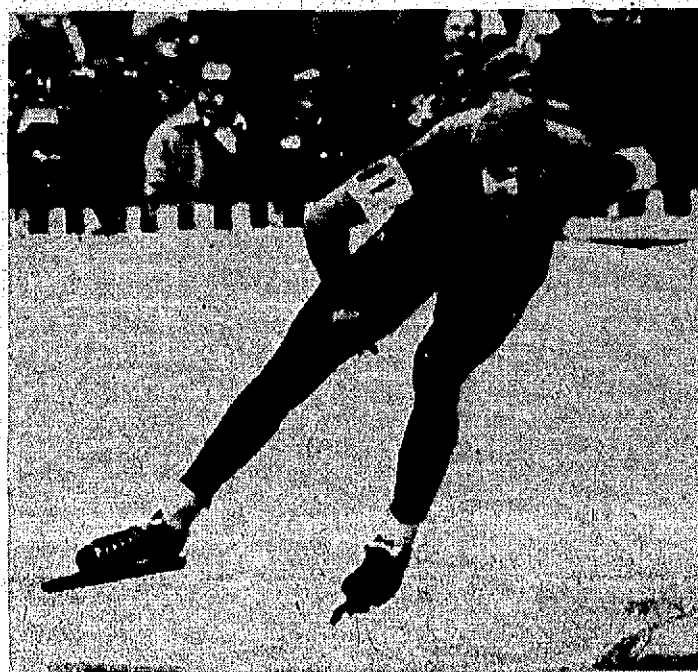

And Sten Stensen of Norway won the men's 5,000-meter speed skating race. Two Dutch skaters, Piet Kleine and Hanne van Helden, finished second and third, respectively, while Dan Carroll of St. Louis was sixth.

Young To Get Homecoming

DETROIT (AP) — Olympic medalist Sheila Young will be given a superstar's homecoming when she returns to Detroit, city officials said Wednesday. She will return to Detroit sometime during the second week of March after competing in European speed skating events.

A caravan will greet her at Detroit Metropolitan Airport and take her to the Civic Center, where Detroit Mayor Coleman Young will make a special presentation and a luncheon at Cobo Hall will be held in Miss Young's honor.

Miss Young, 25, of Detroit, won gold, silver and bronze medals last week at the Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria.

SKATING TO GOLD: Peter Mueller of Mequon, Wis., speeds around the track at Innsbruck, Austria, Thursday to win the gold medal in the men's 1,000-meter speed skating event at the 12th Winter Olympics. His time was 1:19.32. It was the second gold medal for the U.S. (AP Wirephoto)

GUARDS SPARK WIN

Tigers Shock Mann

By JACK WALKER

Benton Harbor's "little" men paid big dividends Wednesday night.

Guards Ray Thompson and Steve McNitt combined for 26 points and 18 assists to lead the Tigers to a shocking 67-54 win over previously unbeaten Indiana power Gary Horace Mann at the Colfax Gym.

"Our guards were just outstanding," said a tired, but jubilant Tiger coach Earl McKee after the win. "I'm really proud of them. During the time when they cut into our lead I had to do a lot of yelling, but they were ready to listen."

Thompson, making his first start since December, pumped in 18 points and dished out eight assists. The little 5-9 speed demon directed the Benton Harbor fast break to near-perfection, helping the Tigers up their record to 11-8. Gary Mann, ranked fourth in the latest Indiana prep poll, fell to 17-1.

"I felt we needed a little more quickness out there," McKee said of starting Thompson. "I never said Ray wasn't a ballplayer. He came to practice ready to play and that's all I ask. He should be our leader."

"This is the best Ray's looked all season. He was not only great on offense, but he was in position all the time on defense."

McNitt did about everything for Benton Harbor but sell popcorn. The junior guard scored eight points, handed out 11 assists, pulled down 13 rebounds and collected six steals.

"Steve kept his head in the game," McKee said. "The last couple of times when he got a rebound, he could've thrown the outlet pass for a fast break. But that may have resulted in a turnover. Steve had enough sense to slow it down."

Also scoring in double figures for Benton Harbor were center Bennie Bowers with 14 points, and forwards Russell Steele and Lam Lewis with 12 and 10, respectively.

Forward John Dixon topped the Horsemen with 22 and Jerry Barnes added 13. But 6-4 center Michael Congress, averaging 13.5 points per game entering the game, hit just one of 15 from the floor and scored only four points.

The Benton Harbor press complemented the Tiger fast break and made the difference. "I knew the press could be effective if we covered up under the basket," McKee said. "Our press kept them more worried about keeping the ball than about running their offense."

Losing coach Lou Thomas blamed the defeat on his own team's ineffectiveness.

The Tiger fast break paved the way to 12 easy Benton Harbor baskets, helping McKee's crew to the most points scored on Mann all season.

Benton Harbor scored four quick buckets off the fast break and raced out to a quick 12-2 lead before the Horsemen knew what had happened.

The Tiger lead twice grew to 18 points, the last time at 43-25 with 4:43 left to play in the third quarter. Thomas called timeout at that point and Gary Mann, which had hit just 10 of 36 from the floor to that point, finally got hot.

After the timeout, the Horsemen swished seven of their next eight shots and finally closed to within one at 49-46 with 6:41 left to play.

Thompson layed in three straight buckets, however, Benton Harbor scored 10 straight points and Gary Mann could get no closer than nine the rest of the way.

The Tiger fast break helped the hosts mesh 52 of 61 from the floor for 52 per cent. Mann finished with just 21 of 70 for a woful 30 per cent.

The Horsemen were able to stay in the game until the fourth quarter by cashing in on 12 of 20 from the free throw line to just three of eight for Benton Harbor.

The Tigers held a slim 41-38 rebounding edge with Bowers pulling down 11 to go with McNitt's total. Congress grabbed 12, and Dixon and William Head nine apiece for Gary Mann.

Mann did boast the better floor game, turning the ball over just 15 times to 26 Benton Harbor turnovers.

The Tigers also won the junior varsity game 67-58. Ray Jones tussled in 18 points, Ronald Page 13 and James Potts 12 to help Benton Harbor run its record to 12-5. Gary Mann's junior varsity fell to 14-4.

Q. What's the lowest-priced pickup made in America?

A. Dodge D 100. Only $3,677. Manufacturer's suggested retail price. And that beats both Ford and Chevy. (Based on manufacturers' suggested retail prices for 6 cyl. half-ton pickups excluding optional equipment, state and local taxes, destination charges.)

Q. Which full-size pickup got the best gas mileage?

A. Dodge. 25 MPG on the highway, 18 in the city. Estimated EPA mileage for a '76 Dodge D 100 (225/6 cyl. engine, manual transmission). Actual mileage depends on driving you do, driving habits, truck's condition, optional equipment.

Q. Which full-size pickup has the biggest standard payload?

A. Dodge D 100. Without beefing it up one bit, you can haul off a whopping 1,505 pounds.

The Russian foursome of Zinaida Amosova, Nina Baldecheva, Raisa Smetanina and Galina Kulakova had a time of 1 hour 7 minutes 49.75 seconds.

As expected, the American team of Martha Rockwell of West Lebanon, N.H., Jana Hlavaty of Chicago, Terry Porter of Concord, Maine, and Twila Hinkle of Frisco, Colo., did not fare well, finishing eighth, .01 seconds ahead of last-place Canada. The Americans clocked a 1:17:58.17.

The Nordic victory gave the Soviet Union its 11th gold medal of the Games to go along with five silver and seven bronze. East Germany was second with six gold, four silver and four bronze and the United was third in total medals with one gold, three silver and four bronze.

There will be three Group A hockey games today, each of which is important to the United States' bronze medal hopes.

The Americans, the Finns and the West Germans are all 1-2, with two games left, but the young collegians representing the United States play Poland today while Finland faces mighty Russia and West Germany meets powerful Czechoslovakia.

The Russians and Czechs, both 3-0, are strong favorites to win today and face off Saturday for the Olympic gold medal. If the form holds and the Americans beat Poland they would be alone in third place with a 2-2 record. A victory or a tie against West Germany on Saturday would then provide Uncle Sam's skaters with the bronze medal, realistically the best they could hope for here.

In figure skating, Britain's John Curry, who lives in New York and trains in Denver, won the gold with a superbly fluid freestyle performance. Criticized in some skating circles for a style which appears effeminate, Curry dazzled the sellout crowd and gave Great Britain its first gold medal of these Games.

"I knew everything was working and it was good to skate under those circumstances," said Curry, who finished well ahead of silver-medalist Vladimir Kovalev of the Soviet Union and Toller Cranston of Canada.

Dorothy Hamill, 19, of Riverside Calif., is now two giant steps toward reclaiming the women's figure skating title for the United States. Previous American Olympic champions in this glamorous event were Peggy Fleming, Carol Heiss and Tenley Albright.

In second place after Tuesday's compulsory phase, Miss Hamill kicked out the kinks with a warm-up spill Wednesday, then skated flawlessly when it counted to win the short program, the second of the three-phase ordeal.

"If Dorothy skates her freestyle final well, nobody can catch her," said Miss Hamill's coach, Carlo Fassi of Denver, who would win a double gold of sorts here since he also trains John Curry.

Miss Hamill has a history of the jitters but would seem to have to skate the entire program on her backside to lose the gold medal Friday. She has that big a lead.

Dianne de Leeuw, who has dual citizenship in the United States and The Netherlands but skates under the Dutch flag, was second going into Friday's final phase while West Germany's Isabel de Navarre was third.

Popular Rosi Mittermaier of

West Germany won her second Alpine gold medal Wednesday and seeks an unprecedented triple victory Friday.

With Wednesday's slalom and Sunday's downhill under her belt, the friendly 25-year-old fraulein needs a gold medal in the giant slalom to become the first woman ever to make a clean sweep of the three Alpine skiing events.

Jean-Claude Killy of France, in 1968, and Tony Sailer of Austria, in 1956, have won the Triple Crown of skiing.

"I'll go all out Friday in the giant slalom," she said.

Cindy Nelson, of Lutsen, Minn., America's bronze medalist in the downhill, finished 13th behind lesser known Americans Lindy Cochran, Richmond, Vt., who was sixth, and Mary Seaton, Hancock, Mich., who was 10th.

Bill Koch, of Guilford, Vt., who won the silver medal in the men's 30-kilometer (18.6 miles) cross country, led the United States to a sixth place finish in the 40 kilometer relay — the best American placing since the event was introduced in 1936.

And Sten Stensen of Norway won the men's 5,000-meter speed skating race. Two Dutch skaters, Piet Kleine and Hans van Helden, finished second and third, respectively, while Dan Carroll of St. Louis was sixth.

GUARDS SPARK WIN

By JACK WALKDEN

Staff Sports Writer

Benton Harbor's 'little' men paid 'big' dividends Wednesday night.

Guards Ray Thompson and Steve McNutt combined for 26 points and 19 assists to lead the Tigers to a shocking 67-54 win over previously unbeaten Indiana power Gary Horace Mann at the Colfax Gym.

"Our guards were just outstanding," said a tired, but jubilant Tiger coach Earl McKee after the win. "I'm really proud of them. During the time when they cut into our lead I had to do a lot of yelling, but they were ready to listen."

Thompson, making his first start since December, pumped in 18 points and dished out eight assists. The little 5-9 speed demon directed the Benton Harbor fast break to near-perfection, helping the Tigers up their record to 11-6. Gary Mann, ranked fourth in the latest Indiana prep polls, fell to 17-1.

"I felt we needed a little more quickness out there," McKee said of starting Thompson. "I never said Ray wasn't a ballplayer. He came to practice ready to play and that's all I ask. He should be our leader."

McNutt did about everything for Benton Harbor but sell popcorn. The junior guard scored eight points, handed out 11 assists, pulled down 13 rebounds and collected six steals.

"Steve kept his head in the game," McKee said. "The last couple of times when he got a rebound, he could've thrown the outlet pass for a fast break. But that may have resulted in a turnover. Steve had enough sense to slow it down."

Also scoring in double figures for Benton Harbor were center Bennie Bowers with 14 points, and forwards Russell Steele and Leon Lewis with 12 and 10, respectively.

Forward John Dixon topped the Horsemen with 22 and Jerry Barnes added 13. But 6-6 center Michael Congress, averaging 13.5 points per game entering the game, hit just one of 15 from the floor and scored only four points.

The Benton Harbor press complemented the Tiger fast break and made the difference.

"I knew the press could be

Losing coach Lou Thomas blamed the defeat on his own team's ineffectiveness.

The Tiger fast break paved the way to 12 easy Benton Harbor baskets, helping McKee's crew to the most points scored on Mann all season.

Benton Harbor scored four quick buckets off the fast break and raced out to a quick 12-2 lead before the Horsemen knew what had happened.

The Tiger lead twice grew to 18 points, the last time at 43-25 with 4:43 left to play in the third quarter. Thomas called timeout at that point and Gary Mann, which had hit just 10 of 38 from the floor to that point, finally got hot.

After the timeout, the Horsemen swished seven of their next eight shots and finally closed to within one at 49-48 with 6:41 left to play.

Thompson layed in three straight buckets, however, Benton Harbor scored 10 straight points and Gary Mann could get no closer than nine the rest of the way.

The Tiger fast break helped the hosts mesh 32 of 61 from the floor for 52 per cent. Mann finished with just 21 of 70 for a woeful 30 per cent.

The Horsemen were able to stay in the game until the fourth quarter by cashing in on 12 of 20 from the free throw line to just three of eight for Benton Harbor.

The Tigers held a slim 41-36 rebounding edge with Bowers pulling down 11 to go with McNutt's total. Congress grabbed 12 and Dixon and William Head nine apiece for Gary Mann.

Mann did boast the better floor game, turning the ball over just 15 times to 26 Benton Harbor turnovers.

The Tigers also won the junior varsity game 67-59. Ray Jones tossed in 15 points, Ronald Page 13 and James Potts 12 to help Benton Harbor run its record to 12-5. Gary Mann's junior varsity fell to 14-4.

Young To Get Homecoming

DETROIT (AP) — Olympic medalist Sheila Young will be given a superstar's homecoming when she returns to Detroit, city officials said Wednesday.

She will return to Detroit sometime during the second week of March after competing in European speed skating events.

A caravan will greet her at Detroit Metropolitan Airport and take her to the Civic Center, where Detroit Mayor Coleman Young will make a special presentation and a luncheon at Cobo Hall will be held in Miss Young's honor.

Miss Young, 25, of Detroit, won gold, silver and bronze medals last week at the Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria.

Q. What's the lowest-priced pickup made in America?

A Dodge D 100. Only $3,677. Manufacturer's suggested retail price. And that beats both Ford and Chevy. (Based on manufacturers' suggested retail prices for 6 cyl. half-ton pickups excluding optional equipment, state and local taxes, destination charges.)

Q. Which full-size pickup got the best gas mileage?

A Dodge. 25 MPG on the highway, 18 in the city. Estimated EPA mileage for a '76 Dodge D 100 (225/6 cyl. engine, manual transmission). Actual mileage depends on driving you do, driving habits, truck's condition, optional equipment.

Q. Which full-size pickup has the biggest standard payload?

Galien, Lakers Must Avoid Looking Past Friday Foes

Red Arrow contenders Galien and Lake, Michigan Catholic can't afford to look ahead this week.

Galien (10-1 in the league) and second-place Catholic (9-2) are expected to meet for the Red Arrow championship Feb. 27 in a climatic showdown, but first both must face upset-minded foes this Friday night.

The Gaels host Eau Claire (7-4), which dropped an overtime thriller to Galien in their first meeting, while the Lakers try to snap their road jinx against tenacious Watervliet (4-7).

Over in the Blossomland, Buchanan can clinch its second straight outright championship with a win over red-hot Dowagiac.

Big Seven leader St. Joseph will be out to protect its top spot at Portage Northern, while Benton Harbor needs a win at Traverse City to keep alive its LMCA title hopes.

Southwestern Athletic Conference co-leaders Decatur and Marcellus should have little trouble retaining their deadlock with games against Martin and Lawrence, respectively.

South Haven and Covert are the lone area teams to already clinch outright titles, with the Rams winning the Wolverine crown and the Bulldogs the Allegan-Ottawa trophy. The Rams are idle this weekend while Covert hosts Kalamazoo Hackett in a non-league game Friday night.

Gallen, riding a 14-game winning streak, could nail down a chunk of the Red Arrow crown with a win over Eau Claire and a Laker loss to Watervliet.

"Eau Claire has some very good shooters," offers Galien coach Mike Heckathorn. "They really shot well over our zone in that first game."

Starting Galien guard Craig Schau (8.9 average) is still slowed by an injured ankle and is questionable for the game. Randy Chase would likely get the start should Schau still be hobbled. Don Kooy, tops the Gaels with his 18.6 average while Dale Luther is at 14.0.

Eau Claire standout, Terry Adams (18.8) is still not 100 per cent due to a sore hip but likely will be pressed into heavy duty Friday. Adams currently heads Red Arrow scoring at 19.0.

Other Beavers in double digit scoring in all games are Jerry McAfee at 13.5 and Randy Grandberry 10.4.

The Lakers are 8-0 in their friendly home gym but only 3-6 on the road with a five-game losing skid.

"It's obvious we have our problems when we play away from home," states Laker coach Al Nixon. "We realize Watervliet will be a very formidable opponent. The first time (71-56 Laker win) we had the home court advantage and were at full strength."

"We're in a situation where we can't look ahead to the Galien game. To make that last game mean anything we have to win the next two."

The Lakers will still be without the services of injured Jim Brintnall, but center Bill Franz should be close to full strength. Tom Flood is averaging 13.1. Don Altie 12.1 and Franz 11.8 for the Lakers.

Watervliet, which also hosts tough Decatur on Saturday night, has a potent guard punch in Ken Marzka at 13.2 and Chuck Brock 10.0. Tom Hutchinson is at 11.4 and Jim Weaver 10.3.

The SAC is shaping up as a dandy race down to the wire with Decatur and Marcellus at 8-1 and Bloomingdale at 7-2. Each has three loop games remaining.

Bloomingdale, which hosts Lawton Friday, will have the opportunity to determine its own fate as the Cards host Decatur and Bloomingdale in their last two SAC contests.

Over in the Blossomland, Dowagiac will be gunning for another major upset. The Chiefs knocked off unbeaten No. 2 ranked (Class B) South Haven Tuesday night and now will try to do the same against also undefeated and No. 2-rated (Class C) powerhouse Buchanan.

Ken Garrett, the Blossomland scoring leader by 17 points over Coloma's Gregg Woodward, tops the Bucks with his 20.0 overall average. Bob Waalikes is averaging 18.4 for the Chiefs.

Coloma and Lakeshore will both be seeking to snap losing skids in their meeting with the Comets having a six-game losing streak and Lakeshore a five-game slide. Woodward and Joe Jones are both hitting at a 17.7 clip for the Comets while Tom Jager tops the Lancers at 13.1.

Same Script At Decatur Raiders Following In Steps Of Brothers

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

DECATUR — History has repeated itself at Decatur this season and in a way only a Hollywood writer could have written a script for.

Three Raider players are helping Decatur becoming a box office draw just as their brothers did four years ago.

Guard Kurt Wiese, the team's top scorer, forward Jim Overley, the top Raider rebounder, and Decatur's top man off the bench Dave Cerven have helped Tom Gibson's club to a 13-2 record and a share of the Southwestern Athletic Conference lead. And oddly enough, it was the threesome's brothers who sparked Decatur to a brilliant 15-3 record in 1971-72.

"The records are pretty similar and the makeup of the team is about the same," Gibson says. "We just want to change the final script."

That 1971-72 Raider team, led by Marc Wiese, John Overley and Steve Cerven, lost in overtime to Bangor in the district finals.

But this year's group isn't about to let that happen again. Kurt Wiese plans to see to that. The 6-1 junior guard has been nicknamed "Gym Rat" because he spends so much time playing basketball.

"Kurt has a real good attitude," Gibson says. "If we take a day off from the practice, he'll be in the gym shooting anyway. You'll always find him around the gym shooting. He doesn't play full sports so he works with himself during the summer and fall."

Wiese was brought up to the varsity for the final two games of his freshman season. And no one has been able to get him out of the starting lineup since. The brilliant shooter leads the SAC in scoring with an 18.3 league scoring mark, while shooting 46 per cent from the floor.

"I've always been high on Kurt," Gibson says. "When he was an eighth grader and we had a kid sick, I'd bring him up to the varsity to scrimmage. I knew of his dedication and I knew there was no doubt that he would start as a sophomore."

Gibson believes Wiese can "go one-on-one with just about anybody because of his quickness."

"He has good basketball sense," he adds. "He just hustles a lot. He's also our second leading rebounder. If he misses from outside, he's just as likely to go underneath and tip it back in."

Jim Overley follows a great family basketball tradition. His father, Marv, was a standout on Decatur's undefeated 1942 state championship team. His older brothers Rick and John were both all-league players for Decatur. Rick in the Red Arrow and John in the SAC.

John still holds the single-game Raider scoring mark of 46 points.

"Jim is probably the steadiest ballplayer we have," Gibson says. "He's the most coachable kid I've had. He works hard all the time and does what he's told. He has a rich basketball tradition in his family to live up to. It seems like all of the top teams we've had have always had an Overley on them."

Though just 5-11, Overley has incredible jumping ability. A three-year starter, he holds the Decatur career rebounding record and is averaging more than 12 this season to go with his 12.4 points per game.

Cerven's older brother, Steve, was the seventh man on the 1971-72 Decatur team. But Dave is the first sub-Gibson usually puts in for this season's group.

"Dave has come off the bench and done a real good job for us," Gibson says. "He's a pretty good shooter and his quickness has helped our half-court press. He can come off the bench and pop in a couple of quick baskets to help us."

Decatur is not the only area team using brothers to gain success. Eau Claire's Terry Adams is also following in his brother's footsteps. Adams leads the Red Arrow in scoring with a 19.0 average. Berrien Springs' Terry Hosbein is second with a 17.8 mark.

Adams' older brother Bill Adams won the league scoring crown last year and still holds the Red Arrow single-game record of 40 points.

"I believe the fact of Bill's success has had an effect on Terry," Eau Claire coach Dave Gray said. "He loves the game of basketball and is trying to do as well if not better than Bill."

Gray believes the biggest improvement in Adams' game has been on defense, however.

"Terry is good at both ends of the floor this year," Gray explained. "Last year he was primarily an offensive player. His defensive smartness has really improved. He's able to read what the offenses are going to do and sometimes is able to set them up for the steal. He's taking a lot of pride in his defense."

Adams is not at full strength yet from a bruised tailbone suffered two weeks ago against Watervliet. But Gray believes the 6-1 senior guard will be ready by tournament time.

Benton Harbor's Russell Steele is leading the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference in scoring with a 21.3 mark, while Buchanan's Ken Garrett heads up the Blossomland with a 20.5 average. Garrett needs just five points to become Buchanan's first 1,000-point scorer.

CanAmer Seeks New President

The Berrien County Olympian and CanAmer Games, Inc., is seeking applications for the full-time, paid positions of president and director of public relations, according to Oliver Edwards, chairman of the CanAmer board of directors.

Berrien county will be hosting the CanAmer winter games for the first time this year. Scheduled for the weekend of March 13, the winter games will include competition in boys hockey, fifth and sixth grade basketball, and girls gymnastics, Edwards said.

The board of directors is seeking applicants to fill the two positions to supervise and direct the winter games, Edwards said.

The president will be responsible for county-wide activities preceding and including the winter and summer games, according to Edwards, and will supervise personnel and plan and coordinate the organization's activities.

The public relations director will create and implement a publicity program for the CanAmer games and assist in fund-raising activities, Edwards said.

Resumes for the two jobs, which should include personal information, history of employment and salary requirements, can be sent to CanAmer Games, Post Office Box 493, St. Joseph, Edwards said. The board of directors of CanAmer is made up of volunteers with paid, full-time positions operating the programs.

Judge Blocks Giants' Sale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The sale of the San Francisco Giants to Toronto, Canada, has been blocked by Superior Court Judge John E. Benson, who heard Mayor George Moscone save the day for "Frisen."

The judge's order Wednesday for a preliminary injunction against sale of the club to Canadian interests provoked lively applause in the courtroom.

It all came down when the mayor marched triumphantly into court and said an $8 million offer for the club had been made by San Francisco financier Robert Lurie and Minneapolis trucking mogul Robert Short.

"Bobby Thomson still lives!" said the mayor, laughing out loud when asked how he felt about saving the Giants for San Francisco. Thomson saved the Giants for World Series competition in 1951 with a timely home run.

The courtroom hosted a jubilant, standing-room-only crowd of about 200 when Moscone, flanked by the two businessmen, said terms were agreed to in his City Hall office an hour earlier.

Said the mayor, with a pardonable touch of pride: "They have authorized me to tell the court they will pay $8 million cash for the rights to the Giants' franchise with $500,000 down right now as a sign of good faith."

"Do you have the money?" asked Giants' lawyer Richard Murray.

Moscone answered up. "They told me they did." All the while, Lurie and Short stood smiling as the words were made part of the record.

City Atty. Thomas O'Connor called both men to the witness stand and heard them say they were prepared to put the half-million down "right today and pay the $7.5 million balance in cash upon signing a purchase contract."

Murray asked Short if the $8 million offer might suddenly find tough sledding should Labatt's Brewery of Toronto withdraw its offer for the Giants, and Short responded that nothing would change, even "if Labatt's wasn't in the picture."

After the session, Short said he did not know just how long the offer would remain open, but he didn't think it would be logical to extend it much beyond March 1. Short is former owner of the Texas Rangers baseball team and the Minneapolis Lakers basketball team. The Lurie wealth comes from long-standing real estate and other investments in San Francisco.

Upton Takes Two
Brian Priefer pumped in 14 points to help Upton's seventh grade basketball team to a 35-37 win over Milton in double overtime Wednesday night. Upton also won the eighth grade game 28-18 with Brian Brown leading in 15 for the winners.

Stargell Signs
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran slugger Willie Stargell has signed for his 14th baseball season with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Career Clips

Before moving to Michigan Center, Anderson compiled a 45-48 record at Galien — including a co-Red Arrow championship in 1967 on a 12-6 record and a district crown in 1970 on a 13-8 mark.

Dave Hallgren, who was Galien's coach two years before Anderson, is also coaching a Class C powerhouse at Negaunee. The Miners were unbeaten and ranked No. 1 before losing to Class A Marquette Tuesday.

And, of course, current Buchanan coach Bill Wilson has the Bucks on the way to a perfect regular season. Buchanan, now 18-0, was No. 2 in this week's poll, but the Bucks will probably move up to No. 1 next week because of Negaunee's loss.

Galien, Lakers Must Avoid Looking Past Friday Foes

Red Arrow contenders Galien and Lake Michigan Catholic can't afford to look ahead this week.

Galien (10-1 in the league) and second-place Catholic (9-2) are expected to meet for the Red Arrow championship Feb. 27 in a climatic showdown, but first both must face upset-minded foes this Friday night.

The Gaels host Eau Claire (7-4), which dropped an overtime thriller to Galien in their first meeting, while the Lakers try to snap their road jinx against tenacious Watervliet (4-7).

Over in the Blossomland, Buchanan can clinch its second straight outright championship with a win over red-hot Dowagiac.

Big Seven leader St. Joseph will be out to protect its top spot at Portage Northern, while Benton Harbor needs a win at Traverse City to keep alive its LMAT title hopes.

Southwestern Athletic Conference co-leaders Decatur and Marcellus should have little trouble retaining their deadlock with games against Martin and Lawrence, respectively.

South Haven and Covert are the lone area teams to already clinch outright titles, with the Rams winning the Wolverine crown and the Bulldogs the Allegan-Ottawa trophy. The Rams are idle this weekend while Covert hosts Kalamazoo Hackett in a non-league game Friday night.

Galien, riding a 14-game winning streak, could nail down a chunk of the Red Arrow crown with a win over Eau Claire and a Laker loss to Watervliet.

"Eau Claire has some very good shooters," offers Galien coach Mike Heckathorn. "They really shot well over our zone in that first game."

Starting Galien guard Craig Schau (8.9 average) is still slowed by an injured ankle and is questionable for the game. Randy Chase would likely get the start should Schau still be hobbled. Don Kooys tops the Gaels with his 18.6 average while Dale Luther is at 14.0.

Eau Claire standout Terry Adams (18.8) is still not 100 per cent due to a sore hip but likely will be pressed into heavy duty Friday. Adams currently heads Red Arrow scoring at 19.0.

Other Beavers in double digit scoring in all games are Jerry McAfee at 13.5 and Randy Grandberry 10.4.

The Lakers are 8-0 in their friendly home gym but only 3-6 on the road with a five-game losing skid.

"It's obvious we have our problems when we play away from home," states Laker coach Al Nixon. "We realize Watervliet will be a very formidable opponent. The first time (71-56 Laker win) we had the home court advantage and were at full strength."

"We're in a situation where

The Lakers will still be without the services of injured Jim Brintnall, but center Bill Frantz should be close to full strength. Tom Flood is averaging 13.1, Don Altic 12.1 and Frantz 11.8 for the Lakers.

Watervliet, which also hosts tough Decatur on Saturday night, has a potent guard punch in Ken Marzka at 13.2 and Chuck Brock 10.0. Tom Hutchinson is at 11.4 and Jim Weaver 10.3.

The SAC is shaping up as a dandy race down to the wire with Decatur and Marcellus at 8-1 and Bloomingdale at 7-2. Each has three loop games remaining.

Bloomingdale, which hosts Lawton Friday, will have the opportunity to determine its own fate as the Cards host Decatur and Bloomingdale in their last two SAC contests.

Over in the Blossomland, Dowagiac will be gunning for another major upset. The Chiefs knocked off unbeaten and No. 2 ranked (Class B) South Haven Tuesday night and now will try to do the same against also undefeated and No. 2 rated (Class C) powerhouse Buchanan.

Ken Garrett, the Blossomland scoring leader by 17 points over Coloma's Gregg Woodward, tops the Bucks with his 20.6 overall average. Bob Waalkes is averaging 18.4 for the Chiefs.

Coloma and Lakeshore will both be seeking to snap losing skids in their meeting with the Comets having a six-game losing streak and Lakeshore a five-game slide. Woodward and Joe Jones are both hitting at an 17.7 clip for the Comets while Tom Jager tops the Lancers at 13.1.

Same Script At Decatur

Raiders Following In Steps Of Brothers

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

DECATUR — History has repeated itself at Decatur this season and in a way only a Hollywood writer could have written a script for.

Guard Kurt Wiese, the team's top scorer, forward Jim Overley, the top Raider rebounder, and Decatur's top man off the bench Dave Cerven have helped Tom Gibson's club to a 13-2 record and a share of the Southwestern Athletic Conference lead. And oddly enough, it was the threesome's brothers who sparked Decatur to a brilliant 15-3 record in 1971-72.

"The records are pretty similar and the makeup of the team is about the same," Gibson says. "We just want to change the final script."

That 1971-72 Raider team, led by Marc Wiese, John Overley and Steve Cerven, lost in overtime to Bangor in the district finals.

But this year's group isn't about to let that happen again. Kurt Wiese plans to see to that. The 6-1 junior guard has been nicknamed "Gym Rat" because he spends so much time playing basketball.

"Kurt has a real good attitude," Gibson says. "If we take a day off from the practice, he'll be in the gym shooting anyway. You'll always find him around the gym shooting. He doesn't play fall sports so he works with himself during the summer and fall."

Wiese was brought up to the varsity for the final two games of his freshman season. And no one has been able to get him out of the starting lineup since. The brilliant shooter leads the SAC in scoring with an 18.3 league scoring mark, while shooting 48 per cent from the floor.

"I've always been high on Kurt," Gibson says. "When he was an eighth grader and we had a kid sick, I'd bring him up to the varsity to scrimmage. I knew of his dedication and I knew there was no doubt that he would start as a sophomore."

Gibson believes Wiese can "go one-on-one with just about anybody because of his quickness."

"He has good basketball sense," he adds. "He just hustles alot. He's also our second leading rebounder. If he misses from outside, he's just as likely to go underneath and tip it back in."

Jim Overley follows a great family basketball tradition. His father, Marv, was a standout on Decatur's undefeated 1942 state championship team. His older brothers Rick and John were both all-league players for Decatur. Rick in the Red Arrow and John in the SAC. John still holds the single-game Raider scoring mark of 48 points.

"Jim is probably the steadiest ballplayer we have," Gibson says. "He's the most coachable kid I've had. He works hard all the time and does what he's told. He has a rich basketball tradition in his

Though just 5-11, Overley has incredible jumping ability. A three-year starter, he holds the Decatur career rebounding record and is averaging more than 12 this season to go with his 12.4 points per game.

Cerven's older brother, Steve, was the seventh man on the 1971-72 Decatur team. But Dave is the first sub Gibson usually puts in for this season's group.

"Dave has come off the bench and done a real good job for us," Gibson says. "He's a pretty good shooter and his quickness has helped our half-court press. He can come off the bench and pop in a couple of quick baskets to help us."

Decatur is not the only area team using brothers to gain success. Eau Claire's Terry Adams is also following in his brother's footsteps. Adams leads the Red Arrow in scoring with a 19.0 average. Berrien Springs' Terry Hoshein is second with a 17.8 mark.

Adams' older brother Bill Adams won the league scoring crown last year and still holds the Red Arrow single-game record of 48 points.

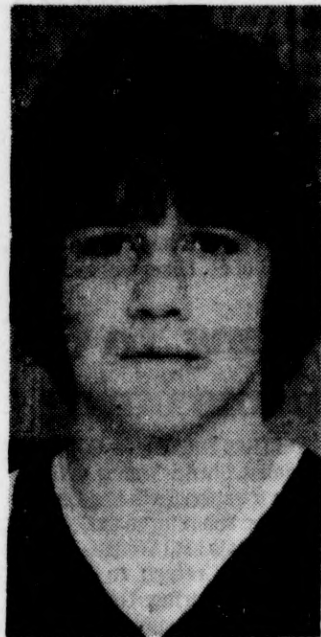

"I believe the fact of Bill's success has had an effect on Terry," Eau Claire coach Dave Gray said. "He loves the game of basketball and is trying to do as well if not better than Bill."

Gray believes the biggest improvement in Adams' game has been on defense, however.

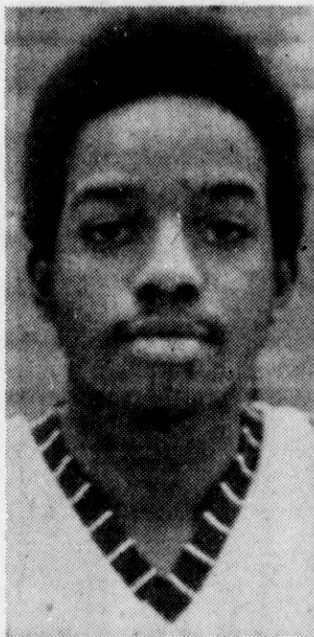

"Terry is good at both ends of the floor this year," Gray explained. "Last year he was primarily an offensive player. His defensive smartness has really improved. He's able to read what the offenses are going to do and sometimes is able to set them up for the steal. He's taking a lot of pride in his defense."

Adams is not at full strength yet from a bruised tailbone suffered two weeks ago against Watervliet. But Gray believes the 6-1 senior guard will be ready by tournament time.

Benton Harbor's Russell Steele is leading the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference in scoring with a 21.3 mark, while Buchanan's Ken Garrett heads up the Blossomland with a 20.5 average. Garrett needs just five points to become Buchanan's first 1,000-point scorer.

CanAmer Seeks New President

The Berrien County Olympian and CanAmer Games, Inc., is seeking applications for the full-time, paid positions of president and director of public relations, according to Oliver Edwards, chairman of the CanAmer board of directors.

Berrien county will be hosting the CanAmer winter games for the first time this year. Scheduled for the weekend of March 13, the winter games will include competition in boys hockey, fifth and sixth grade basketball, and girls gymnastics, Edwards said.

The board of directors is seeking applicants to fill the two posts to supervise and direct the winter games, Edwards said.

The president will be responsible for county-wide activities preceding and including the winter and summer games, according to Edwards, and will supervise personnel and plan and coordinate the organization's activities.

The public relations director will create and implement a publicity program for the CanAmer games and assist in fund-raising activities, Edwards said.

Resumes for the two jobs, which should include personal information, history of employment and salary requirements, can be sent to CanAmer Games, Post Office Box 493, St. Joseph, Edwards said. The board of directors of CanAmer is made up of volunteers with paid, full-time positions operating the programs.

Lancers Win

Sixteen players scored Wednesday night to help Lakeshore's freshmen basketball team roll past Coloma 80-39 at the Lancer Gym. Tom Gault led the winners with 13 points. Coloma's Ken Kne paced all scorers with 16.

Upton Takes Two

Brian Prierer punched in 14 points to help Upton's seventh grade basketball team to a 38-37 win over Milton in double overtime Wednesday night. Upton also won the eighth grade game 28-18 with Brian Brown tossing in 15 for the winners.

Stargell Signs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran slugger Willie Stargell has signed for his 14th baseball season with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Career Clips

Before moving to Michigan Center, Anderson compiled a 45-48 record at Galien — including a co-Red Arrow championship in 1967 on a 12-6 record and a district crown in 1970 on a 13-8 mark.

Dave Hallgren, who was Galien's coach two years before Anderson, is also coaching a Class C powerhouse at Negaunee. The Miners were unbeaten and ranked No. 1 before losing to Class A Marquette Tuesday.

Judge Blocks Giants' Sale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —

The sale of the San Francisco Giants to Toronto, Canada, has been blocked by Superior Court Judge John E. Benson, who heard Mayor George Moscone save the day for "Frisco."

The judge's order Wednesday for a preliminary injunction against sale of the club to Canadian interests provoked lively applause in the courtroom.

It all came down when the mayor marched triumphantly into court and said an $8 million offer for the club had been made by San Francisco financier Robert Lurie and Minneapolis trucking mogul Robert Short.

"Bobby Thomson still lives!" said the mayor, laughing out loud when asked how he felt about saving the Giants for San Francisco. Thomson saved the Giants for World Series competition in 1951 with a timely home.

The courtroom hosted a jubilant, standing-room-only crowd of about 200 when Moscone, flanked by the two businessmen, said terms were agreed to in his City Hall office an hour earlier.

Said the mayor, with a pardonable touch of pride: "They have authorized me to tell the court they will pay $8 million cash for the rights to the Giants' franchise with $500,000 down right now as a sign of good faith."

"Do you have the money?" asked Giants' lawyer Richard Murray.

Moscone answered up. "They told me they did." All the while, Lurie and Short stood smiling as the words were made part of the record.

City Atty. Thomas O'Connor called both men to the witness stand and heard them say they were prepared to put the half-million down "right today and pay the $7.5 million balance in cash upon signing a purchase contract."

Murray asked Short if the $8 million offer might suddenly find tough sledding should Labatt's Brewery of Toronto withdraw its offer for the Giants, and Short responded that nothing would change, even "if Labatt's wasn't in the picture.

After the session, Short said he did not know just how long the offer would remain open, but he didn't think it would be logical to extend it much beyond March 1. Short is former owner of the Texas Rangers baseball team and the Minneapolis Lakers basketball team. The Lurie wealth comes from longstanding real estate and other investments in San Francisco.

Drake Stars Unbeaten Broncos Run Past Eastern

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — It was the fast breaks in the second half that made the difference for unbeaten and nationally ranked Western Michigan Wednesday night, according to Coach Eldon Miller.

The Broncos, rated No. 18 in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll, defeated Eastern Michigan 85-73.

In other MAC action Wednesday, former Brandywine standout Leonard Drake pumped in 31 points to lead Central Michigan to a 95-82 victory over Bowling Green.

Last place Northern Illinois beat Ball State 79-77 for its first conference win. Kent State beat Ohio University 70-67 with three foul shots in the last minute.

Western retained a one-game lead in the MAC race following

Miami's home court win 87-86 in double overtime over Toledo.

"We played good defense in the second half, which gave us several fast breaks and that was the difference," said Miller. "Eastern hurt us with a press in the first half."

"It was a fantastic effort by our kids," said EMU's coach Al Freind. "I was surprised Western was so vulnerable to the press in the first half, since normally they're not."

Guard Jimmie Harvey had 21 points to pace Western, the leader in the MAC.

Western outscored EMU 28-8

in the first eight minutes of the second half to build its biggest lead of the game at 56-35.

A spunky Eastern fought back to trail by five points on three occasions, the last at 78-66 with 2:36 to go.

Harvey with 21 points and Paul Griffin with 17 topped the balanced Western attack. Jeff Tyson had 13 and Tom Cutler added 12 plus a game-high 13 rebounds.

Eastern forward Bob Riddle took game scoring honors with 21 points, and Walt Jones picked up 12 while Dan Hoff and Jim Person had 10 each. Bill Weaver, of Niles, had eight. Western outshot the Hurons, 53.8 to 49.2, and dominated rebounding, 44-30.

The Broncos are now 19-0 on the year and 10-0 in the MAC, while Eastern is 7-13 in the conference and 1-8 overall.

Drake hit 13 of 18 from the floor and five of five from the foul line and five other Central players hit in double figures for the Chippewas' eighth victory of the season against 11 losses.

Central went into the second half trailing by a point, but in the first six minutes of the second frame the Chippewas outscored Bowling Green 20-4.

High scorer for Bowling Green was forward Ron Hadenmye, with 18. Bowling Green forward Norvahn Morgan had 17 points. Other Bowling Green top scorers were center Andre Richardson and guard Tommy Harris, with 15 each.

Central and Bowling Green are now tied for sixth place in the MAC with identical 4-8 records. CMU has an overall record of 8-11. Bowling Green is 8-12.

Other Central players in double figures were guard Denny Parks, 14; forward Russ Davis, 12; center Ben Piquetto, 10; forward Daryl Alexander, 10; and reserve forward Al Ciolella, 10.

Miami's victory solidified its hold on second place in the MAC with a 9-1 mark. The Redskins are 13-6 overall.

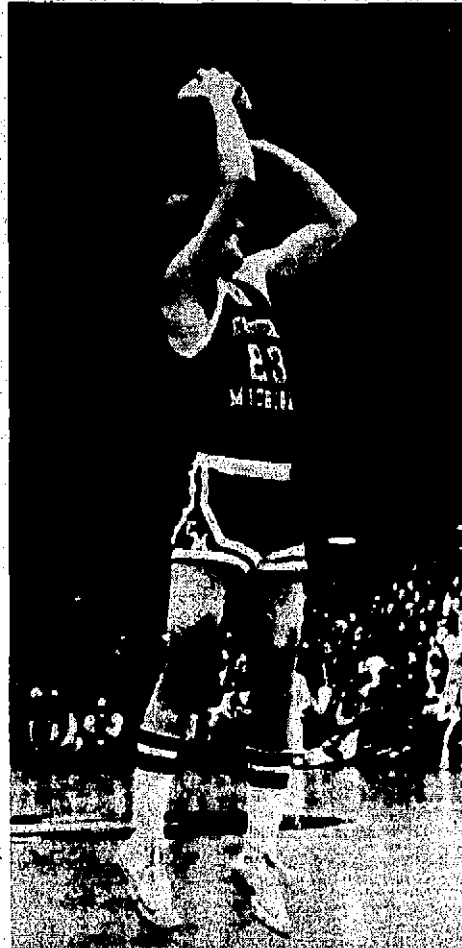

Sophomore guard John Shoemaker sank a free throw with three seconds left after Toledo Coach Bob Nichols was called for a technical foul.

The Rockets had just gained possession of the ball after a traveling call on Miami's Archie Aldridge. The technical was called when Nichols called for a third timeout, one over the limit.

Nichols refused to comment on the official's foul call after the game. "It's a very bad foul. We deserved to win. It's a very hard loss to take," was all he would say.

"Toledo, led by forward Mike Larsen's 30 points, dropped to 7-1 and 11-7.

Miami Coach Darrell Hedrick sympathized with Nichols, saying, "It's a tough way to lose a basketball game. Neither team deserved to lose."

GUNNING GUARD: Former Niles' standout Bill Weaver, who is now a starting guard for Eastern Michigan University, takes aim during first half action against Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo Wednesday night. Weaver managed eight points as the Hurons lost to the 15th-ranked Broncos 85-73. (Staffphoto)

Stott, Ryan Gain Daytona Limelight

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Rains Stott and Terry Ryan, who figured only to be clocked in relative obscurity this week while preparing for the 18th annual Daytona 500, surprisingly have the limelight as Speed Weeks 1976 reaches its hectic climax the final four days of this week.

Stott, a Keokuk, Iowa corn and bean farmer, and Ryan, a truck driver from nearby Davenport, each led a field of 34 cars to the start of twin 125-mile qualifying races today, and will race $1.4 million worth of high-speed machinery to the start of Sunday's $350,000 race.

"I've probably had more publicity out of this than anything else that's ever happened to me," said Stott, who won the U.S. Auto Club stock car championship last year. "The newspapers have really played it up here and my wife Judy, who keeps a scrap book of my career, is running all around the place buying up papers for the press clippings."

While much of Stott's racing has been on short tracks in the Midwest, he has an impressive history of finishes in major NASCAR Grand National races, including having never finished out of the top 10 in any year he has competed in the Daytona 500.

Stott, a two-time Automobile Racing Club of America (ARCA) who has been racing at Daytona since 1963, found himself the pole winner at 181,494 miles per hour after the three faster qualifiers — A.J. Foyt, Darrell Waltrip and Dave Marcis — last Sunday had their times disallowed for using "non-approved" equipment.

Stott now believes his chances for victory Sunday are excellent, despite the ultracompact five field of Richard Petty, David Pearson, Cale Yarborough, Buddy Baker, Benny Parsons, Bobby Allison, Foyt, Waltrip and Marcis.

"I don't think I'm better than anyone here," but "I've got thousands of miles on this track and I think I have as good a chance to win as anyone," said Stott, who added he feels relaxed and confident.

Ryan, in his first NASCAR Grand National race, has more homework to do, Stott felt. "The qualified race should help," he added.

Stott said he has spent time this week coaching Ryan in the fine art of drifting at 200 m.p.h.

Powless Resigns Badger Cage Post

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — John Powless, a compromise choice as head coach eight years ago, has surrendered his futile fight to shake University of Wisconsin basketball's losing tradition, and the search for a successor is underway.

Powless, who recently had vowed he never would quit, told his players after practice Wednesday he was doing just that. He then told Athletic Director Elroy Hirsch, who said, "I suppose he saw the handwriting on the wall."

Powless was named head coach April 28, 1968, to succeed John Erickson, who had resigned to become general manager of the newly formed Milwaukee Bucks. The athletic board first decided to hire Army's Bobby Knight, now coach of nationally top ranked Indiana, but Knight became injured and withdrew when word of his selection leaked out prior to formal announcement.

Powless' resignation is effective at the end of the season, and Hirsch said the new coach would be allowed to name his own assistant coaches. Powless' assistants are Dave Vander Meulen and Lamont Weaver.

Powless' record as head coach is 86 victories and 104 defeats. His current team won its first five games against inferior competition, but has lost its last 10, all in the Big Ten, and is 8-12.

As criticism had mounted with the defeats, Hirsch had said he would decide after the season whether to renew Powless' two year contract, which is to expire July 1.

The UW Sports News Service announced the resignation in a five paragraph press release, which quoted Powless' letter to Hirsch:

"With total respect to the players, staff and program, and pressures of the existing losses to performance, I am submitting my resignation as head basketball coach, University of Wisconsin, effective the end of the present term." It said.

"Hopefully, this will allow the players to perform with less pressures during the remaining games."

Powless, 43, was unavailable for comment Wednesday night after apparently having changed his unlisted home telephone number.

Hirsch praised Powless' "enthusiasm, dedication and integrity."

"All he had in mind was what was best for the program," Hirsch said. "I've got to admire him for the stand he took today. When a man loses 10 games in a row, he feels it's futile and realizes the program is going to be hurt if we can't start a search for a new coach right now."

"We have some people in mind now," he said. "I've already had several calls and we'll actively go out and seek a coach. We've already got some interviews lined up for the next two weeks."

One of the first names in the rumor mill was that of Bucks' scout Tim Nisslake, a Madison resident and former coach of the defunct Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association. Nisslake was said to be out of the state on a scouting trip until Friday.

Schmid Leads LMC Past Kellogg

Debi Schmid tossed in 21 points Wednesday night to lead Lake Michigan College's girls basketball team to a 60-44 win over Kellogg Community College at the LMC Gym.

The Indians broke the game open in the last seven minutes to up their record to 4-1 in the league and 12-4 overall.

LMC, which held a 24-15 half-time lead, also got 16 points and 11 rebounds from Jill Clays and 15 points and 19 rebounds from Linda Boyd.

"Clays and Boyd really came through," LMC coach Liz Miller said. "Our two big girls on the boards, Karen Smyka and Chris Knuth, were both out with injuries."

Mary Jane Knoff came off the bench to give the Indians defensive help.

Terps Belted By Tar Heels

By KEN RAPPOPORT

After North Carolina beat Maryland at Chapel Hill on Jan. 23, Lefty Driesell knew things would be different when he got the Tar Heels back at his place in College Park.

Things were different. The second game didn't go into overtime.

The third-ranked Tar Heels, who beat No. 4 Maryland with some strain the last time they met, left no doubt as to their superiority by belittling the Terps 81-68 in their own town Wednesday night.

"There is no doubt that Carolina is the best team in the Atlantic Coast Conference now," said Driesell. "I don't think they beat us in Chapel Hill, but they beat the devil out of us tonight."

And they did it with a one-eye ballplayer — Mitch Kupchak, who played in Carolina's 95-93 overtime thriller last month. Kupchak injured his eye in a game against Georgia Tech last week and has suffered from double vision since, but still managed to score a game-high 21 points.

"I had a little difficulty seeing on my left side," said the 6-foot-10 center who is the apple of the pro scout's eyes. "I also had a problem seeing across the court, but it was no big thing. It might have been bad had I got yoked in the eye again."

North Carolina Coach Dean

Smith, informed that Driesell had just about raised the flag of surrender in the ACC race, was hesitant to pick up the spoils just yet.

"We're extremely pleased to be where we are right now," he said, referring to the Tar Heels' league-leading 8-1 mark and 19-2 record overall. "But I hope Lefty didn't put the whammy on us. We have to go to Tulane now and there's still the ACC tournament."

Elsewhere, No. 10 Notre Dame crushed Villanova 84-57, 12th-ranked North Carolina State outscored North Carolina Charlotte 87-64, No. 14 Missourihipped Oklahoma State 72-71, 15th-ranked Western Michigan lashed Eastern Michigan 85-73 and No. 18 Virginia Tech trimmed William and Mary 50-48.

Notre Dame's Bill Paterno scored 14 points and anchored a crisp defense that led the Irish over Villanova. Kenny Carr's 22 points powered North Carolina State's victory over North Carolina-Charlotte. Willie Smith hit a layup with 11 seconds remaining as Missouri beat Oklahoma State and took sole possession of the Big Eight lead.

Jimmie Harvey scored 21 points to pace unbeaten Western Michigan just Eastern Michigan. Ernest Wansley's layup with 2:36 left put Virginia Tech ahead for good and the Gobblers went on to beat William and Mary.

Drake Stars Unbeaten Broncos Run Past Eastern

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — It was the fast breaks in the second half that made the difference for unbeaten and nationally ranked Western Michigan Wednesday night, according to Coach Eldon Miller.

The Broncos, rated No. 15 in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll, defeated Eastern Michigan 85-73.

In other MAC action Wednesday, former Brandywine standout Leonard Drake pumped in 31 points to lead Central Michigan to a 95-82 victory over Bowling Green. Last-place Northern Illinois beat Ball State 79-77 for its first conference win. Kent State beat Ohio University 70-67 with three foul shots in the last minute.

Western retained a one-game lead in the MAC race following

Miami's home court win 87-86 in double overtime over Toledo.

"We played good defense in the second half, which gave us several fast breaks and that was the difference," said Miller. "Eastern hurt us with a press late in the first half."

"It was a fantastic effort by our kids," said EMU's coach Al Freund. "I was surprised Western was so vulnerable to the press in the first half, since normally they're not."

Guard Jimmie Harvey had 21 points to pace Western, the leader in the MAC.

Western outscored EMU 23-8

in the first eight minutes of the second half to build its biggest lead of the game at 56-35.

A spunky Eastern fought back to trail by five points on three occasions, the last at 78-65 with 3:56 to go.

Harvey with 21 points and Paul Griffin with 17 topped the balanced Western attack. Jeff Tyson had 13 and Top Cutter added 12 plus a game-high 13 rebounds.

Eastern forward Bob Riddle took game scoring honors with 21 points, and Walt Jones picked up 12 while Dan Hoff and Jim Person had 10 each. Bill Weaver, of Niles, had eight. Western outshot the Hurons, 538 to 432, and dominated rebounding, 44-36.

The Broncos are now 19-0 in the year and 10-0 in the MAC, while Eastern is 7-13 in the conference and 1-9 overall.

Drake hit 13 of 16 from the floor and five of five from the foul line and five other Central players hit in double figures for the Chippewas' eighth victory of the season against 11 losses.

Central went into the second half trailing by a point, but in the first six minutes of the second frame the Chippewas outscored Bowling Green, 20-4.

High scorer for Bowling Green was forward Ron Hammye, with 18. Bowling Green forward Norvain Morgan had 17 points. Other Bowling Green top scorers were center Andre Richardson and guard Tommy Harris, with 15 each.

Central and Bowling Green are now tied for sixth place in the MAC with identical 4-6 records. CMU has an overall record of 8-11. Bowling Green is 8-12.

Other Central players in double figures were guard Denny Parks, 14; forward Russ Davis, 12; center Ben Poquette, 10; forward Daryl Alexander, 10; and reserve forward Al Cicotte, 10.

Miami's victory solidified its hold on second place in the MAC with a 9-1 mark. The Redskins are 13-6 overall.

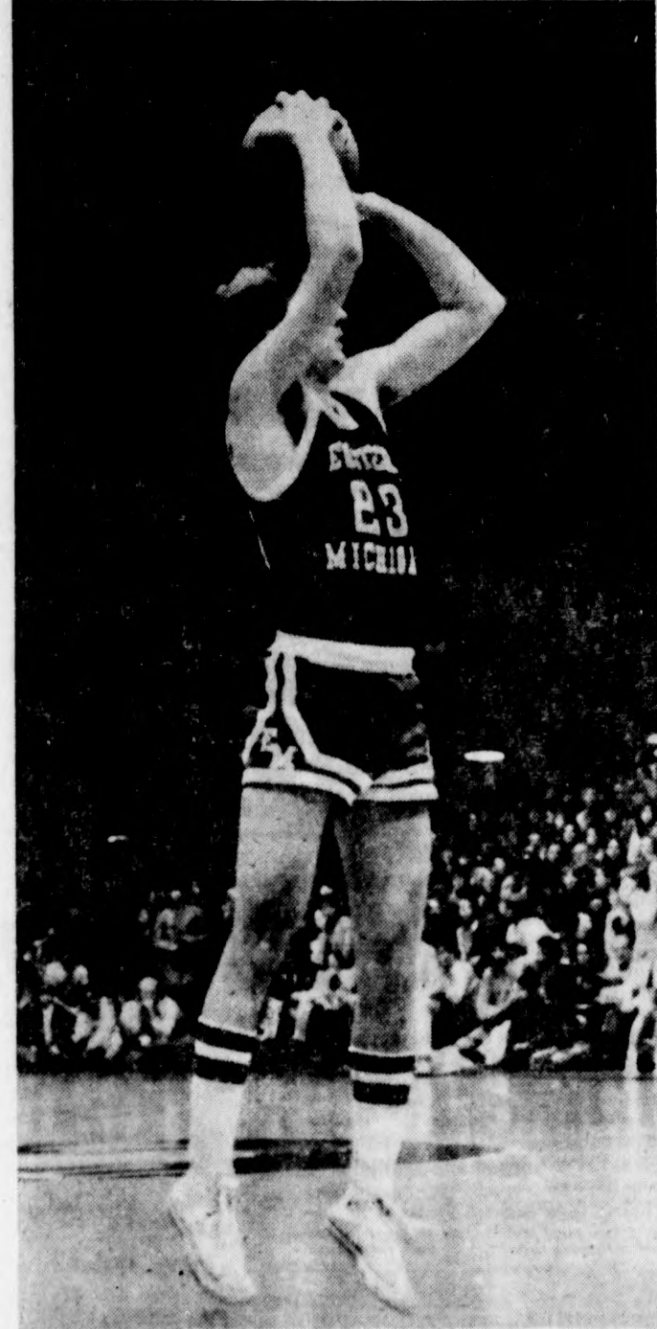

Sophomore guard John Shoemaker sank a free throw with three seconds left after Toledo Coach Bob Nichols was called for a technical foul.

The Rockets had just gained possession of the ball after a traveling call on Miami's Archie Aldridge. The technical was called when Nichols called for a third timeout, one over the limit.

Nichols refused to comment on the official's foul call after the game. "It's a very bad fate. We deserved to win. It's a very hard loss to take," was all he would say.

Toledo, led by forward Mike Larsen's 30 points, dropped to 7-3 and 11-7.

Miami Coach Darrell Hedrick sympathized with Nichols, saying, "It's a tough way to lose a basketball game. Neither team deserved to lose."

GUNNING GUARD: Former Niles' standout Bill Weaver, who is now a starting guard for Eastern Michigan University, takes aim during first half action against Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo Wednesday night. Weaver managed eight points as the Hurons lost to the 15th-ranked Broncos 85-73. (Staffphoto)

Stott, Ryan Gain Daytona Limelight

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ramo Stott and Terry Ryan, who figured only to be cloaked in relative obscurity this week while preparing for the 18th annual Daytona 500, surprisingly have the limelight as Speed Weeks 1976 reaches its hectic climax the final four days of this week.

Stott, a Keokuk, Iowa corn and bean farmer, and Ryan, a truck driver from nearby Davenport, each led a field of 34 cars to the start of twin 125-mile qualifying races today, and will place $1.4 million worth of high-speed machinery to the start of Sunday's $350,000 race.

"I've probably had more publicity out of this than anything else that's ever happened to me," said Stott, who won the U.S. Auto Club stock car championship last year. "The newspapers have really played it up here and my wife Judy, who keeps a scrap book of my career, is running all around the place buying up papers for the press chippings."

While much of Stott's racing has been on short tracks in the Midwest, he has an impressive history of finishes in major NASCAR Grand National races, including having never finished out of the top 10 in any year he has competed in the Daytona 500.

Stott, a two-time Automobile Racing Club of America titlist who has been racing at Daytona since 1963, found himself the pole winner at 183.456 miles per hour after the three faster qualifiers — A.J. Foyt, Darrell Waltrip and Dave Marcis — last Sunday had their times disallowed for using "non-approved" equipment.

Stott now believes his chances for victory Sunday are excellent, despite the ultracompetitive field of Richard Petty, David Pearson, Cale Yarborough, Buddy Baker, Benny Parsons, Bobby Allison, Foyt, Waltrip and Marcis.

"I don't think I'm better than anyone here, but I've got thousands of miles on this truck and I think I have as good a chance to win as anyone," said Stott, who added he feels relaxed and confident.

Ryan, in his first NASCAR Grand National race, has more homework to do, Stott felt. "The qualifying race should help," he added.

Stott said he has spent time this week coaching Ryan in the fine art of drifting at 200 m.p.h.

Powless Resigns Badger Cage Post

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — John Powless, a compromise choice as head coach eight years ago, has surrendered his futile fight to shake University of Wisconsin basketball's losing tradition, and the search for a successor is underway.

Powless, who recently had vowed he never would quit, told his players after practice Wednesday he was doing just that. He then told Athletic Director Elroy Hirsch, who said, "I suppose he saw the handwriting on the wall."

Powless was named head coach April 28, 1968, to succeed John Erickson, who had resigned to become general manager of the newly formed Milwaukee Bucks. The athletic board first decided to hire Army's Bobby Knight, now coach of nationally top ranked Indiana, but Knight became angered and withdrew when word of his selection leaked out prior to formal announcement.

Powless' resignation is effective at the end of the season, and Hirsch said the new coach would be allowed to name his own assistant coaches. Powless' assistants are Dave Vander Meulen and Lamont Weaver.

Powless' record as head coach is 86 victories and 104 defeats. His current team won its first five games against inferior competition, but has lost its last 10, all in the Big Ten, and is 8-12.

As criticism had mounted over the defeats, Hirsch had said he would decide after the season whether to renew Powless' two year contract, which is to expire July 1.

The UW Sports News Service announced the resignation in a five paragraph news release, which quoted Powless' letter to Hirsch:

"With total respect to the players, staff and program, and pressures of the existing losses to performance, I am submitting my resignation as head basketball coach, University of Wisconsin, effective the end of the present term," it said. "Hopefully, this will allow the players to perform with less pressures during the remaining games."

Powless, 43, was unavailable for comment Wednesday night after apparently having changed his unlisted home telephone number.

Hirsch praised Powless' "enthusiasm, dedication and integrity."

"All he had in mind was what was best for the program," Hirsch said. "I've got to admire him for the stand he took today. When a man loses 10 games in a row, he feels it's futile and realizes the program is going to be hurt if we can't start a search for a new coach right now."

"We have some people in mind now," he said. "I've already had several calls and we'll actively go out and seek a coach. We've already got some interviews lined up for the next two weeks."

One of the first names in the rumor mill was that of Bucks' scout Tom Nissalke, a Madison resident and former coach of the defunct Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association. Nissalke was said to be out of the state on a scouting trip until Friday.

Schmid Leads LMC Past Kellogg

Deb Schmid tossed in 21 points Wednesday night to lead Lake Michigan College's girls basketball team to a 60-44 win over Kellogg Community College at the LMC Gym.

The Indians broke the game open in the last seven minutes to up their record to 4-1 in the league and 12-4 overall.

LMC, which held a 24-15 half-time lead, also got 16 points and 11 rebounds from Jill Clays and 15 points and 19 rebounds from Linda Boyd.

"Clays and Boyd really came through," LMC coach Liz Miller said. "Our two big girls on the boards, Karen Simko and Chris Knuth, were both out with injuries."

Mary Jane Knauf came off the bench to give the Indians defensive help.

LMC hosts Jackson Community College at 5:30 p.m. Saturday as a preliminary to the LMC boys game at the LMC Gym.

Boston Wins Fight, But Loses Game

Adams Leads Suns Past Pistons

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics played in Houston and their center Dave Cowens really made a hit with the fans. In fact, he made several.

Cowens not only took on the Rockets but their backers as well when a fan climbed out of his seat and exchanged punches with the player Wednesday night.

Cowens' teammate Charlie Scott also got into the action and before it was over, the ruffian was double-teamed and thrown out of the arena. After that, the Celtics simply weren't themselves and dropped a 119-109 National Basketball Association decision to the Rockets.

"I'm not going to stand there and watch him beat up a teammate," Scott said, explaining why he jumped into the fray. "The officials didn't get there quick enough... they weren't going to do anything."

The fans apparently didn't appreciate Scott's noble gesture, razzing the Celtics the rest of the way.

"I don't understand it," Scott said. "After that we were the ruffians, the bad guys, and they were the good guys."

The rest of the NBA was relatively tame as the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the Portland Trail Blazers 118-106; the Milwaukee Bucks stopped the New York Knicks 109-95; the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the New Orleans Jazz 95-90 and the Phoenix Suns blasted the Detroit Pistons 123-94.

Calvin Murphy led a fourth-quarter Houston surge that helped the Rockets beat Boston. The Rockets led 101-97 with 1:58 left when the fan rushed out of the stands and pushed Cowens. Cowens traded punches with the fan, but remained in the game.

George McGinnis scored 23 points to help Philadelphia overcome a 35-point performance by Portland's Sidney Wicks and beat the Trail Blazers. The Trail Blazers, playing without injured center Bill Walton, trailed the entire game.

Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman combined for 33 points in leading Milwaukee over New York. Bridgeman helped the Bucks reel off 12 straight points at the end to put the game away.

Tom Burleson converted six of 10 free throw attempts in the closing minutes to help Seattle withstand a furious New Orleans rally.

Alvan Adams' 22 points and Curtis Perry's 20 led Phoenix out of the Pacific Division cellar as the Suns crushed Detroit.

Wings Top Toledo

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Calvinus Coach Moe Bartoli never got a chance to finish watching his Owls lose to the Flint Generals 7-2 Wednesday night in an International Hockey League game.

Bartoli was ejected from the game at 4:38 in the third period for disputing a call by referee Mitch Wyzowski. Wyzowski said the Owls had too many players on the ice and Bartoli disagreed.

Jim Johnston and Scott Hudson, with two goals apiece, led the Generals scoring attack.

Steve Lyon and Ed Kenty put the Owls on the scoreboard. The Owls remain in the last place of the IHL's South Division with 19-41-6. The Generals are in third place of the North Division with 24-21-10.

Dave White scored early in the second period and Al Genovese scored the second and winning goal nine minutes later as Kalamazoo downed Toledo 4-1.

Toledo's only goal came 3:17 in the third period by Henry Lehtonen.

Also scoring for Kalamazoo in the third were Kenny Mann and Bob Watson.

Toledo's record is now 16-28-13, while Kalamazoo is 18-29-7.

Dark To Coach Holland Squad

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Alvin Dark, former manager of baseball's Oakland Athletics, is scheduled to speak here Feb. 14 to kick off a fund drive sending the city's Wooden Shoe baseball team to Europe this summer.

Dark is expected to coach the team of 17-year-olds during the three-week trip, with four stops in Holland, Belgium and possibly West Germany. Plans call for Dark to conduct seminars in the various cities where the team will play.

Gerard Voogd, vice president of baseball in The Netherlands, is arranging a schedule for the team, according to the Bill Voande Water, publicity director for the fund drive.

He said the Wooden Shoe team was invited to make the trip in observance of the United States Bicentennial celebration.

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Alvin Dark, former manager of baseball's Oakland Athletics, is scheduled to speak here Feb. 14 to kickoff a fund drive sending the city's Wooden Shoe baseball team to Europe this summer.

Dark is expected to coach the team of 17-year-olds during the three-week trip, with four stops in Holland, Belgium and possibly West Germany. Plans call for Dark to conduct seminars in the various cities where the team will play.

Gerard Voogd, vice president of baseball in The Netherlands, is arranging a schedule for the team, according to the Bill Vande Water, publicity director for the fund drive.

He said the Wooden Shoe team was invited to make the trip in observance of the United States' Bicentennial celebration.

The Boston Celtics played in Houston and their center Dave Cowens really made a hit with the fans. In fact, he made several.

Cowens not only took on the Rockets but their backers as well when a fan climbed out of his seat and exchanged punches with the player Wednesday night.

Cowen's teammate Charlie Scott also got into the action and before it was over, the ruffian was double-teamed and thrown out of the arena. After that, the Celtics simply weren't themselves and dropped a 115-103 National Basketball Association decision to the Rockets.

The fans apparently didn't appreciate Scott's noble gesture, razzing the Celts the rest of the way.

"I don't understand it," Scott said. "After that we were the ruffians, the bad guys, and they were the good guys."

The rest of the NBA was relatively tame as the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the Portland Trail Blazers 118-106; the Milwaukee Bucks stopped the New York Knicks 109-95; the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the New Orleans Jazz 93-90 and the Phoenix Suns blasted the Detroit Pistons 123-94.

Calvin Murphy led a fourth-quarter Houston surge that helped the Rockets beat Boston. The Rockets led 101-97 with 1:58 left when the fan rushed out of the stands and pushed Cowens. Cowens traded punches with the fan, but remained in the game.

George McGinnis scored 23 points to help Philadelphia overcome a 35-point performance by Portland's Sidney Wicks and beat the Trail Blazers. The Trail Blazers, playing without injured center Bill Walton, trailed the entire game.

Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman combined for 53 points in leading Milwaukee over New York. Bridgeman helped the Bucks reel off 12

Columbus Coach Moe Bartoli never got a chance to finish watching his Owls lose to the Flint Generals 7-2 Wednesday night in an International Hockey League game.

Jim Johnston and Scott Hudson, with two goals apiece, led the Generals scoring attack. Steve Lyon and Ed Kenty put the Owls on the scoreboard.

The Owls remain in the last place of the IHL's South Division with 19-31-6. The Generals are in third place of straight points at the end to put the game away.

Tom Burleson converted six of 10 free throw attempts in the closing minutes to help Seattle withstand a furious New Orleans rally.

Alvan Adams' 22 points and Curtis Perry's 20 led Phoenix out of the Pacific Division cellar as the Suns crushed Detroit.

Dave White scored early in the second period and Al Genovy scored the second and winning goal nine minutes later as Kalamazoo downed Toledo 4-1.

Toledo's only goal came 3:17 in the third period by Henry Lehyonen.

Also scoring for Kalamazoo in the third were Kenny Mann and Bob Watson.

Toledo's record is now 16-28-13, while Kalamazoo is 18-20-7.

Sabres 'Rifle' Goalie In Win Over Wings

FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We're always defense-conscious when we come into the Buffalo rink," said Billy Dea, assistant coach of the Detroit Red Wings.
The Wings were so defense-conscious Wednesday night that goalie Jim Rutherford almost wound up unconscious. The Buffalo Sabres rifled 52 shots at the Detroit net and came away with a 4-2 National Hockey League victory.
It must have been small consolation for Rutherford that he only faced 31 of the shots. The last one by Don Luce went into an empty net with 14 seconds remaining after Rutherford had been lifted for an extra attacker.
The triumph, coupled with Boston's 3-2 victory over the Minnesota North Stars, enabled Buffalo to remain six points behind the first-place Bruins in the Adams Division. Elsewhere, the Atlanta Flames whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2, the Los Angeles Kings downed the Chicago Black Hawks 7-4 and the Pittsburgh Penguins skated to a 4-4 tie with the California Golden Seals.

Fred Stanfield's goal midway through the third period proved to be the winner for Buffalo. It made the score 3-1 but Detroit's Bill Hogaboom scored on a 50-foot slap shot 27 seconds later. Brian Spencer and Jocelyn Guevremont also scored for Buffalo while Mike Bloom got the other Detroit goal.
A pair of second-period goals by Bob Schmautz and three assists each from Jean Ratelle and Brad Park paced the Boston attack. Schmautz took Ratelle's drop pass in the slot and tied the game 2-2 with his 20th goal of the season at 14:37 of the second period and Ratelle and Park then sprung him on a breakaway 33 seconds before the end of the period. The Bruins wrapped it up on third-period goals by Ken Hodge and Gregg Sheppard.
Atlanta jumped to a first-period lead on goals by Larry Carriere and Hilliard Graves. Dave Kryskow gave the Flames a 3-1 lead midway through the second period and, after Toronto trade it 3-2, Atlanta's Curt Bennett and Tim Ecclestone tallied into an empty Toronto net in the final minute. Errol Thompson and Ian Turnbull got the Toronto goals.

Marcel Dionne of Los Angeles scored three goals in the last six minutes, his eighth career hat trick. Dionne broke a tie at 13:34 of the third period and then scored two unassisted goals into an empty net. Teammate Bob Nevin picked up two goals, including a penalty shot in the second period, while Gary Sargent and Bob Murdoch got the other LA tallies. Stan Mikita and Ivan Boldirev each tallied twice for Chicago.
Pittsburgh's Ron Schock of Pittsburgh scored the tying goal with 15 seconds remaining after the Penguins pulled goalie Michel Plasse. Fred Abner had given the Seals, winless in eight games, a 4-3 lead on a long shot at 11:20 of the third period just 18 seconds after Pittsburgh's Colin Campbell made it 3-2.

Fill-In Goalie Bob Johnson Sparks Crusader Victory

FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Johnson is playing ... and Cleveland is paying ... on a game-to-game basis. Wednesday night, the Cincinnati Stingers also paid a little bit.
Johnson, a fill-in goalie, turned aside 32 shots in the Crusaders' 4-2 victory over the Stingers. The triumph moved the Crusaders within six points of idle New England in the World Hockey Association's East Division and kept them three points ahead of third-place Indianapolis. Cincinnati slipped behind the Racers, who beat the Phoenix Roadrunners 2-1.

In other games, the Quebec Nordiques beat the Winnipeg Jets 6-4 and the Minnesota Fighting Saints whipped the San Diego Mariners 4-2.
Russ Walker scored a pair of first-period goals for Cleveland while Danny Gruen and Ron Ward also tallied for the Crusaders. Rick Dudley and Claude Larose were the only Stingers to put the puck past the 27-year-old Johnson, who has played well since being signed two weeks ago to aid Cam Newton in filling in for injured Bob Whidden and the departed Gerry Cheevers.
"I have to do my best and hope they like my performance," Johnson said. "I also have to pull for the other guy (Newton) because he's out there putting money in my pocket."
An ailing Pat Stapleton, in a brief appearance, scored the winning goal in a second-period power play. The All-Star defenseman, bothered by a pulled back muscle and a case of flu, was called upon only for the power play and to kill off three penalties. Reggie Thomas scored for the Racers at 13:46 of the first period but Phoenix tied it with eight seconds left on a goal by Pekka Rautakallin.

Third-period goals by Serge Bernier and Buddy Cloutier enabled Quebec to defeat Winnipeg and pull within five points of the Jets in the Canadian Division with four games in hand. Marc Tardif and Cloutier scored two goals apiece but it was Bernier's 28th of the season at 8:33 of the third period that snapped a 4-4 deadlock after Thorstein Bergman of Winnipeg tied it at 5:32. Tardif has 48 tallies for the season and Cloutier has 44.
Dave Keon scored three goals as Minnesota moved into a second-place tie with Phoenix in the West Division, two points ahead of San Diego. Fran Huck gave Minnesota a 1-0 lead in the first period and Keon slapped home a back-hander early in the second period. Kevin Morrison cut the lead in half with a power play goal at 12:30 but Keon scored again 17 seconds later and put the game away with an open-net goal with four seconds left in the third period.

FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Johnson is playing ... and Cleveland is paying ... on a game-to-game basis. Wednesday night, the Cincinnati Stingers also paid a little bit.

Johnson, a fill-in goalie, turned aside 32 shots in the Crusaders' 4-2 victory over the Stingers. The triumph moved the Crusaders within six points of idle New England in the World Hockey Association's East Division and kept them three points ahead of third-place Indianapolis. Cincinnati slipped behind the Racers, who beat the Phoenix Roadrunners 2-1.

In other games, the Quebec Nordiques beat the Winnipeg Jets 6-4 and the Minnesota Fighting Saints whipped the San Diego Mariners 4-2.

Russ Walker scored a pair of first-period goals for Cleveland while Danny Gruen and Ron Ward also tallied for the Crusaders. Rick Dudley and Claude Larose were the only Stingers to put the puck past the 27-year-old Johnson, who has played well since being signed two weeks ago to aid Cam Newton in filling in for injured Bob Whidden and the departed Gerry Cheevers.

"I have to do my best and hope they like my performance," Johnson said. "I also have to pull for the other guy (Newton) because he's out there putting money in my pocket."

An ailing Pat Stapleton, in a brief appearance, scored the winning goal on a second-period power play. The All-Star defenseman, bothered by a pulled back muscle and a case of flu, was called upon only for the power play and to kill off three penalties. Reggie Thomas scored for the Racers at 13:46 of the first period but Phoenix tied it with eight seconds left on a goal by Pekka Rautakallio.

Third-period goals by Serge Bernier and Buddy Cloutier enabled Quebec to defeat Winnipeg and pull within five points of the Jets in the Canadian Division with four games in hand. Marc Tardif and Cloutier scored two goals apiece but it was Bernier's 26th of the season at 8:33 of the third period that snapped a 4-4 deadlock after Thommie Bergman of Winnipeg tied it at 5:32. Tardif has 49 tallies for the season and Cloutier has 44.

Dave Keon scored three goals as Minnesota moved into a second-place tie with Phoenix in the West Division, two points ahead of San Diego. Fran Huck gave Minnesota a 1-0 lead in the first period and Keon slapped home a back-hander early in the second period. Kevin Morrison cut the lead in half with a power play goal at 12:58 but Keon scored again 17 seconds later and put the game away with an open-net goal with four seconds left in the third period.

Donahue New UCLA Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terry Donahue, like Dick Vermeil, is young, personable, and more than a little gung-ho about football.

If Donahue, named UCLA's new football coach Wednesday, can emulate Vermeil in another way — success on the football field — the Bruin job may be locked up for a long time.

An assistant under Vermeil the past two seasons, Donahue is just 31 years old, and, if he likes the job and UCLA likes him, he could be around for awhile.

Donahue becomes the 14th head coach in UCLA's 87 years of football after Vermeil's announcement Sunday that he was going to coach the Philadelphia Eagles.

A defensive tackle for the Bruins in 1965-66, Donahue got a quick start on his coaching career, joining Pepper Rodgers' Kansas staff immediately after leaving UCLA.

At 23, he became one of the youngest major college assistant coaches in the country. And his appointment to the UCLA post makes him one of the youngest head coaches in major college ranks.

Donahue inherits a UCLA team that was 9-2-1 last season, a campaign capped by the Bruins' 23-10 upset of top-ranked Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. But a number of stars from that fourth-ranked team, including All-American quarterback John Scarria, are seniors.

It may be a difficult act to follow, but Donahue said he was happy for the chance after UCLA Athletic Director J.D. Morgan announced his selection.

"I am of course honored and thrilled Mr. Morgan has given me the opportunity to head up the UCLA football program," Donahue said. "UCLA is one of the great academic institutions in the country and its athletic program is second to none."

Donahue played high school football at Notre Dame in the Los Angeles suburb of Sherman Oaks and was a member of the San Jose State freshman team before eventually transferring to UCLA.

He played under Tommy Prothro at UCLA, and was a starter on the 1966 Bruin team that upset top-ranked Michigan State, 14-12, in the Rose Bowl. Donahue returned to UCLA as a coach in 1971, when Rodgers moved from Kansas to coach the Bruins.

Donahue and Jerry Long were in charge of the Bruins' offensive line under Vermeil.

Educator Says Human Dignity Now Is Available To All

Fourteen years ago today, on Lincoln's birthday, the appointment of Clarence Hodges was announced as principal of Bard Junior high school. Hodges is believed to be the first black school administrator in Berrien county.

Bard school became part of the Benton Harbor district in 1965 and Hodges is now principal of Henry C. Morton elementary schools.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The man who first thought of placing picnic tables along Michigan roads was one of 10 winners of Michigan Tourism Awards announced this week by Gov. William Milliken.

The awards recognize outstanding contributions to Michigan's travel industry. Those receiving the awards include:

—Dinner's Christmas Decorations, Inc., of Frankenmuth.

—Indian Trails Bus Lines, Inc., of Owosso.

—National Cherry Festival of Traverse City.

—Grayling Winter Sports Carnival of Grayling.

—Michigan Wine Institute of Detroit.

—Nina Babcock of Cedar Springs, who helped create the Red Flannel Festival.

—Creighton Holden, formerly chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council, recently named the federal Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Tourism.

—Allen Williams of Ionia, who began the program of placing picnic tables along state highways for motorists' use.

—Henry Montague of Southfield, director of the Michigan Restaurant Association.

—Howard Tanner, director of the state Department of Natural Resources, for his efforts to revitalize Michigan's Great Lakes game fishing.

NEW YORK (AP) — American Express, which has more than six million credit card holders around the world, says it supplies information about customers' finances to government agencies and private attorneys.

American Express officials, testifying Wednesday before a hearing of the federal Privacy Protection Study Commission, said the company provides the information only in response to subpoenas and does not notify the cardholders when they are being investigated.

Hodges' reflections on the double-anniversaries:

This year the birthday of the great emancipator, President Abraham Lincoln, will mark another milestone in the many annual notices that I have written relative to my role as an educator in the Benton Harbor Area school system. For those of us who have continued to be contemporaries of this event, this reflection could be of a routine, passive occasion; for our community and our nation have experienced continuous progress in the areas of human rights and opportunities for all Americans.

But one must hasten to acknowledge the fact that the costs of freedom and human dignity are not by a constant awareness that the enemies of human freedom and dignity are never asleep. Therefore, victories won and freedoms gained are only secure just so long as the forces of good are strong enough to suppress all elements which have as their ultimate aim: the deprivation and the eventual elimination of these freedoms; usually under one of many guises, such as "the return to the good old days."

As a Negro or a Black American, one is forced to reflect from time to time on his African heritage — from where did we come? Why did we come? What troubles have we shared? — are but a few questions that all Americans must face during this bicentennial year; but these questions are of major significance to the millions of Americans of African descent.

The most gruesome imaginative accounting of the magnitude of the slave trade that I recall was stated thus: "If it were possible to part the waters of the ocean; one could follow the path of the slave ships by viewing the stacks of human bones, as these bones lie bleaching on the ocean floors."

It would be infantile to agree in substantive details with this accounting, but when one would reflect on the 300 to 500 year historical cycles required for the development of past civilizations, and simultaneously the progress of the developing nations of modern Africa, as well as — the current progress of human rights for minorities in our own nation; it would be plausible to give some credence to some of these historical accountings.

Even in our own generation human dignity has expanded its wings over all segments of our society. We have better health facilities, better educational institutions, and some of the best financial opportunities ever experienced by Black Americans.

To see our boys and girls working in business places, taking part in community affairs, and walking shoulder to shoulder with all other Americans, can cause one to believe that the "Dream" of the late Doctor Martin Luther King has been fulfilled — at least in part.

For these and many more opportunities, we are justly proud and will forever be grateful to those who suffered hard and long — even before our times — that we might share in our new found freedoms.

We can be proud to be part of a nation where the rights, decided by the people, are the regulators of our daily conduct.

We can be proud to be a part of a nation where our rights are only limited by the rights due to others. We can be proud to be a part of a nation where the right to work for hire is not negated by the denial of opportunity for employment; for to deny one the right to work is tantamount to the denial of life itself.

As an educator of young people, it is our foremost and fervent hope the dedication of our service to humanity will serve as a beacon to guide others to follow along this and other similar paths.

It is our hope that our local education community will continue in its leadership role to provide equal opportunity to all Americans during this bicentennial year.

"It is our desire that all Americans, regardless of their past origins, can just raise their voices and say — 'I too am a Proud American.'"

Institutes Scheduled At Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Week-long leadership institutes for public and parochial school officials will be held here at Andrews university during March, June and September, according to Dr. Rudolf Klimes, director of the center for studies and services in education. The institutes are intended for all in school leadership, including principals, superintendents, ministers, and administrators at all levels. Setting up leadership goals, planning long-range programs and assisting boards will be among topics discussed. The first institute will be March 17-22, and the second June 7-11, Klimes said. The six-hour daily sessions will include lectures, discussions, seminars and lab sessions.

Massachusetts Seeking $1 Billion To Meet Bills

By GUY DABST
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts must borrow more than $1 billion by the end of the year. And, at the moment, nobody is willing to lend it. The amount is more than any other state except New York must borrow in so short a time. So far, the commonwealth has avoided defaulting on its obligations through bookkeeping maneuvers which have only postponed the day of reckoning. Actually there are eight days of reckoning in 1976. The first is March 11, when the next $200 million worth must be either paid or refinanced. A high-powered advisory group attached to the new Office of Debt Management is trying to come up with measures that will preserve the state's credit and restore investors' confidence in Massachusetts' bonds and notes. The bookkeeping maneuvers began in December when Treasurer Robert Q. Crane bought $85 million of 11-month notes — I.O.U.s sold in anticipation of revenues from the sale of bonds — of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority after the authority found it could sell only $25 million to the public. The Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency — MHFA — and local housing authorities, which like the treasurer temporarily had extra cash on hand, also bought $20 million of the MBTA's notes. In early January the MHFA found it could sell none of the $26.5 million in its own notes. In a complicated transaction, it swapped them for an equal amount of MBTA notes from the treasury. Those MHFA notes are due in March. Such maneuvers are only temporary for the treasurer and others need their own cash to pay bills in the course of the year. "The only other way we could do it again is if we have a surplus which we don't anticipate or liquidate our investments," said Deputy Treasurer Patrick Sullivan. Since then, the agency has managed to sell $14.75 million in bonds, most for 41 years, at 8.58 per cent, to redeem $14.37 million in notes. Rents from MHFA projects in three cities are pledged to pay off the bonds. "The market is frightened of Massachusetts," commented the head of the Boston office of a major investment banking firm. The state's big banks say privately they hold so much Massachusetts debt they can't buy any more. POT USEFUL WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says marijuana still cannot be given a "clean bill of health," but new research indicates the drug may be useful in treating glaucoma, cancer and asthma patients.

People DO Read Small Ads. You Did!

We help you keep up with the Bartletts

Keeping up with the best buys at the food store can help you stretch the family food budget. And shopping the food advertising in the daily newspaper is the smart, easy way to keep up. Progressive Grocer magazine reports that 80% of housewives "almost always" or "frequently" make a shopping list (those "impulse" purchases can wreck a food budget)... and 83% read the newspaper food ads before they shop. A study of 5,900 women, conducted for the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, finds that among those making four or more food shopping trips per month, nearly 3 out of 4 read a newspaper the day before. Our food editorial features and food advertisements work together to help the family food dollar go farther. That's why alert consumers shop the newspaper before they shop the store. And that's why food advertisers increased their newspaper advertising 20% in the first half of 1975.

Institutes Scheduled At Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Week-long leadership institutes for public and parochial school officials will be held here at Andrews university during March, June and September, according to Dr. Rudolf Klimes, director of the center for studies and services in education.

The institutes are intended for all in school leadership, including principals, superintendents, ministers, and administrators at all levels.

Setting up leadership goals, planning long-range programs and assisting boards will be among topics discussed.

The first institute will be March 17-22, and the second June 7-11, Klimes said.

The six-hour daily sessions will include lectures, discussions, seminars and lab sessions.

Massachusetts Seeking $1 Billion To Meet Bills

By GUY DARST
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts must borrow more than $1 billion by the end of the year. And at the moment, nobody is willing to lend it.

The amount is more than any other state except New York must borrow in so short a time.

So far, the commonwealth has avoided defaulting on its obligations through bookkeeping maneuvers which have only postponed the day of reckoning.

Actually there are eight days of reckoning in 1976. The first is March 11, when the next obligations, $206 million worth, must be either paid or renewed.

A high-powered advisory group attached to the new Office of Debt Management is trying to come up with measures that will preserve the state's credit and restore investors' confidence in Massachusetts' bonds and notes.

The bookkeeping maneuvers began in December when Treasurer Robert Q. Crane bought $65 million of 11-month notes — I.O.U.s sold in anticipation of revenues from the sale of bonds — of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority after the authority found it could sell only $25 million to the public. The Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency — MHFA — and local housing authorities, which like the treasurer temporarily had extra cash on hand, also bought $20 million of the MBTA's notes.

In early January the MHFA found it could sell none of the $59.5 million in its own notes. In a complicated transaction, it swapped them for an equal amount of MBTA notes from the treasury. Those MHFA notes are due in March.

Such maneuvers are only temporary, for the treasurer and others need their own cash to pay bills in the course of the year.

"The only other way we could do it again is if we have a surplus which we don't anticipate or liquidate our investments," said Deputy Treasurer Patrick Sullivan.

Since then, the agency has managed to sell $16.75 million in bonds, most for 41 years, at 8.58 per cent, to redeem $14.57 million in notes. Rents from MHFA projects in three cities are pledged to pay off the bonds.

"The market is frightened of Massachusetts," commented the head of the Boston office of a major investment banking

'POT' USEFUL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says marijuana still cannot be given a "clean bill of health," but new research indicates the drug may be useful in treating glaucoma, cancer and asthma patients.

We help you keep up with the Bartletts

Keeping up with the best buys at the food store can help you stretch the family food budget. And shopping the food advertising in the daily newspaper is the smart, easy way to keep up.

Progressive Grocer magazine reports that 86% of housewives "almost always" or "frequently" make a shopping list (those "impulse" purchases can wreck a food budget)...and 83% read the newspaper food ads before they shop.

A study of 5,900 women, conducted for the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, finds that among those making four or more food shopping trips per month, nearly 3 out of 4 read a newspaper the day before.

Our food editorial features and food advertisements work together to help the family food dollar go farther. That's why alert consumers shop the newspaper before they shop the store. And that's why food advertisers increased their newspaper advertising 20% in the first half of 1975.

Vegetable Growers Told Of Promising Tomato Variety

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

A promising replacement for the most popular fresh market tomato grown in this area was described yesterday at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Michigan Growers Association.

Association members also passed a resolution aimed at saving the job of the Berrien Extension vegetable agent. The position is to be eliminated next year by the Michigan State University Extension service which is cutting its budget along with other state agencies.

Robert Sommerfeldt of Benton Harbor was reelected president of the area vegetable growers organization and Jim Neibauer, Berrien county extension vegetable agent, was reelected secretary. Newly elected officers are Pete Vergot, Stevensville, vice president and Richard Mattner, Eau Claire, treasurer.

About 100 growers who gathered at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville, heard Dr. Hugh Price, director of the Sodus Horticultural Experiment farm, outline results of the vegetable research work done at the farm in the past year.

Campbell 1327 currently is the most popular tomato variety in Southwestern Michigan, despite two flaws. As a fresh market tomato, it has a poor shape, and when it is sold to processors its deep core is difficult to remove.

The main season tomato that may save us from Campbell 1327 is Royal Flush, Price said. The Ferry Morse Seed Company variety has been grown for three years at the Sodus farm, which is funded by the association.

Royal Flush yields are below those for Campbell, but the percentage of large fruit (over 2 1/2 inches in diameter) is greater, tests show.

When grown in cages, Royal Flush's yield outstripped the popular Campbell variety, Price said. And the new hybrid tomato is of a good, "classy" appearance.

During the business meeting, Berrien Extension Director Clare Musgrove reported that on Jan. 1, 1977, the extension service will no longer pay its 50 per cent share of the salary of the Berrien extension vegetable agent. Currently, Berrien county pays the other half, plus the expenses of the agent, who is Jim Neibauer.

Musgrove suggested that the scope of the job be increased to cover Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties. Then the three counties could chip in to pay $27,000 required for 1977 for Neibauer's salary, expenses, travel and for a half-time secretary.

Commissioners in the three counties will be asked to pay: $15,200 in Berrien, 60 per cent of the total; $8,180 in Van Buren, 34 per cent; $1,620 in Cass, six per cent. After Musgrove's explanation, the association drafted and passed a resolution asking the three county commissions to take over funding for the district vegetable agent.

Price also talked about a muskmelon first grown at the farm this year. Ambrosia was the highest yielding of the two dozen melon varieties grown on the farm in 1975. Its 773 bushels an acre slightly beat the standard Burpee Hybrid melon, he said. And 80 per cent of the melons were top grade fruit, he added.

Burpee Hybrid is an ideal melon in all respects but one he said. The melon is too soft and cannot be shipped long distances. While Ambrosia is different from the Burpee Hybrid in appearance and taste, it is hoped that it will ship well. The melon is smaller than a Burpee and is heavier, indicating a thick outer skin, he added.

Bill Kays, of Keeler, and Peter Vergot, of Stevensville, were elected new directors of the association.

At the luncheon Dr. Sylvan H. Wittwer, director of all Michigan State University experiment stations, presented a medallion to the 11 current and past presidents of the association. Wittwer, who was also main speaker, said the medals were in celebration of the 100th anniversary of U.S. experiment stations. The Sodus farm was begun in 1894.

NAMED DIRECTOR
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Walter M. Wisniewski has been named deputy state treasurer for local government services, state treasurer Allison Green said Wednesday.

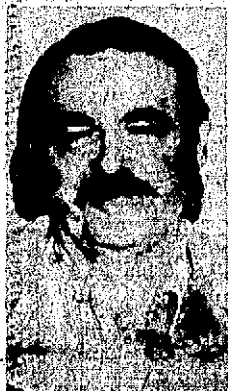

Wisniewski, who was senior auditor for the Oakland-Macomb county district, will replace James Bolthouse, who is taking a position as director of the state Department of Management and Budget's accounting division.

RETIREMENT ARTIST: Harold B. Morse, former supervisor of St. Joseph township and last president of the old A.B. Morse Printing Co. in St. Joseph, looks over display of some of his oil paintings at Berrien General hospital. Morse, now 90, has been a patient there for about a month. He took up painting as a hobby after retirement in his mid-70s and has collection of over 40 paintings in homes of his two daughters, one son and grandchildren. Display of his paintings for other hospital patients and visitors was arranged by hospital's occupational therapy department. Morse was St. Joseph township supervisor in 1940s and 1950s, resigning in 1960 at age of 75. (Staff photo)

Democrats Have Primary Battle In Eau Claire

MARVIN LAVANWAY
Incumbent presidentJ. CASWELL CROWDER
Challenger

EAU CLAIRE — A battle for the Democratic party nomination for village president is the only race in the Eau Claire village primary Monday, Feb. 16.

Marvin L. LaVanway, 47, incumbent village president, is being challenged by fellow Democrat J. Caswell Crowder, 62, for the village's top post.

LaVanway of Box 143, Keigley street, has been village president for 10 years. A welder at Clark Equipment company's Benton township division, he is chairman of the Berrien county Democratic party. In 1974, he lost the Democratic primary race to Crowder, but came back to defeat Crowder by nine votes as a write-in candidate in the regular election. LaVanway and his wife, Margaret, who is seeking re-election as village treasurer, have four children, including two sons at home.

Crowder of 8063 East Berrien street, is currently a village trustee whose term is expiring this March. He is not seeking re-election as a trustee, a post he has held for 13 years. Crowder is retired from Tyler Refrigeration company, Niles. He and his wife, Nell, have two grown children.

Unopposed primary candidates are as follows:

• Clerk — Incumbent James H. Newman, 44, Box 147, Fifth street, Democrat, and Mrs. Ruth L. Sharpe, 67, 7422 Maple street, Republican.

• Treasurer — Incumbent Mrs. Margaret "Peggy" LaVanway, 48, Box 143, Keigley street, Democrat.

• Assessor — Incumbent Kenneth L. Karn, 36, Keigley street, Democrat.

• Trustees — Incumbent Democrats Billy J. Durham, 45, East Berrien street, and Frank T. James, 33, Box 233, Linn street, and Republican Nelson J. Nagle, 35, Box 371 Parlor drive. Three, four-year, term trustee seats are open. The remainder of the village offices are for two-year terms.

The primary election polls will be at the village hall and will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The village general election is March 8.

Two Delinquent ADC Dads Jailed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Niles man who hasn't made child support payment in four years was one of two fathers sentenced to jail this week in Berrien Circuit court, while two others were threatened with jail time if they don't find work.

Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien branch of the court's office, reported.

Judge William S. White sentenced Robert Webster, of 2344 Caruthers, Niles, to 90 days in jail after finding him in contempt of court for $4,140 arrears for one child on ADC.

White also placed Webster on two years probation, and ordered that Webster find employment within 60 days of his release or to spend another 90 days in jail. Pastrick noted Webster has not made a support payment since the order was entered in March, 1972.

White also sentenced Roy Leo Chatmon, of 878 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, to 30 days in jail for $736 arrears for one child on ADC, and placed him on two years probation. The judge said Chatmon can be released from jail if he pays the arrearage, and also gave him 30 days after his release to find work or be sentenced to 60 more days in jail.

Tony Wyatt, of 28th street, Covert, was placed on one year probation after being held in contempt by White for $420 arrears for one child on ADC, and ordered to find employment in 30 days or spend 60 days in jail.

Dennis Berry, 20, of 368 Buena Vista, Benton Harbor, was found in contempt, placed on one year probation, and told to find work in 30 days or spend 60 days in jail for $572 arrears for two children on ADC.

Niles Sewage Plant Work To Start Next Month

Construction on a $33 million sewer system to serve Niles and Niles township should begin early next month, the Berrien county board of public works (BPW) reported yesterday. The BPW issued a notice to proceed to contractors for the city project and anticipated issuing a similar notice for the township project in the next few days. The total project includes construction of a sewage treatment plant for the city and a collection system for the township, with the township contracting with the city for use of a treatment plant. BPW Chief Robert Barnes noted all contracts have been signed and money from bond sales is on deposit, and reported the last hurdle—a grant amendment from the federal Environmental Protection Agency—has been received for the city project. The grant amendment amounts to a $1.3 million increase in federal funds for the city's project, bringing the federal grant total to $15,493,725. Barnes said the state grant will be about $1 million, and $3.1 million in bonds were sold to cover the local matching share. Final figures on the township project are awaiting the EPA grant amendment for that project, and Barnes indicated that amendment should be received by the end of February.

Buchanan Township Names Replacement For Price

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan township board has chosen Dr. Kenneth R. Jones to complete the term of township supervisor Ivan Price who resigned Feb. 2.

Jones, 38, was appointed

Always Snowing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Snow forms within most storm clouds all year round and in all climates, even the most torrid. Summer thunderstorms often produce snow but on the journey earthward the warming air takes its toll, and the flakes melt into raindrops.

township trustee in May to fill the vacancy left by the death of trustee William Harrison.

Jones, a Buchanan chiropractor, was appointed supervisor by the board Tuesday. The supervisor's post will be up for election in November.

No successor was named for Jones' trustee seat. Jones said this morning that the township board will appoint someone to the post within the next couple of weeks. The trustee seat is also up for election in November.

Price resigned as supervisor to accept a position as Berrien county drain commissioner, but refused that job after a $13,950 federal tax lien was filed against Price claiming he had not paid federal income taxes for the years 1968 to 1974 inclusive. Price had held the office of township supervisor since 1947.

Jones came to Buchanan in October, 1966, from Moline, Ill., where he graduated from the Palmer College of Chiropractic. In 1973, he founded the Jones Chiropractic Life center on West Front street in the township.

He and his wife, JoAnn, and their five children, live at 1122 Chippewa street.

'Nick' Jewell Released By Hospital

Berrien County Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell has been released from St. Joseph Memorial hospital and plans to return to work next week, according to his wife, Arlene.

Jewell, 48, was admitted to Memorial Friday for "stomach and chest pains" and underwent tests over the weekend. He was released Tuesday.

Dr. Gerald Beal, his physician, said tests have determined that Jewell had suffered an attack of gastroenteritis or "stomach flu."

Five In Paw Paw Council Race THREE INCUMBENTS, TWO CHALLENGERS

PAW PAW — Five Republican candidates for three village council seats, including three incumbents and two challengers, will be voting for party nominations in the Feb. 18 primary election here.

The top three vote-getters will move on to the March 8 village general election. No Democrats have filed as candidates for election.

Opposed in the primary are incumbent Trustees Charles Cusumano, Mrs. Ann Griffith and George P. Kolasar, and challengers James Cella and James Smith Sr.

All three terms are for two years.

Kolasar, 38, an electrician, is seeking his third term on the council. He and his wife, Nancy, have three children and reside at 927 River road.

Mrs. Griffith, 41, became the first woman ever to serve on the council when she was appointed last August to take the seat of President John Thomas who had resigned. She and her husband, Orville, own the Tripoli party store in Paw Paw. They live on Maple lake and have three children.

Cusumano, 42, and his wife, Barbara, have two sons and live at 183 Tulip lane. He is the owner of the Fruit Belt Realty company, Paw Paw, and is seeking his third term on the council.

Cella, 33, was an unsuccessful write-in candidate for the council last March. A teacher at St. Mary's school in Paw Paw, he and his wife, Jeannine, have two children and live at 502 Marcelletti.

Smith, 44, is making his first bid for elective office but has lived in the area since 1947. He works in the parts department at W.R. Hamilton Auto Supply, Paw Paw. He and his wife, Twila, have three children. They reside at 407 Miller.

Unopposed in the primary are incumbent Republicans Charles F. Smith, 44, for village president; Mrs. Maxine Chipman, 59, for village clerk; Burton Harrison, 62, for treasurer; and Mrs. Juanita Thomas, 46, assessor.

Unopposed for two, two-year library terms are newcomers Mrs. Margaret McNeil and Carl R. Jernberg.

About 100 growers who gathered at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville, heard Dr. Hugh Price, director of the Sodus Horticultural Experiment farm, outline results of the vegetable research work done at the farm in the past year.

Campbell 1327 currently is the most popular tomato variety in Southwestern Michigan, despite two flaws: As a fresh market tomato, it has a poor shape, and when it is sold to processors its deep core is difficult to remove.

The "main season tomato that may save us from Campbell 1327" is Royal Flush, Price said. The Ferry Morse Seed Company variety has been grown for three years at the Sodus farm, which is funded by the association.

Royal Flush yields are below those for Campbell, but the percentage of large fruit (over 2½ inches in diameter) is greater, tests show.

When grown in cages, Royal Flush's yield outstripped the popular Campbell variety, Price said. And the new hybrid tomato is of a good, "classy" appearance.

During the business meeting, Berrien Extension Director Clare Musgrove reported that on Jan. 1, 1977, the extension service will no longer pay its 50 per cent share of the salary of the Berrien extension vegetable agent. Currently, Berrien county pays the other half, plus the expenses of the agent, who is Jim Neibauer.

Musgrove suggested that the scope of the job be increased to cover Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties. Then the three counties could chip in to pay $27,000 required for 1977 for Neibauer's salary, expenses, travel and for a half-time secretary.

Commissioners in the three counties will be asked to pay: $16,200 in Berrien, 60 per cent of the total; $9,180 in Van Buren, 34 per cent; $1,620 in Cass, six per cent. After Musgrove's explanation the association drafted and passed a resolution asking the three county commissions to take over funding for the district vegetable agent.

Price also talked about a muskmelon first grown at the farm this year. Ambrosia was the highest yielding of the two dozen melon varieties grown on the farm in 1975. Its 773 bushels an acre slightly beat the standard Burpee Hybrid melon, he said. And 99 per cent of the melons were top grade fruit, he added.

Burpee Hybrid is an ideal melon in all respects but one he said. The melon is too soft and cannot be shipped long distances. While Ambrosia is different from the Burpee Hybrid in appearance and taste, it is hoped that it will ship well. The melon is smaller than a Burpee and is heavier, indicating a thick outer skin, he added.

Bill Kays, of Keeler, and Peter Vergot, of Stevensville, were elected new directors of the association.

At the luncheon Dr. Sylvan H. Wittwer, director of all Michigan State university experiment stations, presented medallions to the 11 current and past presidents of the association. Wittwer, who was also main speaker, said the medals were in celebration of the 100th anniversary of U.S. experiment stations. The Sodus farm was begun in 1954.

NAMED DIRECTOR

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Walter M. Wisniewski has been named deputy state treasurer for local government services, state treasurer Allison Green said Wednesday.

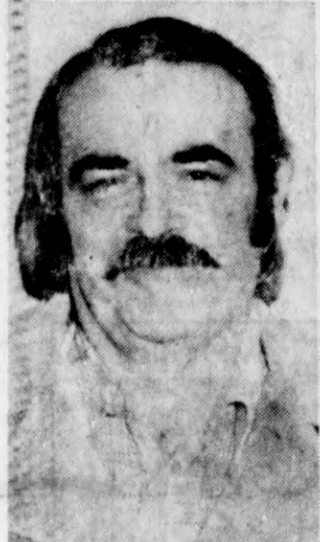

Wisniewski, who was senior auditor for the Oakland-Macomb county district, will replace James Bolthouse, who is taking a position as director of the state Department of Management and Budget's accounting division.

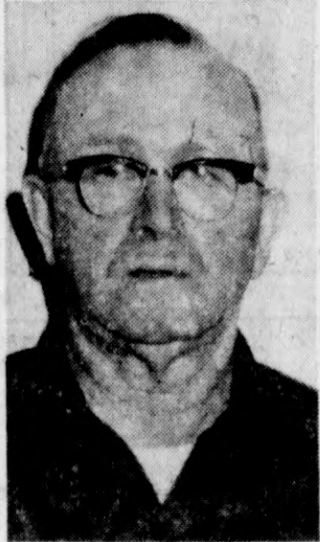

RETIREMENT ARTIST: Harold B. Morse, former supervisor of St. Joseph township and last president of the old A.B. Morse Printing Co. in St. Joseph, looks over display of some of his oil paintings at Berrien General hospital. Morse, now 90, has been a patient there for about a month. He took up painting as a hobby after retirement in his mid-70s and has collection of over 40 paintings in homes of his two daughters, one son and grandchildren. Display of his paintings for other hospital patients and visitors was arranged by hospital's occupational therapy department. Morse was St. Joseph township supervisor in 1940s and 1950s, resigning in 1960 at age of 75. (Staff photo)

Democrats Have Primary Battle In Eau Claire

MARVIN LAVANWAY
Incumbent president

J. CASWELL CROWDER
Challenger

EAU CLAIRE — A battle for the Democratic party nomination for village president is the only race in the Eau Claire village primary Monday, Feb. 16.

Marvin L. LaVanway, 47, incumbent village president, is being challenged by fellow Democrat J. Caswell Crowder, 62, for the village's top post.

LaVanway of Box 143, Keigley street, has been village president for 10 years. A welder at Clark Equipment company's Benton township division, he is chairman of the Berrien county Democratic party. In 1974, he lost the Democratic primary race to Crowder, but came back to defeat Crowder by nine votes as a write-in candidate in the regular election. LaVanway and his wife, Margaret, who is seeking re-election as village treasurer, have four children, including two sons at home.

Crowder of 6663 East Berrien street, is currently a village trustee whose term is expiring this March. He is not seeking re-election as a trustee, a post he has held for 13 years. Crowder is retired from Tyler Refrigeration company, Niles. He and his wife, Nell, have two grown children.

Unopposed primary candidates are as follows:

Clerk — Incumbent James H. Newman, 44, Box 147, Fifth street, Democrat, and Mrs. Ruth L. Sharpe, 67, 7422 Maple street, Republican.

Assessor — Incumbent Kenneth L. Karn, 36, Keigley street, Democrat.

Trustees — Incumbent Democrats Billy J. Durham, 45, East Berrien street, and Frank T. James, 33, Box 233, Linn street, and Republican Nelson J. Nagle, 35, Box 371 Portor drive. Three, four-year term trustee seats are open. The remainder of the village offices are for two-year terms.

The primary election polls will be at the village hall and will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The village general election is March 8.

Two Delinquent ADC Dads Jailed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Niles man who hasn't made a child support payment in four years was one of two fathers sentenced to jail this week in Berrien Circuit court, while two others were threatened with jail time if they don't find work.

Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported:

Judge William S. White sentenced Robert Webster, of 2344 Caruthers, Niles, to 90 days in jail after finding him in contempt of court for $4,140 arrears for one child on ADC.

White also placed Webster on two years probation, and ordered that Webster find employment within 60 days of his release or to spend another 90 days in jail. Pastrick noted Webster has not made a support payment since the order was entered in March, 1972.

White also sentenced Roy Lee Chatmon, of 676 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, to 30 days in jail for $736 arrears for one child on ADC, and placed him on two years probation. The judge said Chatmon can be released from jail if he pays the arrearage, and also gave him 30 days after his release to find work or be sentenced to 60 more days in jail.

Tony Wyatt, of 28th street, Covert, was placed on one year probation after being held in contempt by White for $420 arrears for one child on ADC, and ordered to find employment in 30 days or spend 60 days in jail for $572 arrears for two children on ADC.

Niles Sewage Plant Work To Start Next Month

Construction on a $33 million sewer system to serve Niles and Niles township should begin early next month, the Berrien county board of public works (BPW) reported yesterday. The BPW issued a notice to proceed to contractors for the city project and anticipated issuing a similar notice for the township project in the next few days. The total project includes construction of a sewage treatment plant for the city and a collection system for the township, with the township contracting with the city for use of a treatment plant.

BPW Chief Robert Barnes noted all contracts have been signed and money from bond sales is on deposit, and reported the last hurdle—a grant amendment from the federal Environmental Protection Agency—has been received for the city project. The grant amendment amounts to a $1.3 million increase in federal funds for the city's project, bringing the federal grant total to $15,493,725. Barnes said the state grant will be about $1 million, and $5.1 million in bonds were sold to cover the local matching share. Final figures on the township project are awaiting the EPA grant amendment for that project, and Barnes indicated that amendment should be received by the end of February.

Buchanan Township Names Replacement For Price

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan township board has chosen Dr. Kenneth R. Jones to complete the term of township supervisor Ivan Price who resigned Feb. 2. Jones, 38, was appointed township trustee in May to fill the vacancy left by the death of trustee William Harrison.

Jones, a Buchanan chiropractor, was appointed supervisor by the board Tuesday. The supervisor's post will be up for election in November.

No successor was named for Jones' trustee seat. Jones said this morning that the township board will appoint someone to the post within the next couple of weeks. The trustee seat is also up for election in November.

Price resigned as supervisor to accept a position as Berrien county drain commissioner, but refused that job after a $13,865 federal tax lien was filed against Price claiming he had not paid federal income taxes for the years 1969 to 1974 inclusive. Price had held the office of township supervisor since 1947.

Jones came to Buchanan in October, 1969, from Moline, Ill., where he graduated from the Palmer College of Chiropractic. In 1973, he founded the Jones Chiropractic Life center on West Front street in the township.

He and his wife, JoAnn, and their five children, live at 1122 Chippewa street.

'Nick' Jewell Released By Hospital

Berrien County Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell has been released from St. Joseph Memorial hospital and plans to return to work next week, according to his wife, Arlice.

Jewell, 46, was admitted to Memorial Friday for "stomach and chest pains" and underwent tests over the weekend. He was released Tuesday.

Dr. Gerald Beal, his physician, said tests have determined that Jewell had suffered an attack of gastroenteritis or "stomach flu."

Five In Paw Paw Council Race THREE INCUMBENTS, TWO CHALLENGERS

PAW PAW — Five Republican candidates for three village council seats, including three incumbents and two challengers, will be vying for party nominations in the Feb. 16 primary election here.

The top three vote-getters will move on to the March 8 village general election. No Democrats have filed as candidates for election.

Opposed in the primary are incumbent Trustees Charles Cusumano, Mrs. Ann Griffith and George P. Kolosar, and challengers James Cella and James Smith Sr.

All three terms are for two years.

Kolosar, 39, an electrician, is seeking his third term on the council. He and his wife, Nancy, have three children and reside at 527 River road.

Mrs. Griffith, 41, became the first woman ever to serve on the council when she was appointed last August to take the seat of President John Thomas who had resigned. She and her husband, Orville, own the Tripoli party store in Paw Paw. They live on Maple lake and have three children.

Cusumano, 42, and his wife, Barbara, have two sons and live at 163 Tulip lane. He is the owner of the Fruit Belt Realty company, Paw Paw, and is seeking his third term on the council.

Cella, 33, was an unsuccessful write-in candidate for the council last March. A teacher at St. Mary's school in Paw Paw, he and his wife, Jeannine, have two children and live at 502 Marcelletti.

Smith, 44, is making his first bid for elective office but has lived in the area since 1947. He works in the parts department at W.R. Hamilton Auto Supply, Paw Paw. He and his wife, Twila, have three children. They reside at 407 Miller.

Unopposed in the primary are incumbent Republicans Charles F. Smith, 44, for village president; Mrs. Maxine Chipman, 59, for village clerk; Burton Harrison, 62, for treasurer; and Mrs. Juanita Thomas, 46, assessor.

Unopposed for two, two-year library terms are newcomers Mrs. Margaret McNeil and Carl R. Jernberg.

Howard Hughes Moves

Billionaire recluse Howard Hughes may be on the move again. Hughes has left his hideaway on the top two floors of a Bahamian luxury hotel and flown with 20 to 30 aides to Mexico, one published report says. The Freeport News, a weekly newspaper in Freeport, The Bahamas, said Hughes and his retinue boarded three jets at Freeport International Airport early Wednesday and took off for Mexico City.

Put Old Rail Cars To Use

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The State Highway Commission has authorized the purchase and restoration of eight used passenger rail cars at an estimated cost of $880,000.

The former Penn Central Railroad cars may be ready by mid-1977 to help expand commuter service in southeast Michigan, the commission said.

IRA Hunger

Striker Dies;

Fear Bombings

LONDON, England (AP)—Frank Stagg, a member of the Irish Republican Army, died in Wakefield Jail today during the 61st day of a hunger strike, the British Home Office announced. IRA leaders in Northern Ireland had warned that underground Roman Catholic guerrillas would resume their bombing campaign in Britain if Stagg died.

British authorities said Stagg, 34, serving a 10-year sentence for IRA activity in Britain, began fasting Dec. 13 in an attempt to make the government transfer him to a prison in Northern Ireland.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

'Convertible Club' Is A Good Idea

Q. A group of friends want to form a club to buy deep discount convertibles — for example, Western Union. Comments, please.

A. I think it makes sense — so long as you take the time to find out what you are doing.

A deep discount convertible debenture sells at a deep discount for one or more reasons: its coupon is well below what is being offered today; the stock is selling well below the conversion price; corporate fiscal problems — any one, or all three.

Let me put a disclaimer in right here. I've read pro and con opinions recently on Western Union and refuse to say "aye, yes or no" about any of them. This is not a discussion of your chances of making money in Western Union converts. It is an attempt to spell out the "numbers."

Western Union's 5 1/2 per cent convertible debentures of 1997 are rated B by Standard & Poor's and B minus by the K&B-Voorhis convertible "fact finder." I think it's fair to say that these are speculative ratings... a statement borne out by the fact that at a recent price of 47 1/2, the debenture yielded 11.05 per cent.

Each $1,000, face amount debenture is convertible into 15.15 shares of common which, on the same day, sold at $17 a share. Now, 15.15 shares of a $17 stock are worth $257.55. The bond sold at $47.50, or a premium of about 84 per cent above conversion value.

Theoretically, the common would have to rise to $66 a share for the debenture to sell at par ($1,000)... on a strict conversion basis (15.15 times 66 equals $999.90).

However, it's safe to assume that the debenture would begin to reflect strength in the common long before the common reach 66. It is also reasonable to point out that the bond sold as low as 33 last year.

As is the case of the common, buying a convertible represents a bet on the future of a corporation. Q. Ten years ago we enrolled in a growth fund's 10-year program. We made monthly payments for eight years but have not put in any money lately. Should we withdraw our funds or finish out the plan? We feel that if we had put the money into government bonds initially we would be better off today.

A. Hindsight will get you nowhere anymore than keeping your eyes fixed on the rear-view mirror will help you get through a traffic jam.

Of course government bonds, or savings accounts, or E bonds would have turned out better over the last several years of market disquiet. But we didn't know that in 1966. Assuming you were 10 years or more from retirement then, your plan was logical and should be carried out.

There is NO way to use market judgment in buying most mutual funds. In fact, when you go into one, you do so because you don't feel you can make market judgments. The main hope is that dollar averaging, plus some professional management will get you over the shoals and past the financial rocks.

Your fund happens to be one of those with a fair to good record.

One vote for doing what you set out to do. SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Jackson Claims Alaska Support

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Nearly eight of every 10 Democrats in Alaska are still uncommitted to any of the party's candidates for the presidential nomination.

But Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington claimed Wednesday he has a reservoir of support among the neutral majority of the state's party members, and party leaders hinted that they agreed.

LOBSTER IN TROUBLE
PORTLAND — Overfishing, increased demand and pollution so threaten the lobster that some biologists predict demand will exceed supply by 1980.

20 FACE JUDGES Gas Station Boss Demands Hearing

A former manager of the St. Joseph Tulsa Oil service station demanded examination Wednesday in Berrien Fifth District court on a charge of embezzling $240 from the station.

Jailed under $2,500 bond was Jimmy E. Sparks, 24, of 650 Crystal avenue, Benton township. Police said he was arrested after a company official checked the station's books.

Also demanding examinations were:

Fred A. Douglas, 19, of Lansing, and Larry C. Stansberry, 23, of 959 Buss avenue, apartment 5, Benton Harbor, charged with breaking into a car Feb. 10 in Benton township. They were jailed under bonds.

Edward J. Fells, 36, Ed Blue, 23, both of Chicago, and Robert T. Lewis, 23, of 405 Morton, Benton Harbor, charged with larceny of citizen band radios from Village Electronics, Stevensville, Feb. 10; and John W. Stubb, 31, of Chicago, arrested along with the men on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol. All were jailed under bonds of $10,000.

Two men waived examinations yesterday and were bound over to Circuit court. Robert A. Osborn, 21, of Benton Harbor, charged with second offense possession of marijuana, remained jailed under $3,000 bond. John M. Collard, 17, of Buchanan, was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond on charges of breaking and entering a Berrien Springs home and attempting to break into a safe at the home Oct. 20.

Sentenced were:

Charles P. Dominoski, 19, of Michigan City, Ind., 90 days in jail for use of LSD Nov. 15 in New Buffalo township.

Dennis M. Grega, 21, of 822 Wisconsin, St. Joseph, fine and costs of $25 and restitution of $2.71 for defrauding an innkeeper of food Aug. 30 at the Firebird restaurant.

John Best, Jr., 42, of Gary, Ind., $105 for possession of an unregistered pistol Jan. 30 in St. Joseph township.

Joan Fontaine To Spare Biggies By Delaying Book

Q: I always thought that Joan Fontaine was one of the more intelligent actresses. Is she going to write her memoirs? — P.R., Odessa, Tex.

A: Joan says she is planning to write all about her experiences in Hollywood. But you'll have to wait a bit. It seems that she has harsh things to say about some of the older film industry biggies, and since she is a lady, she has decided to delay her writing until they luna's younger brother, Griffin, already lives with his mother, who has re-married.

Q: When is Warren Beatty going to marry Michele Phillips, as you predicted? — D.G., Vancouver, Wash.

A: The affair seems to have come to an abrupt halt short of the altar. Michele, along with her five-year-old daughter, has reportedly checked out of the house she shared with Beatty in Beverly Hills and moved to an apartment. (Michele as once married to John Phillips, who sang with her in "The Mamas and the Papas" group, and is the father of her daughter.) The breakup cannot be a complete surprise to Michele, since all during their relationship Warren continued to maintain his fancy bachelor pad at the nearby Beverly Wilshire hotel.

Q: Can you tell us who is the oldest actor still working? — G.B., Wichita Falls, Tex.

A: This one is difficult to answer but we'd hazard a guess that it is 93-year-old Estelle Winwood, who is the oldest active member of the Screen Actor's Guild.

Q: Is that tough-guy writer, Mickey Spillane, losing his gorgeous wife? — D.V., Aurora, Ill.

A: After 10 years of marriage, Mickey is indeed being sued for divorce by wife Sherri, whom he met when she was posing for one of his book covers. While it lasted it was a remarkable marriage. "We had absolutely nothing in common," says Sherri, "except a crazy kind of love." They fought so much that they ended up living apart. While Mickey wrote at his place in South Carolina, Sherri toured the country with her song and dance act.

have passed on before spilling the beans.

Q: My pal and I have an argument. He says they are still hunting the Nazis from World War II. I say the search is closed. Which is it? — F.R., Birmingham, Mich.

A: Simon Wiesenthal, who runs the Jewish Documentation Center in Vienna, where he has traced thousands of Nazis, including Adolf Eichmann, says he will not give up yet. Wiesenthal, 65, has been begged by his wife to close up shop but he still has Dr. Josef Mengele and Klaus Barbie on the top of his list. Of about 15,000 known Nazi war criminals, only about 30,000 have been brought to trial.

Q: Was young Tatum around when her father, Ryan O'Neal, was busted for possessing marijuana? — R.C., Indianapolis, Ind.

A: No, Tatum wasn't home at the time and she is currently at a boarding school in Ojai, Calif. But there is speculation that Tatum's mother, actress Joan Ra Moore, may now have grounds for demanding custody of her talented daughter. Tatum

I am switching my account to you because the service is much better. The tellers are more friendly, even adults get free suckers - my dog loves the doggie biscuits. You have Bank-America. Your tellers are very courteous inside and outside. Service is usually prompt.

Sue M.

Nice note, isn't it?

It made all of our people happy - knowing their efforts were so appreciated.

A young lady who had recently opened a checking account here wrote the note and it got us to thinking. Women have always been important in our lives - and getting more so these days. So, we've decided to give a carnation to every lady who visits any one of our 10 branches tomorrow. It's our way of saying Happy Valentine's Day to all of the wonderful women in our area.

See you tomorrow, when you pick up your valentine flower!

FAMOUS LAST WORDS:

"Some day this (painting, stock, property, etc.) will be worth a lot of money. You'll thank me for telling you about it." . . . Some of the town's prettiest and most talented gals are working as waitresses - entertainers at the "Applause" restaurant - while awaiting a big break. . . . Ladies: You are advised to take care of your cultured pearls like this: (1) Wear them as often as possible, they'll never get dull; (2) wipe occasionally with a damp soft cloth; and (3) have them knotted and restring at least once a year. . . . Overworked Expressman: "Put your money where your mouth is." . . . Bar-Snooping at Pen & Penell: The "Bloody Bull" combines the elements of a Bloody Mary and a Bull Shot: vodka, tomato juice, beef consommé, lemon juice and seasoning. . . . Handsomest and Best-Dressed Couple: Public relations man Michael H. Thomas and wife, Jeanne. . . . Beauty Hint from Doris Lilly: "Let your eyebrow pencil stay in the refrigerator a few minutes before sharpening it, and the point will not break so easily."

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: The GEMINI native, to be successful, must select two or three of his best endeavors and manage them. SAGITTARIANS are often considered to be superficial, but this is often far from true - for they just feel that life is too short to be bothered with trivialities.

ONE OF THE OLDEST legends of Valentine's Day is that the birds begin to choose their mates. And another old British legend - a girl will marry the first man that she sees on that particular day! . . . Aquarians (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) are unconventional, offbeat, inventive and will go the limit to help a friend or further a good cause. . . . Graphology Tip: Small writing shows modesty and endurance; and if it is also sound in structure, it shows compassion and understanding. . . . Those Law: In Iowa it's illegal to keep a horse in the rooms of an apartment house. . . . Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "Did you know that early Christian scholars set Christmas on Jan. 5, May 20 and Nov. 17 - before, to 300 A.D., choosing December 25?" . . . Colorists claim that crimson and purple make a nervous man feel better, whereas an active man reacts well to green and a dull man to sky blue.

Beauty Hint from Doris Lilly: "Let your eyebrow pencil stay in the refrigerator a few minutes before sharpening it, and the point will not break so easily."

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: The GEMINI native, to be successful, must select two or three of his best endeavors and manage them. SAGITTARIANS are often considered to be superficial, but this is often far from true - for they just feel that life is too short to be bothered with trivialities.

ONE OF THE OLDEST legends of Valentine's Day is that the birds begin to choose their mates. And another old British legend - a girl will marry the first man that she sees on that particular day! . . . Aquarians (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) are unconventional, offbeat, inventive and will go the limit to help a friend or further a good cause. . . . Graphology Tip: Small writing shows modesty and endurance; and if it is also sound in structure, it shows compassion and understanding. . . . Those Law: In Iowa, it's illegal to keep a horse in the rooms of an apartment house. . . . Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "Did you know that early Christian scholars set Christmas on Jan. 5, May 20 and Nov. 17 - before, in 500 A.D., choosing December 25?" . . . Colorists claim that crimson and purple make a nervous man feel better, whereas an active man reacts well to green and a dull man to sky blue.
